Warning For Reds Is Asked

Dulles Calls For United Americas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles Thursday called on the nations of the Americas to unite in a "hands off" warning to Moscow against Communist infiltration of this hemisphere

Dulles made the plea before the 10th inter-American Conference in which 20 western hemisphere nations are taking part. In his 3,000-word major policy speech, the U. S. diplomat also spelled out Washington's economic policy toward Latin America. He said private capital—both foreign and domestic should play a major role in economic development.

Dulles called on his colleagues to consider Communist intervention as dangerous as an enemy battleship and indicated that strong Red infiltration in any Western hemisphere country should prompt emergency measures by its neighbors.

Dulles told the delegates:

"We here in the Americas are not immune from that threat of Soviet Communism. There is not a single country in this hemisphere which has not been penetrated by the apparatus of international Communism acting under orders from Moscow.

Danger Mounts

"Because our position has not been made clear, the danger mounts. I believe that it is time to make it clear with finality that we see alien despotism as hostile to our ideals, that we unitedly deny it the right to prey upon our hemisphere, and that if it does not heed our warning and keep away, we shall deal with it as a situation that might endanger the peace of America."

Dulles, recently returned from verbal duels with Russia's V. M. Molotov at the Berlin Big Four parley, said Soviet Communism "stands for the liquidation of the values upon which our fraternal association" in America is based.

"It denies the very existence of justice and a moral law. It believes that peace is not founded on righteousness but on power. It believes . . . that law is the means whereby those in power liquidate their enemies."

The death of Stalin, Dulles asserted, "has brought no basic change in Soviet policy. It remains expansive, not merely out of greed, but because it fears freedom. That was the most distressing aspect of the Berlin conference."

The Communists, he asserted "feel that they will not be safe until they have liquidated freedom as a major force in world affairs."

No Plan Afoot

In the economic field, Dulles had reassuring news for two groups in Latin America which have been issuing angry warnings against possible U.S. action —coffee and wool growers.

As for coffee, which recently soared to more than one dollar a pound in the United States, Dulles declared:

"There is no plan afoot to deal arbitrarily with the problem of prices by imposing some artificial price ceiling."

As for wool, he said, President Eisenhower seeks to avoid an increase in import duty through a plan to "support the wool industry of the United States."

Gains Sight In Rare Operations

Army Coddling Of Reds Denied

McCarthy Hits Back At Defense Head, Who Says 'Too Much Footsie" Played With Communists In Past

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson entered the row over Sen. McCarthy's methods Thursday by declaring: "The idea that the Army is coddling Communists is just damn tommyrot."

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, rapped back that "certain individuals" in the Army have been "protecting, promoting, covering up and honorably discharging known Communists."

Swinging into the fray which has blown up a major political storm, Wilson also declared that "too much footsie" has been played with the Communists under past administrations.

The defense chief said that during World War II, when he was president of General Motors, "I wanted to throw some Communists out of the plant, but the Pentagon wanted to make peace."

"Kicked Them Out"

Wilson declined to say who in the Pentagon sought to dissuade him from ousting the Reds.

"I kicked them out and the government was trying to make me put them back."

Asked if he did put them back, Wilson replied, "No."

On Capitol Hill, McCarthy got word of Wilson's "Tommyrot" statement just as he had finished giving newsmen a statement saying that the whole uproar amounted only to "a good healthy fight that cleared the air."

He predicted it would not result in a lasting split in the GOP.

McCarthy's first comment, after reading Wilson's statement, was:

"I'm through with statements on this matter."

Changes His Mind

Minutes later, he declared:

"No one has ever claimed that the Army as such is coddling Communists.

"However, it has been established beyond any possibility of a doubt, by sworn testimony, that certain individuals in the Army have been protecting, promoting, covering up and honorably discharging known Communists.

"I'm sure Charlie Wilson will not disagree with that," he added.

Still later McCarthy telephoned reporters and dictated this addition to his comment:

"I certainly hope that Charlie Wilson and I don't have to waste time arguing about these Fifth Amendment Communists."

McCarthy said he referred to Maj. Irving Peress, now a New York dentist, whose honorable discharge from the army has been a focal point in the current hubbub, and several other cases.

One of Bluntest Jabs

Wilson, who had been on vacation during most of the hed-hot feud between McCarthy and Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, spoke out on the controversy at his news conference.

His comment represented one of the bluntest jabs at McCarthy by a high administration official to date, but Wilson tempered it somewhat by saying:

"I think the McCarthy committee is bringing to the attention of the country the fact that we do have this (Communist) problem.

"If there are any of the main devils left, I would like to see them caught—rather than just the little people," he continued. "I never had any use for Communists. I not only hate Communism."

Wilson said he thinks the American people are "fed up" with soft treatment toward Communists and most people believe "too much footsie has been played with them in the past."

A Lot of Telegrams

The defense secretary spoke out shortly after the White House reported that hundreds of telegrams, running 9-1 in praise of President Eisenhower, were pouring in from all parts of the country in reaction to the President's call for "fair play" in congressional investigations.

McCarthy said he had also received a lot of mail on the subject. He said he hadn't had a chance to check it yet, but would later.

"I do know this—I always believe in treating people courteously," Wilson said. "There is a general impression that Gen. Zwicker, at least in part, was not treated as courteously as he was entitled to be."

Wilson went on to say he has organized a task force to investigate the Army's handling of the case that blew up the McCarthy-Stevens vendetta. That was the case of Maj. Irving Peress, now a New York dentist, who was given an honorable discharge after McCarthy accused Peress of being a "Fifth Amendment Communist" and said he should have been court-martialled.

Peress has called McCarthy's charges "sheer nonsense."

'U.S. Claims World Leadership,' Molotov

NATO Plan Compared With '37 German, Jap, Italian Pact

MOSCOW (Friday) (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, in a long statement published on the anniversary of Stalin's death, charged contemptuously today that the United States is "brazenly" claiming the leadership of the world.

The "practical expression" of this aspiration, he said, was the North Atlantic Treaty which he compared to the "well-known Anti-Comintern Pact which was concluded in 1937 by Hitler Germany, Militarist Japan and Fascist Italy."

"There are no grounds for doubting that the fate of the North Atlantic pact will be no better than the fate of the "Anti - Comintern Pact," he said.

Molotov

Molotov's statement, reviewing the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Berlin, was spread over 2½ pages of the Moscow press and was broadcast by Moscow Radio.

"The ruling circles of the United States lay claim to the role of leader in this camp (of capitalist countries)," Molotov said.

"They claim even more. They brazenly say that they have assumed the 'burden of a leading role in the world', that the United States allegedly is the 'leader of the world' although these claims are naturally groundless."

Molotov said American policy of striving for leadership had led to a policy of "position of strength," an unprecedented arms drive in the United States, Britain, France and several other countries, immense profits to "monopolists," and "every form of atom bomb intimidation."

"Everyone can see that the calculations based on the empty hopes of maintenance by the United States of a monopoly position in this matter (the atom bomb) proved utterly groundless," he said.

American policy further led to the building of a network of military bases "directed against the Soviet Union," and the signing of the pact for the European Defense Community, he added.

The bases, he said have "nothing in common with defense," while the EDC harbors "the revival of German militarism" and creates "exceedingly serious obstacles in the way of settling the German issue."

Molotov said the fact that the Berlin conference had decided to convene another conference in Geneva, April 26, to examine the questions of Korea and Indo-China in particular, was of "definite international significance."

The Berlin conference cannot be really judged, he said, until the results of the Geneva conference are known.

The Berlin conference, he added, "facilitated the clearing up of various international questions and cleared the road to the five-power conference at Geneva together with representatives of other countries."

"The prolonged interval between great power conferences, which lasted five years, has now come to an end," he said.

'Ridicule' Is Best Remedy For Joe, Truman Asserts

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Former President Harry Truman said Thursday he could see no reason for "hard times" ahead and noted that the "best remedy" for Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) is to "ridicule him."

As to the nation's economic prospects, Truman observed:

"I am no prophet. But from what I have heard and what I have seen, I don't see any reason for any hard times. There's no reason to talk ourselves into a depression."

Truman said "the best remedy for McCarthy is ridicule. No demagogue can stand ridicule."

Beutel Blasts Nation's School Administrators

. . . NU Regents Excepted, Praised

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska Law Professor Frederick Beutel Thursday night in Lincoln accused the nation's educational administrators of doing a "stinking job" of protecting academic freedom.

Prof. Beutel, president of the Nebraska chapter of American Association of University Professors, was speaking to the annual University YM-YWCA banquet at the Student Union.

Where there is a question of academic freedom, he said, "administrators run for cover."

But he excepted the University's Board of Regents from such a manner of administration.

Beutel

"It is the duty of the administrators to protect him (the teacher when his academic freedom is attacked)," Prof. Beutel declared, "and I am proud to say that is happening in Nebraska."

Policy Statement

He was speaking of a recent policy statement by the Board of Regents regarding academic freedom which was the subject of an editorial in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The former dean of law college at Nebraska denounced the teachers' loyalty oath in the state as a "long Boy Scout oath."

"If you don't believe (what it stands for) you are guilty of perjury and if you do I don't believe you are competent to teach," he asserted.

Instructors are experts in their fields, he said. As an expert he will not say foolish things; he is interested in the truth, Prof. Beutel said.

He emphasized that academic tenure is as important as academic freedom.

"It wouldn't do the teacher any good to tell the truth," he said, "and be fired the next day.

Prof. Beutel criticized those "self appointed experts and patriots" who raised the controversies over E. N. Anderson and Clyde Mitchell and who objected to certain textbooks.

"There is no place where the public knows less about the university than in Nebraska," he said.

People who can't tell the split T from the single wing, Prof. Beutel told the group, stir up dissention between the athletic coach, the athletic board and the players.

Academic freedom is a matter of public relations, he said. It is a problem involving the faculty and students of an educational institution, the public, and the educational administrators.

The University of Nebraska YMCA announced at the banquet the 1954 officers of the board of management. All the members of the board are students. The officers are: "Buzz" Hargleroad, president, Jack Rogers, vice president, Charles Harris, secretary, and John Chappell, treasurer.

The University YMCA was reported a total of 411 members, and total expenses for the year of $5,067, with a balance after expenses of $124.

The annual report of the student YWCA group showed a total membership of 426, and expenses of $7,308 with a deficit for the year of $33.

Ohio Counts 19 Dead After 5-Day Snow

By the Associated Press

A snowstorm that reached blizzard proportions in some places moved out of the eastern half of the country Thursday and into Canada.

Behind the storm, Ohio counted at least 19 dead in the five days snow pounded down on communities around Lake Erie. In Cleveland, 4 inches of snow Thursday brought the total on the ground to 12 inches. Sixteen inches fell on Cleveland last weekend.

Every school in Cleveland was closed because of the storm. Transportation was snarled, industry disrupted and hundreds of cars stalled by huge drifts piled up by strong winds.

6 Marines Killed In Shell Blast

. . . Explosion Injures 25

WITH 1ST MARINE DIVISION, Korea (Friday) (AP) — Six U.S. Marines were killed and 25 were injured yesterday when a mortar shell exploded during a training class near the front, the division reported today.

The division said an instructor dropped a live shell which he apparently thought had been rendered harmless. The instructor was among those killed.

Names of the victims were withheld.

The division spokesman said the effects of the blast were magnified because the shell exploded inside a quonset hut.

Windows and doors were blown out and flying steel shards ripped through the curved sides of the building.

Critical Condition

Doctors were flown to the scene. Every helicopter in the division was alerted to fly out the wounded—several of whom were in critical condition.

Some were flown to medical companies in the division, while others were flown direct to a Navy hospital ship in Inchon harbor.

Three of the men killed died en route to the medical companies and a fourth died late yesterday afternoon.

The two others killed died last night aboard the ship.

The Marine spokesman said the accident took place at the division's mine warfare school.

24 Million Less Asked For AEC

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower asked Congress to reduce the sum he had sought for the Atomic Energy Commission by nearly 24 million dollars Thursday because of unexpected economies in operating expenses.

The White House stressed that the reduction represents a cut in administrative expenses and will have no effect on the production of atomic weapons.

The revised AEC budget submitted to Congress actually would increase the expenditures for plants and equipment by $106,900,000, but reduce operating funds by $130,800,000.

Pen Trusty Lives, Works At Ashland; Part Of Planned, Legal Program

Records of the State Pardon Board show that Romie Barnes, 57, for many years a trusty at the state penitentiary has been transferred to Ashland at the request of Col. Hobb Turner of the Nebraska National Guard to repair furniture at the guard camp.

He is one of about 200 trusties, or one-third of the prison population, for whom outside work has been found, according to Warden H. H. Hann. This includes a large number engaged in the prison's farm and dairy operations.

Attempts have repeatedly been made by the Board of Control to increase work opportunities within the prison walls, the warden pointed out, but they have been defeated by a coalition of industry and organized labor when presented to the Legislature.

Barnes was transferred to the guard camp last Monday where he is under the joint supervision of prison authorities, national guard officials and the guard caretaker at the camp.

The records show that the guard fitted up a cabin in which Barnes lives and cooks his own meals wtih provisions furnished by the penitentiary. He spends all of his time at the camp.

In addition to Barnes' work, a detail of men for road work is taken to the camp daily under supervision. The work at the camp has been under way since late summer.

Questioned as to the advisability of leaving Barnes at the camp over night, Warden Hann said he considers it perfectly safe.

"I know the man," he explained. "He has reached an age where he has settled down. We endeavor to make men prove that they are reliable before they are made trusties."

The warden said that Barnes had taken three of the warden's dogs with him for company.

"He loves dogs and has been training mine for several months after his regular day's work," Hann said. "I personally pay him for this extra work."

The warden said that Barnes' affection for dogs and the opportunity to have them around him had given him a new interest that had been highly beneficial. He said that if carefully screened the "trusty" system had been proven beyond doubt extremely successful in prison operation throughout the United States.

Pardon board officials agreed with Warden Hann that Barnes was a good risk. They pointed out that he has been a trusty and allowed to work outside the walls for several years. Originally sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in Buffalo County in 1941, the pardon board has commuted it to 30 years. Barnes killed a man in a gambling game fight, according to the records.

A parole violation "hold order" from the state of Missouri where Barnes was paroled on a killing charge has been lifted to let the balance of his parole run concurrently with any parole granted in Nebraska.

The board officials point out that Barnes "would hardly risk his good time credits now that he has opportunity to complete his sentence." The official records show that both the military department and pardon board were fully informed before the transfer was authorized.

State law specifically provides that prisoners can be used for state work on request of departments if the pardon board believes they have men, who can be trusted for the work.

Section 83-434, Nebraska statutes reads:

"If the Board of Pardons shall deem it advisable, and if there are confined in the state penitentiary or reformatory, prisoners, who in the judgment of the board, are sufficiently trustworthy to be engaged in such an occupation, the board shall direct the warden to make available to the department, board or commission requesting men, the number of prisoners the board may direct, for work. At any time the department, board or commission employing such prisoners shall deem it advisable to have any of such prisoners returned to the penitentiary, it may notify the board, which shall immediately cause such prisoners to be returned."

Section 83-435, Nebraska statutes reads:

"The Board of Pardons, together with the warden of the state penitentiary, the warden of the reformatory, and the State Engineer shall take sufficient precautions and make such rules and regulations as they deem necessary to prevent the escape of prisoners made available under section 83-434."

Recently Mrs. Loretta Walker, secretary to the Pardon Board, received a $25 award from a governor's committee for suggesting that state departments hold down expenditures from tax funds by taking advantage of the work potential of men in prison and the reformatory as authorized by state law.

Crews have been at work in the Capitol building for several months cleaning up after repairs have been made and moving supplies so that workmen can make the repairs and alterations.

–Venezuela Meet–

Dulles Calls For United Americas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles Thursday called on the nations of the Americas to unite in a "hands off" warning to Moscow against Communist infiltration of this hemisphere.

Dulles made the plea before the 10th inter-American Conference in which 20 western hemisphere nations are taking part. In his 3,000-word major policy speech, the U. S. diplomat also spelled out Washington's economic policy toward Latin America. He said private capital—both foreign and domestic should play a major role in economic development.

Dulles called on his colleagues to consider Communist intervention as dangerous as an enemy battleship and indicated that strong Red infiltration in any Western hemisphere country should prompt emergency measures by its neighbors.

Dulles told the delegates:

"We here in the Americas are not immune from that threat of Soviet Communism. There is not a single country in this hemisphere which has not been penetrated by the apparatus of international Communism acting under orders from Moscow.

Danger Mounts

"Because our position has not been made clear, the danger mounts. I believe that it is time to make it clear with finality that we see alien despotism as hostile to our ideals, that we unitedly deny it the right to prey upon our hemisphere, and that if it does not heed our warning and keep away, we shall deal with it as a situation that might endanger the peace of America."

Dulles, recently returned from verbal duels with Russia's V. M. Molotov at the Berlin Big Four parley, said Soviet Communism "stands for the liquidation of the values upon which our fraternal association" in America is based.

"It denies the very existence of justice and a moral law. It believes that peace is not founded on righteousness but on power. It believes . . . that law is the means whereby those in power liquidate their enemies."

The death of Stalin, Dulles asserted, "has brought no basic change in Soviet policy. It remains expansive, not merely out of greed, but because it fears freedom. That was the most distressing aspect of the Berlin conference."

The Communists, he asserted "feel that they will not be safe until they have liquidated freedom as a major force in world affairs."

No Plan Afoot

In the economic field, Dulles had reassuring news for two groups in Latin America which have been issuing angry warnings against possible U.S. action —coffee and wool growers.

As for coffee, which recently soared to more than one dollar a pound in the United States, Dulles declared:

"There is no plan afoot to deal arbitrarily with the problem of prices by imposing some artificial price ceiling."

As for wool, he said, President Eisenhower seeks to avoid an increase in import duty through a plan to "support the wool industry of the United States."

Gains Sight In Rare Operations

Mrs. Samuel B. Jones, 40, of Augusta, Ga., who has gained nearly normal sight through rare operations, has her left eye inspected in Washington Thursday by Capt. Hazel Jones, a nurse at Walter Reed Army Hospital. Two corneas from the eyes of two Army men have been successfully transplanted to give sight to Mrs. Jones, whose vision was a blur since childhood. See Story on Page 17. Beutel Blasts Nation's School Administrators

. . . NU Regents Excepted, Praised

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska Law Professor Frederick Beutel Thursday night in Lincoln accused the nation's educational administrators of doing a "stinking job" of protecting academic freedom.

Prof. Beutel, president of the Nebraska chapter of American Association of University Professors, was speaking to the annual University YM-YWCA banquet at the Student Union.

Where there is a question of academic freedom, he said, "administrators run for cover."

But he excepted the University's Board of Regents from such a manner of administration.

Beutel

"It is the duty of the administrators to protect him (the teacher when his academic freedom is attacked)," Prof. Beutel declared, "and I am proud to say that is happening in Nebraska."

Policy Statement

He was speaking of a recent policy statement by the Board of Regents regarding academic freedom which was the subject of an editorial in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The former dean of law college at Nebraska denounced the teachers' loyalty oath in the state as a "long Boy Scout oath."

"If you don't believe (what it stands for) you are guilty of perjury and if you do I don't believe you are competent to teach," he asserted.

Instructors are experts in their fields, he said. As an expert he will not say foolish things; he is interested in the truth, Prof. Beutel said.

He emphasized that academic tenure is as important as academic freedom.

"It wouldn't do the teacher any good to tell the truth," he said, "and be fired the next day.

Prof. Beutel criticized those "self appointed experts and patriots" who raised the controversies over E. N. Anderson and Clyde Mitchell and who objected to certain textbooks.

"There is no place where the public knows less about the university than in Nebraska," he said.

People who can't tell the split T from the single wing, Prof. Beutel told the group, stir up dissention between the athletic coach, the athletic board and the players.

Academic freedom is a matter of public relations, he said. It is a problem involving the faculty and students of an educational institution, the public, and the educational administrators.

The University of Nebraska YMCA announced at the banquet the 1954 officers of the board of management. All the members of the board are students. The officers are: "Buzz" Hargleroad, president, Jack Rogers, vice president. Charles Harris, secretary, and John Chappell, treasurer.

The University YMCA was reported a total of 411 members, and total expenses for the year of $5,067, with a balance after expenses of $124.

The annual report of the student YWCA group showed a total membership of 426, and expenses of $7,308 with a deficit for the year of $33.

Ohio Counts 19 Dead After 5-Day Snow

By the Associated Press

A snowstorm that reached blizzard proportions in some places moved out of the eastern half of the country Thursday and into Canada.

Behind the storm, Ohio counted at least 19 dead in the five days snow pounded down on communities around Lake Erie. In Cleveland, 4 inches of snow Thursday brought the total on the ground to 12 inches. Sixteen inches fell on Cleveland last weekend.

Every school in Cleveland was closed because of the storm. Transportation was snarled, industry disrupted and hundreds of cars stalled by huge drifts piled up by strong winds.

Army Coddling Of Reds Denied

McCarthy Hits Back At Defense Head, Who Says 'Too Much Footsie" Played With Communists In Past

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson entered the row over Sen. McCarthy's methods Thursday by declaring: "The idea that the Army is coddling Communists is just damn tommyrot."

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, rapped back that "certain individuals" in the Army have been "protecting, promoting, covering up and honorably discharging known Communists."

Swinging into the fray which has blown up a major political storm, Wilson also declared that "too much footsie" has been played with the Communists under past administrations.

The defense chief said that during World War II, when he was president of General Motors, "I wanted to throw some Communists out of the plant, but the Pentagon wanted to make peace."

"Kicked Them Out"

Wilson declined to say who in the Pentagon sought to dissuade him from ousting the Reds.

"I kicked them out and the government was trying to make me put them back."

Asked if he did put them back, Wilson replied, "No."

On Capitol Hill, McCarthy got word of Wilson's "Tommyrot" statement just as he had finished giving newsmen a statement saying that the whole uproar amounted only to "a good healthy fight that cleared the air."

He predicted it would not result in a lasting split in the GOP.

McCarthy's first comment, after reading Wilson's statement, was:

"I'm through with statements on this matter."

Changes His Mind

Minutes later, he declared:

"No one has ever claimed that the Army as such is coddling Communists.

"However, it has been established beyond any possibility of a doubt, by sworn testimony, that certain individuals in the Army have been protecting, promoting, covering up and honorably discharging known Communists.

"I'm sure Charlie Wilson will not disagree with that," he added.

Still later McCarthy telephoned reporters and dictated this addition to his comment:

"I certainly hope that Charlie Wilson and I don't have to waste time arguing about these Fifth Amendment Communists."

McCarthy said he referred to Maj. Irving Peress, now a New York dentist, whose honorable discharge from the army has been a focal point in the current hubbub, and several other cases.

One of Bluntest Jabs

Wilson, who had been on vacation during most of the hed-hot feud between McCarthy and Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, spoke out on the controversy at his news conference.

His comment represented one of the bluntest jabs at McCarthy by a high administration official to date, but Wilson tempered it somewhat by saying:

"I think the McCarthy committee is bringing to the attention of the country the fact that we do have this (Communist) problem.

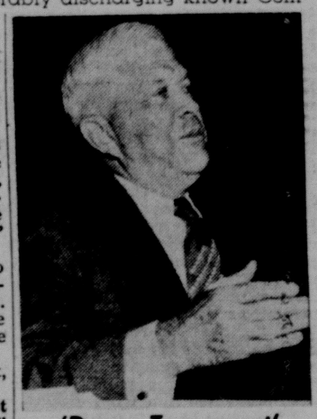

"If there are any of the main devils left, I would like to see them caught—rather than just the little people," he continued. "I never had any use for Communists. I not only hate Communists, but Communism."

Wilson said he thinks the American people are "fed up" with soft treatment toward Communists and most people believe "too much footsie has been played with them in the past."

A Lot of Telegrams

The defense secretary spoke out shortly after the White House reported that hundreds of telegrams, running 9-1 in praise of President Eisenhower, were pouring in from all parts of the country in reaction to the President's call for "fair play" in congressional investigations.

McCarthy said he had also received a lot of mail on the subject. He said he hadn't had a chance to check it yet, but would later.

"I do know this—I always believe in treating people courteously," Wilson said. "There is a general impression that Gen. Zwicker, at least in part, was not treated as courteously as he was entitled to be."

Wilson went on to say he has organized a task force to investigate the Army's handling of the case that blew up the McCarthy-Stevens vendetta. That was the case of Maj. Irving Peress, now a New York dentist, who was given an honorable discharge after McCarthy accused Peress of being a "Fifth Amendment Communist" and said he should have been court-martialled.

Peress has called McCarthy's charges "sheer nonsense."

. . . Explosion Injures 25

WITH 1ST MARINE DIVISION, Korea (Friday) (AP) — Six U.S. Marines were killed and 25 were injured yesterday when a mortar shell exploded during a training class near the front, the division reported today.

The division said an instructor dropped a live shell which he apparently thought had been rendered harmless. The instructor was among those killed.

Names of the victims were withheld.

The division spokesman said the effects of the blast were magnified because the shell exploded inside a quonset hut.

Windows and doors were blown out and flying steel shards ripped through the curved sides of the building.

Critical Condition

Doctors were flown to the scene. Every helicopter in the division was alerted to fly out the wounded—several of whom were in critical condition.

Some were flown to medical companies in the division, while others were flown direct to a Navy hospital ship in Inchon harbor.

Three of the men killed died en route to the medical companies and a fourth died late yesterday afternoon.

The two others killed died last night aboard the ship.

The Marine spokesman said the accident took place at the division's mine warfare school.

24 Million Less Asked For AEC

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower asked Congress to reduce the sum he had sought for the Atomic Energy Commission by nearly 24 million dollars Thursday because of unexpected economies in operating expenses.

The White House stressed that the reduction represents a cut in administrative expenses and will have no effect on the production of atomic weapons.

The revised AEC budget submitted to Congress actually would increase the expenditures for plants and equipment by $106,900,000, but reduce operating funds by $130,800,000.

Pen Trusty Lives, Works At Ashland; Part Of Planned, Legal Program

Records of the State Pardon Board show that Romie Barnes, 57, for many years a trusty at the state penitentiary has been transferred to Ashland at the request of Col. Hobb Turner of the Nebraska National Guard to repair furniture at the guard camp.

He is one of about 200 trusties, or one-third of the prison population, for whom outside work has been found, according to Warden H. H. Hann. This includes a large number engaged in the prison's farm and dairy operations.

Attempts have repeatedly been made by the Board of Control to increase work opportunities within the prison walls, the warden pointed out, but they have been defeated by a coalition of industry and organized labor when presented to the Legislature.

Barnes was transferred to the guard camp last Monday where he is under the joint supervision of prison authorities, national guard officials and the guard caretaker at the camp.

The records show that the guard fitted up a cabin in which Barnes lives and cooks his own meals wtih provisions furnished by the penitentiary. He spends all of his time at the camp.

In addition to Barnes' work, a detail of men for road work is taken to the camp daily under supervision. The work at the camp has been under way since late summer.

Questioned as to the advisability of leaving Barnes at the camp over night, Warden Hann said he considers it perfectly safe.

"I know the man," he explained. "He has reached an age where he has settled down. We endeavor to make men prove that they are reliable before they are made trusties."

The warden said that Barnes had taken three of the warden's dogs with him for company.

"He loves dogs and has been training mine for several months after his regular day's work," Hann said. "I personally pay him for this extra work."

The warden said that Barnes' affection for dogs and the opportunity to have them around him had given him a new interest that had been highly beneficial. He said that if carefully screened the "trusty" system had been proven beyond doubt extremely successful in prison operation throughout the United States.

Pardon board officials agreed with Warden Hann that Barnes was a good risk. They pointed out that he has been a trusty and allowed to work outside the walls for several years. Originally sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in Buffalo County in 1941, the pardon board has commuted it to 30 years. Barnes killed a man in a gambling game fight, according to the records.

A parole violation "hold order" from the state of Missouri where Barnes was paroled on a killing charge has been lifted to let the balance of his parole run concurrently with any parole granted in Nebraska.

The board officials point out that Barnes "would hardly risk his good time credits now that he has opportunity to complete his sentence." The official records show that both the military department and pardon board were fully informed before the transfer was authorized.

State law specifically provides that prisoners can be used for state work on request of departments if the pardon board believes they have men, who can be trusted for the work.

Section 83-434, Nebraska statutes reads:

"If the Board of Pardons shall deem it advisable, and if there are confined in the state penitentiary or reformatory, prisoners, who in the judgment of the board, are sufficiently trustworthy to be engaged in such an occupation, the board shall direct the warden to make available to the department, board or commission requesting men, the number of prisoners the board may direct, for work. At any time the department, board or commission employing such prisoners shall deem it advisable to have any of such prisoners returned to the penitentiary, it may notify the board, which shall immediately cause such prisoners to be returned."

Section 83-435, Nebraska statutes reads:

"The Board of Pardons, together with the warden of the state penitentiary, the warden of the reformatory, and the State Engineer shall take sufficient precautions and make such rules and regulations as they deem necessary to prevent the escape of prisoners made available under section 83-434."

Recently Mrs. Loretta Walker, secretary to the Pardon Board, received a $25 award from a governor's committee for suggesting that state departments hold down expenditures from tax funds by taking advantage of the work potential of men in prison and the reformatory as authorized by state law.

Crews have been at work in the Capitol building for several months cleaning up after repairs have been made and moving supplies so that workmen can make the repairs and alterations.

Security Official Says House Gunfire Attack 'Call For Revolution'

By WILLIAM L. UMSTEAD

WASHINGTON (INS) — Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., declared Thursday the Puerto Rican Nationalist threat is "critical" and a high security official said the gunfire attack on Congress was a terrorist "call to revolution."

Brownell

These developments came as secret service protection was doubled for Vice President Nixon and other top officials in Washington and for Secretary of State Dulles in Venezuela. President Eisenhower has been under maximum protection since Monday's onslaught in the House.

A special congressional Security Committee urged that a seven-foot bullet-proof glass wall be erected around the House spectator gallery to protect legislators from possible new assassination attempts.

Nationwide Crackdown

Brownell's grim description of the situation underlined a nationwide crackdown by the FBI, congressional investigators and ace big-city detectives on suspected Puerto Rican terrorist comrades of the four fanatics whose blazing pistols wounded five congressmen.

At a news conference, the attorney general twice used the word "critical" in relation to the Nationalist plot explosively dramatized by the gunplay in Congress. He said that "the public interest" prevented him from disclosing the steps being taken to meet the threat.

Meanwhile, one of the nation's highest investigative officials said: "The fanatical shooting of congressmen was in my opinion a call to revolution.

Seek Master Minds

Meanwhile, the House voted, 194 to 0, to defray the medical and hospital expenses of the shooting victims out of congressional funds.

Rep. Alvin Bentley (R-Mich), most seriously wounded of the five victims, remained in what Casualty Hospital officials called an "essentially unchanged" condition. Barring complications, Bentley is expected to recover.

Health Education Meet Attendance Is Near 30

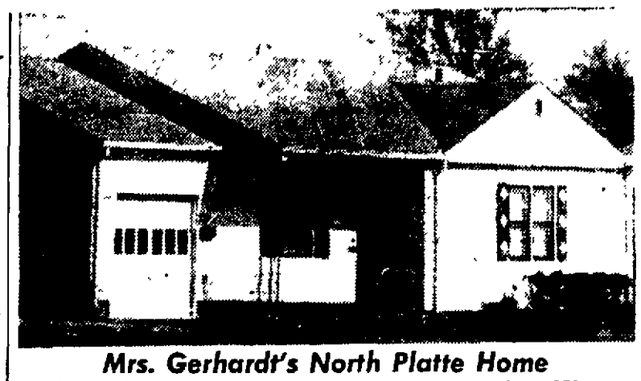

About 30 Lincoln school principals, health teachers, school nurses and public health nurses held a conference on health education at the School Administration Building Thursday afternoon.

Leading the discussion was Cecilia Conrath, consultant from the United States Public Health Service office in Kansas City.

The group discussed problems of health education and raising standards of lighting, ventilation and sanitation in the schools.

Hearing Date Set

The State Railway Commission will hold a hearing March 11 to hear the application of American Buslines to discontinue one presently scheduled trip between Lincoln and Fairmont.

'I Knew They Would Find Out,' Says Woman Of Embezzling

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—"I knew they would find out sooner or later," said Mrs. Jack (Mary Alice) Gerhardt Jr.

Mrs. Gerhardt, 22, appeared before the U. S. commissioner Thursday afternoon and waived preliminary hearing.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation filed the charge against the former bank employee late Wednesday.

The arrest warrant was served on Mrs. Gerhardt at the office of U. S. Commissioner Horace Crosby by U. S. Marshal Frank Golden of Omaha. A complaint against her alleged that on or about Jan. 7, 1953, she "did unlawfully and knowingly misapply and abstract the sum of $17,000" from the bank.

Whether or not she will waive indictment was not known Thursday. Unless indictment is waived, the case will come before a federal grand jury in June, according to U. S. District Attorney Donald R. Ross of Omaha.

Mrs. Gerhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Thomsen, posted $5,000 bond for their daughter. The Thomsens live on a well kept farm 10 miles southeast of North Platte.

W. H. Williams, special agent in charge of the Omaha FBI office, said the $17,000 figure was "not necessarily the full amount" and investigation was continuing. A bank officer said the bank's loss, through "manipulation of funds and forgery," amounted to about $30,000.

"We can't understand," said Mrs. Thomsen, the mother. "We don't know why . . . She hasn't told us . . . I don't think she knows herself."

Mary Alice, member of a church-going family, has six brothers and sisters. One older brother is married; an older sister has been a director of religious education in a Kansas City church and the others still are in school.

Mrs. Gerhardt worked at the bank from shortly after her graduation in 1950 until January, 1953. She started out in the file department and later became a bookkeeper. Bank officials described her as "very capable, an exceptionally fine bookkeeper" who was well thought of by both officers of the bank and fellow employees.

Her attorney, George B. Dent Jr., assured bank officials that Mrs. Gerhardt "would make every effort to cooperate to determine the exact amount of the shortage."

Bank officials said all depositors of the bank are fully protected by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., against such losses. They said the first indication they had of the discrepancies came last Saturday afternoon when the Wolf Brothers, W. E. and Ray, called the bank's attention to irregularities in their 1953 bank statement. The Wolf brothers are ranchers living between Maywood and Curtis.

MRS. MARY ALICE GERHARDT

It is understood that the Wolf brothers request statements on their bank account only at the end of each year, and Mrs. Gerhardt was believed to have made transfers from their account in 1951 and 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt were high school classmates who were married April 6, 1952. Mr. Gerhardt is a bakery employee.

The Gerhardts have a 10-month old child and Mrs. Gerhardt is expecting another in June.

In high school, Mary Alice was active in vocal music groups, on the school paper staff and Y-teens, and also was active in church youth groups.

The Gerhardts live in a white frame home they purchased Jan. 29, 1953, for $15,000.

News Around The Globe

Minimum Parity Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators opposing President Eisenhower's flexible farm program contended Thursday it would drop price supports next year to the minimum 75 per cent of parity.

But True D. Morse, undersecretary of agriculture, said the level would depend on such undetermined factors as the size of this year's crop, export sales and other things. In addition, he said, Secretary Benson still would have discretionary authority to fix a higher figure.

The price of wheat was the center of discussion as the Senate Agriculture Committee opened five weeks of hearings on the President's suggestions.

Tanks Rechecked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army said Thursday discovery of loose screws in the transmissions of some medium tanks has caused it to recheck 6,450 of the vehicles already delivered.

It said the 1st Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex., had found transmission damage in "three or four" tanks and the trouble was traced to the faulty fastening of screws at the Allison Division of General Motors. The transmission unit is used in both M47 and M48 tanks.

As a result, the Army said, it has ordered the transmissions of 6,450 tanks taken apart to "stake down" the screws. The work will cost an estimated $60,000, but no decision has yet been made whether the company or the Army will pay the bill.

Turks Free Ship

IZMIR, Turkey (AP)—The U.S. freighter Volunteer State was permitted to proceed to Istanbul Thursday after police held her in port for questioning in connection with a hit-and-run collision that resulted in four deaths.

The ship's Istanbul agents said the Turks ordered the 7,210-ton Volunteer State held for inspection and questioning of her crew on "circumstantial evidence" that the ship was in the sea Marmara where the 100-ton Turkish coaster Yayla sank Tuesday after a collision.

'Personal Matter'

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—A reporter who said he was beaten up after making a gambling investigation has now changed his story and declares "it was a personal matter," police said Thursday night.

Detective Jack Gascoyne said the Barberton police department was dropping the case at the request of Don Earlenbaugh, 21-year-old reporter for the Akron Beacon Journal.

Zilbauer Guilty

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Ex-convict Anthony Zilbauer, 53, was convicted of first degree murder Thursday for last November's killing of insurance adjuster Andrew J. Kmiec, 32. The verdict carried no recommendation for leniency, making a death sentence mandatory.

The same jury of eight women and four men also found Zilbauer guilty of kidnapping Mrs. Belle Brooks, 38, an offense carrying a penalty of life in prison.

6 More Arrested

CHICAGO (INS)—Six more Puerto Ricans were arrested in Chicago Thursday, bringing to 11 the number taken into custody since the shooting of five congressmen in Washington last Monday.

2 Local Attorneys, Devoe, Whitworth, Witness House 'Puerto Rico Incident'

Two Lincoln attorneys, Jack Devoe and Arthur Whitworth, were among the eye-witnesses to the shooting of five Congressmen by Puerto Rican fanatics Monday.

They were in Washington transacting business and had decided to drop in and listen at the House of Representatives. They were sitting in a visitor's gallery opposite the gallery in which the gunmen were seated.

"It was hard to believe," Devoe said. "I first thought it was someone with firecrackers demonstrating. Then I heard a popping in the corner and looked again and saw people with guns.

Plaster Falls

"I still couldn't believe it until I saw plaster on the ceiling fly and saw people lying on the floor."

"It was a very startling thing," Whitworth commented. "I first thought it was firecrackers. Then I heard the clicking of the mechanism on guns. I was not sure whether it was pistols or machine guns.

"It took only a matter of a few seconds for the whole thing to occur — 15 or 20 seconds at the most. Most of the melee on the House floor took place after it was over. At first everyone just sat there immobile."

Following the shooting, the Lincolnites ran out into the hall behind the balcony. They saw the gunmen being dragged out. The big man had a gun and they were trying to get it away from him, Devoe said. The girl, who seemed to do all the talking, was screaming "at the top of her lungs" something about freeing Puerto Rico.

Find Shell

Devoe and Whitworth then went into the gallery where the Puerto Ricans had been sitting. They each found and ejected jacket of one of the bullets as a souvenir of the experience.

"We talked to one man who had been sitting right down in front of the assailants" Whitworth said. "Just an instant before the shooting, he got up and moved to the back of the balcony. One of the bullets went right through the back of the seat where he had been sitting."

Both men agreed that it was an experience which they wouldn't care to go through again.

Brownell Warns:

Threat Of Fanatics Serious

Security Official Says House Gunfire Attack 'Call For Revolution'

By WILLIAM L. UMSTEAD

WASHINGTON (INS) — Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., declared Thursday the Puerto Rican Nationalist threat is "critical" and a high security official said the gunfire attack on Congress was a terrorist "call to revolution."

Brownell

These developments came as secret service protection was doubled for Vice President Nixon and other top officials in Washington and for Secretary of State Dulles in Venezuela. President Eisenhower has been under maximum protection since Monday's onslaught in the House.

A special congressional Security Committee urged that a seven-foot bullet-proof glass wall be erected around the House spectator gallery to protect legislators from possible new assassination attempts.

Nationwide Crackdown

Brownell's grim description of the situation underlined a nationwide crackdown by the FBI, congressional investigators and ace big-city detectives on suspected Puerto Rican terrorist comrades of the four fanatics whose blazing pistols wounded five congressmen.

At a news conference, the attorney general twice used the word "critical" in relation to the Nationalist plot explosively dramatized by the gunplay in Congress. He said that "the public interest" prevented him from disclosing the steps being taken to meet the threat.

Meanwhile, one of the nation's highest investigative officials said: "The fanatical shooting of congressmen was in my opinion a call to revolution.

Seek Master Minds

Meanwhile, the House voted, 194 to 0, to defray the medical and hospital expenses of the shooting victims out of congressional funds.

Rep. Alvin Bentley (R-Mich), most seriously wounded of the five victims, remained in what Casualty Hospital officials called an "essentially unchanged" condition. Barring complications, Bentley is expected to recover.

Health Education Meet Attendance Is Near 30

About 30 Lincoln school principals, health teachers, school nurses and public health nurses held a conference on health education at the School Administration Building Thursday afternoon.

Leading the discussion was Cecilia Conrath, consultant from the United States Public Health Service office in Kansas City.

The group discussed problems of health education and raising standards of lighting, ventilation and sanitation in the schools.

Hearing Date Set

The State Railway Commission will hold a hearing March 11 to hear the application of American Buslines to discontinue one presently scheduled trip between Lincoln and Fairmont.

Mrs. Gerhardt's North Platte Home

Shown above is the home of Mrs. Mary Alice Gerhardt in North Platte. Mrs. Gerhardt, 22, whose husband is a North Platte bakery employee, owns the home in her name. It was purchased Jan. 29, 1953, for $5,702, and an assumed mortgage of $9,297, which was paid off March 10, 1953. (Photo Special to The Star by North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin.)

'I Knew They Would Find Out,' Says Woman Of Embezzling

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—"I knew they would find out sooner or later," said Mrs. Jack (Mary Alice) Gerhardt Jr.

Mrs. Gerhardt, 22, appeared before the U. S. commissioner Thursday afternoon and waived preliminary hearing.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation filed the charge against the former bank employee late Wednesday.

The arrest warrant was served on Mrs. Gerhardt at the office of U. S. Commissioner Horace Crosby by U. S. Marshal Frank Golden of Omaha. A complaint against her alleged that on or about Jan. 7, 1953, she "did unlawfully and knowingly misapply and abstract the sum of $17,000" from the bank.

Whether or not she will waive indictment was not known Thursday. Unless indictment is waived, the case will come before a federal grand jury in June, according to U. S. District Attorney Donald R. Ross of Omaha.

Mrs. Gerhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Thomsen, posted $5,000 bond for their daughter. The Thomsens live on a well kept farm 10 miles southeast of North Platte.

W. H. Williams, special agent in charge of the Omaha FBI office, said the $17,000 figure was "not necessarily the full amount" and investigation was continuing. A bank officer said the bank's loss, through "manipulation of funds and forgery," amounted to about $30,000.

"We can't understand," said Mrs. Thomsen, the mother. "We don't know why . . . She hasn't told us . . . I don't think she knows herself."

Mary Alice, member of a church-going family, has six brothers and sisters. One older brother is married; an older sister has been a director of religious education in a Kansas City church and the others still are in school.

Mrs. Gerhardt worked at the bank from shortly after her graduation in 1950 until January, 1953. She started out in the file department and later became a bookkeeper. Bank officials described her as "very capable, an exceptionally fine bookkeeper" who was well thought of by both officers of the bank and fellow employees.

Her attorney, George B. Dent Jr., assured bank officials that Mrs. Gerhardt "would make every effort to cooperate to determine the exact amount of the shortage."

Bank officials said all depositors of the bank are fully protected by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., against such losses. They said the first indication they had of the discrepancies came last Saturday afternoon when the Wolf Brothers, W. E. and Ray, called the bank's attention to irregularities in their 1953 bank statement. The Wolf brothers are ranchers living between Maywood and Curtis.

MRS. MARY ALICE GERHARDT

It is understood that the Wolf brothers request statements on their bank account only at the end of each year, and Mrs. Gerhardt was believed to have made transfers from their account in 1951 and 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt were high school classmates who were married April 6, 1952 . Mr. Gerhardt is a bakery employee.

The Gerhardts have a 10-month old child and Mrs. Gerhardt is expecting another in June.

In high school, Mary Alice was active in vocal music groups, on the school paper staff and Y-teens, and also was active in church youth groups.

The Gerhardts live in a white frame home they purchased Jan. 29, 1953, for $15,000.

News Around The Globe

Minimum Parity Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators opposing President Eisenhower's flexible farm program contended Thursday it would drop price supports next year to the minimum 75 per cent of parity.

But True D. Morse, undersecary of agriculture, said the level would depend on such undetermined factors as the size of this year's crop, export sales and other things. In addition, he said, Secretary Benson still would have discretionary authority to fix a higher figure.

The price of wheat was the center of discussion as the Senate Agriculture Committee opened five weeks of hearings on the President's suggestions.

Tanks Rechecked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army said Thursday discovery of loose screws in the transmissions of some medium tanks has caused it to recheck 6,450 of the vehicles already delivered.

It said the 1st Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex., had found transmission damage in "three or four" tanks and the trouble was traced to the faulty fastening of screws at the Allison Division of General Motors. The transmission unit is used in both M47 and M48 tanks.

As a result, the Army said, it has ordered the transmissions of 6,450 tanks taken apart to "stake down" the screws. The work will cost an estimated $60,000, but no decision has yet been made whether the company or the Army will pay the bill.

Turks Free Ship

IZMIR, Turkey (AP)—The U.S. freighter Volunteer State was permitted to proceed to Istanbul Thursday after police held her in port for questioning in connection with a hit-and-run collision that resulted in four deaths.

The ship's Istanbul agents said the Turks ordered the 7,210-ton Volunteer State held for inspection and questioning of her crew on "circumstantial evidence" that the ship was in the sea Marmara where the 100-ton Turkish coaster Yayla sank Tuesday after a collision.

'Personal Matter'

BARBERTON, Ohio(AP)—A reporter who said he was beaten up after making a gambling investigation has now changed his story and declares "it was a personal matter," police said Thursday night.

Detective Jack Gascoyne said the Barberton police department was dropping the case at the request of Don Earlenbaugh, 21-year-old reporter for the Akron Beacon Journal.

Zilbauer Guilty

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Ex-convict Anthony Zilbauer, 53, was convicted of first degree murder Thursday for last November's killing of insurance adjuster Andrew J. Kmiec, 32. The verdict carried no recommendation for leniency, making a death sentence mandatory.

The same jury of eight women and four men also found Zilbauer guilty of kidnapping Mrs. Belle Brooks, 38, an offense carrying a penalty of life in prison.

6 More Arrested

CHICAGO (INS)—Six more Puerto Ricans were arrested in Chicago Thursday, bringing to 11 the number taken into custody since the shooting of five congressmen in Washington last Monday.

2 Local Attorneys, Devoe, Whitworth, Witness House 'Puerto Rico Incident'

Two Lincoln attorneys, Jack Devoe and Arthur Whitworth, were among the eye-witnesses to the shooting of five Congressmen by Puerto Rican fanatics Monday.

They were in Washington transacting business and had decided to drop in and listen at the House of Representatives. They were sitting in a visitor's gallery opposite the gallery in which the gunmen were seated.

"It was hard to believe," Devoe said. "I first thought it was someone with firecrackers demonstrating. Then I heard a popping in the corner and looked again and saw people with guns.

Plaster Falls

"I still couldn't believe it until I saw plaster on the ceiling fly and saw people lying on the floor."

"It was a very startling thing," Whitworth commented. "I first thought it was firecrackers. Then I heard the clicking of the mechanism on guns. I was not sure whether it was pistols or machine guns.

"It took only a matter of a few seconds for the whole thing to occur — 15 or 20 seconds at the most. Most of the melee on the House floor took place after it was over. At first everyone just sat there immobile."

Following the shooting, the Lincolnites ran out into the hall behind the balcony. They saw the gunmen being dragged out. The big man had a gun and they were trying to get it away from him, Devoe said. The girl, who seemed to do all the talking, was screaming "at the top of her lungs" something about freeing Puerto Rico.

Find Shell

Devoe and Whitworth then went into the gallery where the Puerto Ricans had been sitting. They each found and ejected jacket of one of the bullets as a souvenir of the experience.

"We talked to one man who had been sitting right down in front of the assailants" Whitworth said. "Just an instant before the shooting, he got up and moved to the back of the balcony. One of the bullets went right through the back of the seat where he had been sitting."

Both men agreed that it was an experience which they wouldn't care to go through again.

MacArthur May Testify In New Probe Of Pacific Hero's Dismissal

WASHINGTON (INS) — A Senate source said Thursday Gen. Douglas MacArthur probably will be asked to testify in a potentially sensational new probe of the Pacific hero's abrupt dismissal by ex-President Harry S. Truman.

The official declared that MacArthur would be a "logical witness," but added: "At the present state of the inquiry there is no way to know definitely whether he will be called."

The development came after a former MacArthur aide testified in secret on what he called the "real story" of the five-star general's summary dismissal from command and recall from the Far East at a crucial stage of the Korean War.

The testimony, given by Col. Laurence E. Bunker, U.S.A. (ret.) sparked a new inquiry by Sen. William E. Jenner's Internal Security Sub-committee into Truman's midnight decision to fire MacArthur.

Bunker testified for 90 minutes at a closed-door hearing, reportedly revealing hitherto undisclosed information on the Korean War policy dispute which resulted in MacArthur's sudden dismissal on April 11, 1951.

Jenner, an Indiana Republican, and subcommittee attaches were unusually reticent about Bunker's testimony.

But a subcommittee official said: "General MacArthur would be a logical witness. Of course, there would be no one to stop him if he asks to testify."

The official added that "some research will be required" before the subcommittee can hold an open hearing.

Bunker has charged that there has been "no attempt" by the Eisenhower administration "to tell the real story" of how the Truman administration met Communism aggression in Korea.

Prior to his Senate testimony, Bunker declared he expected the subcommittee to explore "many things" in connection with the MacArthur dismissal, which shocked the nation and resulted in extensive 1951 hearings before the Senate Armed Services Committee, then Democrat-controlled.

Jeary Questions Whether Gas Rate Reduction Big Enough

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Clark Jeary has raised questions as to whether Central Electric and Gas Co. has proposed enough of a reduction in retail rates.

At a meeting this week with the City Council, the Gas Company proposed an approximate 5 per cent reduction in the scale approved last December by the Council which increased rates about 15 per cent. The proposed lower rates, said Central, would give the company a 6.5 per cent return on its investment.

But, Jeary questions some of the items which the company used to make up its total investment or rate base. He noted first that the company has included $370,000 in anticipated additions through 1954.

These additions, said Jeary, may or may not be made but the Council has always looked at only the plant as it exists at the time of rate making.

Rate Base

The mayor also noted that $252,000 included in the company's rate base for materials and supplies and $113,000 as one-eighth of its working capital may be duplications of the capital additions. Those supplies and funds, he said, may be used to make the planned additions, in which case they should not be listed separately in the rate base.

Jeary is also seeking other information on the company's report from the city engineering and finance departments. After all facts are assembled, said Jeary, a meeting of the City Council will be called.

The mayor said he also plans to review Central's report again with company officials. It is possible, according to Jeary, for an ordinance to be introduced Monday and given three readings to reduce rates if the Council and Gas Company are in agreement by then.

Jeary said he was not yet certain as to the fairness of the 6.5 per cent return. He appeared, however, to have little argument with that as he quoted a Federal Power Commission examiner as telling him "a 6.5 per cent return is usual and fair, they can live on a 6 per cent return but anything less than 6 per cent is likely to be reversed by the courts."

Actual Return

In the last rate increase, the Council approved an approximate 6 per cent return but Jeary said it was believed that company sales would be more than anticipated which would bring the actual return up to 6.5 per cent.

While gas rates have increased, Central officials stated that higher gas bills have nothing to do with the quality of the gas. Central's supplier, said E. C. Dean, vice president in charge of operations, has to maintain a certain BTU content in the gas.

The BTU content, which Dean said has been more than 1,000 at all times, determines the quality of the gas. Thus, with a lower BTU rating more gas would be necessary to produce the same amount of heat as gas with a higher BTU content.

While a lower BTU content would make gas bills higher, said Dean, such is not the case now.

In another action the board created a finance committee, enlarged the all-community membership drive, and discussed architectural plans and integration of the building program with Lincoln Community Chest assistance.

While a lower BTU content would make gas bills higher, said Dean, such is not the case now.

Belmont Center Board Names Mrs. Wentz

Mrs. Stanley Wentz has been elected to the Belmont Community Center board of directors. She will serve for three years filing a vacancy which had existed since the regular election.

The board also decided to investigate the possibility of locating the new community center building near Lincoln Heights Park and Belmont School. This site is four or five blocks north of the present center at 1200 Belmont.

In another action the board created a finance committee, enlarged the all-community membership drive, and discussed architectural plans and integration of the building program with Lincoln Community Chest assistance.

Call To Prayer

Today in quiet churches all over the world will assemble those who desire participation in what has become a spiritual dedication each year to the uniting of humble Christian peoples everywhere in one holy fellowship of living together, working together, striving toward the common goal of universal harmony and lasting peace.

It is fitting that such has become an impressive part of our Lenten season.

Glancing back, one notes the observance of the World Day of Prayer began as long ago as 1887, growing in interest and spreading here and abroad until today 19,000 American communities join hands with 118 other countries of the world in concurring ceremonies. Each year a national committee asks a woman or group of women from one of the countries taking part to write a special service and this year finds that function in the hands of Miss Sara Chakko who is president of Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India.

It is understandable that such an institution should have come into being and grown in stature under the sponsorship of the women of the church—the wives and mothers who know so well the need for inner counsel and daily guidance beyond the mortal reach. Prayer associates itself with a quiet time—the hush of cathedral meditation or the cloistered recesses of personal solitude. But look for it in the hurly-burly of our times, for it is there also. It is there wherever the heart cries out in plea or gratitude, in fear or thanksgiving. It may be nothing more than a brief moment's appreciation of the flash of a bluebird's wing against the sky—the smell of spring in the good earth—the unconscious hope for the well-being of a loved one—or the desire for accurate decision.

The "lost language," it has been called. Not so. It speaks more eloquently today than ever before for those who will listen.

Start Of A Turnpike

Naturally if Nebraska becomes part of a turnpike or toll road leading from east coast to the Pacific, Nebraska's planning in that connection will have to tie in with that of Iowa, Colorado or some other neighboring state.

And if a toll road is to be built, we want to be in on it.

Unfortunately an undertaking of this kind presents problems which vary widely. The toll road flourishes best in a highly-industrialized, thickly-populated region. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, all possessing populations greatly in excess of those to be found in the states to the west of the Missouri River, can look ahead with full confidence to ultimately paying off the debt incurred in the construction of a toll road. The presence of a great many more people, people who will use that highway embracing the latest modern construction and convenience, takes care of that. Nebraska occupies a unique position which is not insurmountable, fortunately, because of the growing resort to the revenue bond. Nebraska's constitutional ban against bonded indebtedness does not apply to its political subdivisions and more particularly to political subdivisions authorized by statute to issue revenue bonds.

Just now, understandably, the chief concern is determination of the route of a coast-to-coast turnpike adapted to the needs of transcontinental traffic. There is no state in the Middle West better suited to the building of a coast-to-coast road than Nebraska. Its rivers are relatively few, in which costly bridge construction is called for. It has no mountains involving exceedingly heavy expense in the construction of a highway. It is a level plain without sharp grades or any of the other difficulties which add to the cost of highway construction.

It should not involve a great deal of labor to build a strong case for Nebraska. If a coast-to-coast highway is to be constructed, then its logical route is through this state west to the mountains.

Adult Usurpers

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, who was president of Chicago University before he went to work for the Ford Foundation, recently described the high schools as the weakest link in the American educational system. He called them the dumping ground of aimless communiy activities, a citadel of basketball teams, a social center for old and young substituting concrete teaching for a vague thing called character building.

Those are hard words. But for whatever merit they have they are a criticism of adults rather than the children. The latter arrange no curricula, define no educational objectives nor run the schools. They simply attend them and play the educational game the way the adults set it up.

It seems that here is one of the great things wrong with education. It has become an adult business. The children have become negative figures. If there is to be any education they are the ones that are going to get it. And if they are going to get it they are going to have to work for it. Teachers can facilitate learning, methods can organize it, parents can create an emphasis for it. But in the end little Johnny has got to do the learning. It is time the adults quit usurping Johnny's function, cease standing in the way of things he ought to be learning and put Johnny to work digging things out the hard way. When that starts, most of the adult finger pointing will pass away and our children, having been restored to their field, will be lots better educated.

Egypt's Plight

In one of the quickest government upheavals in recent times Gen. Mohammed Naguib was kicked out of the Egyptian premiership and hardly before he landed an arm reached out and hauled him back into it —with some modifications of course.

The coup was staged with such dispatch that the watching world missed some of its significance. Men who are kicked out during a revolutionary period generally do not get recalled. They are lucky to keep on living.

Pending future developments which may throw more definitive light on what is going on in Egypt one must conclude that either Naguib is needed as a front for a change in government direction, or the men who ejected him had momentarily lost faith in his political program, but in the end had nothing better themselves to offer.

Setting an underprivileged nation on the right track is a difficult problem. It calls upon people who are not prepared to live and act upon a level where they have never been. Such people are imprisoned by their own backwardness which attacks upon their leaders or outside interests will not cure.

No Refuge.

The news columns reveal that there was a ruction in the Lincoln jail and a man stabbed. The cooler is no longer a cool place. The public will take this news hard. The outside is not a safe place. Cars collide and take lives. Dark streets are dangerous. If the jails cannot provide protection from violence, then, the peaceable man's final refuge has vanished.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Something is terribly wrong with the standard dictionaries to be found in the library in this newspaper office. We have been intrigued in recent months by the increasing use of a phrase by a portion of the American press in describing an element of American citizenry as "eggheads" or by the reference to a group as an "egghead society." A Nebraska newspaper was at it again Thursday morning in commenting on the hassle between President Eisenhower and Sen. Joe McCarthy.

★

Much to our confusion and disappointment, both the abridged and unabridged dictionaries at our disposal failed to carry a definition of either an "egghead" or an "egghead society." Its roots go back to politics. And in common street parlance, an "egghead" roughly measures an individual supposedly getting along to the best of his ability with a set of "scrambled brains." This paper to which we refer seems to think Mr. Eisenhower borrowed phrases of an "egghead society" in the President's widely-heralded statement on McCarthy, choosing this specific example as the classic symbol of an "egghead" attitude: "In opposing Communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or through carelessness we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play." Now, we confess that Mr. Eisenhower's words in that 800-word statement did not give us any special lift. Obviously the President was trying to say something without getting it fully said. He wanted to spank Sen. McCarthy but he spurned contact with the flesh. An old-fashioned paddle or a much-worn slipper comes in mighty handy on such occasions. And if it is to be the woodshed, the paddle or a slipper, then nothing happens when the paddle finds itself suspended in midair.

Scrambled Brains A La Carte

★

Sen. McCarthy was well aware of this. It was his backside which was to be warmed. So with the greatest of ease squirming, he rolled over, stuck out his tongue, and uttered defiance.

★

But back to this "egghead" business. It is high time that some of the publishers of these dictionaries catch up with "progress." Surely any individual who does not agree with you is entitled to some kind of recognition by way of definition in the dictionary. The Fifth Amendment, of course, became a part of American constitutional government long before a chap named Lenin and another chap named Stalin were sucking teething rings. The Fifth Amendment was born long before Communism: It has a much greater application in the protection of the individual American than the restricted field in which it is now employed. We have no sympathy with any individual who seeks to cover up his past when it comes to Communism by making use of the Fifth Amendment. It is the best evidence that the individual does not understand the full, true functioning of principles of justice when he falls back upon it to hide the fact that at some time or other in a moment of confusion or something worse, he became a Communist. But we're quite sure that Sen. McCarthy publicly would not urge repeal of the amendment for which he now professes such scorn in a fight against Communism.

Back To 'Egghead' Business

★

Again, to get back to this business of "egghead," we are forced to conclude that it defines an individual of strong convictions. Which means simply that in this era of high controversy, actually there are two types of "eggheads" where supposedly there was only one.

Independent Puerto Rico Radicals' Aim

WASHINGTON—Driving through the streets of San Juan with Gov. Luis Munoz-Marin of Puerto Rico several years ago, I wondered why he purposely cut off all ventilation in his limousine. The weather was sweltering. But the glass windows of the car were closed.

Looking more closely, I noticed that the car windows were of glass half an inch thick—bulletproof.

I asked no questions and waited until the car passed outside the narrow, congested streets of San Juan to the open countryside, when the car windows were rolled down.

It was only a short time afterward, however, when two Puerto Rican fanatics tried to shoot their way into the White House, and I realized how necessary were the safety precautions taken by the governor of Puerto Rico. For on the same day the two Puerto Rican assassins made an attempt on the life of President Truman, a little band of nationalists also stormed the front entrance to Forteleza, residence of Gov. Munoz, and tried to kill him.

Tragic fact about the attempts on Gov. Munoz and the gruesome shooting of five congressmen this week is that probably no one has done more for Puerto Rico than Gov. Munoz or more than the last session of Congress which passed the "Commonwealth of Puerto Rico" bill.

Munoz-Marin is the first governor ever elected by the Puerto Rican people. Educated at Georgetown University, he spent most of his youth in the nation's capital where his father was Puerto Rican delegate to Congress.

A big, square-jawed man, Munoz-Marin looks like he might have stepped out of a Hollywood western, but he has done more for the Puerto Rican people in regard to housing, schools, agricultural progress and governmental reform than any man in history. Despite attacks on his life, he is loved by the great mass of the people.

REFORMING PUERTO RICO

Prior to Munoz-Marin's election, Puerto Rican governors had always been appointed by the President of the United States, and the governorship was considered a glorified political plum for the politically faithful. For years Puerto Ricans had every reason to complain. They were the political stepchild of the U.S., with no vote, no representation in Congress, and no governmental administration except that handed them by the Republican or Democratic national committee.

But Munoz-Marin, who had the ear of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, gradually changed all this. Had he not changed it, the Puerto Rican nationalists might have some excuse for complaint. As it is, their only gripe can be on the ground that the island has been given as much independence as the people wanted.

The balloting for the Puerto Rican commonwealth took place on March 3, 1953, in one of the most unique elections ever seen in the Western hemisphere. Promptly at 1 o'clock on that day a great calm settled over the island. Business stopped. Automobiles vanished from the streets. Cane cutters left the sugar fields. All of Puerto Rico settled down to vote on the question of whether it should be a commonwealth under the United States or not.

The vote for the new constitution was overwhelming. The Nationalists, who wanted complete independence from the United States, scarcely made a ripple. Apparently they now seek to achieve by terrorism what they could not achieve by the ballot.

Under this new commonwealth constitution, Puerto Rico becomes somewhat the same relationship to the United States as the Commonwealth of Australia to England. Defense and foreign policy are administered from Washington. Puerto Rico does not have to pay taxes to support an Army and Navy, and Puerto Ricans are drafted into the U.S. armed services. But the island collects its own taxes, and fixes its own taxes, though subject to the same tariff provisions as the United States.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Adenauer Is Pillar For United Europe

BERLIN—In the wake of the Berlin conference many skeptics are saying that the European Defense Community will be either delayed to death or rejected outright. But West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is not one of them. In a long talk with this correspondent he expressed his unshakeable conviction that a unified Europe will come into being.

He predicted that by midsummer the treaty would be ratified. The chancellor will do his best to prevent the opposition in France and elsewhere from delaying action until it is determined at the Geneva conference whether a negotiated truce can be arrived at in the Indo-China war. After gaining that delay the Russians could propose another conference for September and then that would mean still another delay.

Adenauer is working on a plan which he hopes will bring agreement with France on a solution of the thorny problem of the Saar. While he is guarded about the nature of this solution, he apparently means to combine parts of the plan that originated with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and former Foreign Minister Robert Schumann, with elements of the proposal worked out in a committee of the Council of Europe. He said with a kind of quiet solemnity that he was convinced EDC was the best way and perhaps the only way to prevent the rise of the German military spirit.

For more than two years Adenauer has been planning and plotting the course of EDC, convinced always that it was the only way to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy that three times since 1870 has seen France and Germany in mortal combat and the third time brought Europe to the very edge of ruin. The West German leader told me he is confident that when EDC is ratified, the 12 German divisions which will be Germany's contribution can be brought into being in 18 months.

This is more optimistic than other estimates, which put the time at a minimum of three years. But evidence of a real desire among many Germans to bring military power into being again is the fact that even though no call has been issued as yet, already 100,000 applications for service in the new army are on file. This includes applications from 25,000 former officers.

Lieut. Gen. Adolf Heusinger, a member of the Inter-European Planning Committee for EDC, believes it would take a year to bring the cadres of commissioned and noncommissioned officers into being. He points out that a careful screening process will be necessary in order to keep out those who were political officers in the Nazi army. Then in the second year with a draft the 12 divisions — four of them panzer divisions—would be filled up.

In the course of our talk I asked Adenauer how much of the equipment would have to be supplied by America. He replied simply, Everything. The treaty with the three powers that still technically occupy West Germany and the Bonn republic forbids, as the chancellor pointed out, the production of any arms other than small arms for hunting and the police. Therefore, the costly armored equipment for a modern army must come from the United States.

With a kind of sadness Adenauer spoke of the position of the Social Democrats who have held all their 144 members in parliament in line against EDC. Their position after the Berlin conference, said the chancellor, was bankrupt, and that was sad because a healthy opposition is essential to a democracy. The socialists have gone on repeating year after year the same line. They want Germany to be free of both sides in the struggle. Yet, ironically enough, they have been most clamorous to have American troops remain on German soil. It is as though they feel that the presence of Americans in uniform will somehow guarantee a Germany in which the fierce spirit of the wehrmacht will never again emerge.

Adenauer feels it would greatly help ratification of EDC if the United States would give a fixed commitment to keep troops in Western Europe for a long period of years. But he added quickly that Secretary of State Dulles had explained to him in their recent talk at the Bonn Airport that because of legal and political complications such a guarantee could not be made.

Adenauer insists that he has no plans whatsoever that take possible failure of EDC into account. He refuses to believe that such a failure is possible. There comes a time, he says grimly, when you must put your cards on the table and have a showdown. His whole career as he has risen in popular favor from a comparative unknown to become a national and almost a folk hero has been positioned on making Germany a part of the European community. If that effort fails, his hold will be weakened and the future of Germany—and Europe—will be, to say the very least, uncertain.

The metamorphosis of Adenauer himself from a provincial German into a European and even a world citizen may stand, if his policy succeeds, as a symbol of what can happen to the German people. For 16 years as mayor of Cologne, he never once visited Paris although it is a drive of only five or six hours. Today his associates worry because the old gentleman has grown so fond of travel that he wants to be on the move much of the time.

On March 9 he is starting out on a tour of Greece and Turkey that will bring him back to Bonn only a few days before he must go to a meeting of the six European foreign ministers at Brussels. At that meeting beginning March 30 he will try to work out with Bidault an agreed plan for the long and bitterly disputed Saar. If they could unveil such a plan that reported the French assembly was about to consider the defense treaty, chances for ratification would be greatly improved.

The view through the big window on one side of the chancellor's office is cross the Rhine and to the dark hills on the opposite side. In the presence of this stubborn old man one can almost believe that the transition is being effected between the wild, demonic Germany of the past and a new Germany taking its place within a framework of European law and order.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

What To Do With A Hole

By MONA B. PARKER

Exhilaration was the word for it, and a general sense of well-being as rain and moisture-laden snow took the edge off conditions of near-drought over much of the state. Nowhere was there to be found a hint of complaint for inconvenience or discomfort afforded by the weather....

☆ ☆ ☆

"Mud," quoth the Polk Progress, "is a lot cleaner than blowing dust...."

☆ ☆ ☆

Driving was hazardous, numerous vehicles ditched, REA and long distance phone lines out for 24 hours, many roads blocked and numbers of local citizens marooned in Nelson where they had gone for the Ruskin-Nelson basketball game, but all in all, a "wonderful storm," according to the Ruskin News, with an eye on wheat fields that "are already responding to the moisture."

☆ ☆ ☆

M. D. Hemphill expressed it this way in the Plaindealer: "Plenty of rain in the ground is just like money in the bank for Burt County agriculture...."

☆ ☆ ☆

In the Wymore and Blue Springs neighborhood, nearly 2½ inches of combined moisture was measured, and the answer to "What did you think of that million-dollar rain?" was consistently, "Great! Great!" Editor A. Funk of the Arbor State agreed heartily even though he found himself bogged down to a state of complete immobility on a country road east of Rockford until a friendly farmer towed him out to the highway with a tractor....

☆ ☆ ☆

The reading in and around Chester was an even inch—with the exception of the H. H. Spohn home. Mr. Spohn reported three inches there. His explanation—he had three measuring cans out in the downpour.

☆ ☆ ☆

The famous Geneva crows—proud of their forecasting record and hence a little weather vain—weren't fooled about approaching blizzard conditions. They were flying around crazily in the afternoon looking for low branches. One old crow was even overheard to complain aloud about the county board's having the low branches trimmed off the trees.

"Serve them right if we went on to California," he cawed.

☆ ☆ ☆

Everyone in Blair was wearing a smile, according to Columnist Rufus Olson. "Fire Chief Gordon Vinton was perhaps as happy as anyone in Washington County—it hurt the fire business."

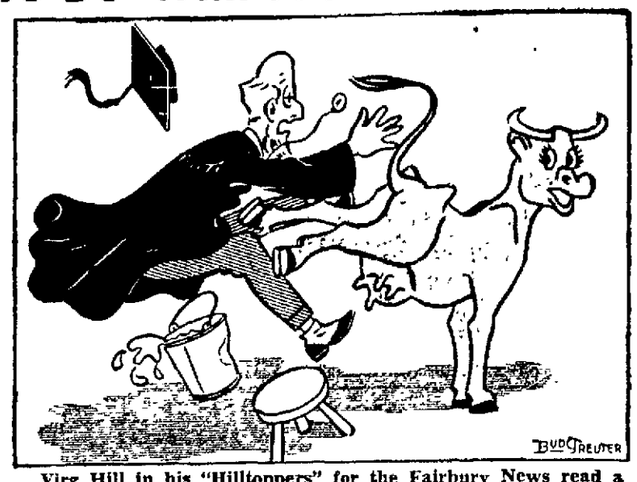

☆ ☆ ☆

Jim Cornwell tells about a Stanton man whose wife, he said, had found a way to beat current high costs—she's buying cheaper coffee. It was what the Register editor called an "off brand," and one he hadn't heard of before. He inquired as to the taste of the beverage.

"Great," was the sarcastic rejoinder, "just like caffein' with the coffee removed!"

The Comstock Community Club had an idea and asked for a little help on it, and what followed proved the time-honored assertion of what can be accomplished when everyone works together. There was a big hole in a lot between two business places and an adjoining lot that needed cleaning and leveling. Farmers by the score turned out and townspeople pitched in with their assistance. Some brought trucks and tractors and others did shovel work. The ladies, not to be outdone, served dinner each of the two days the project was under way, and those who couldn't help otherwise contributed cash. When they had finished, they stepped back to admire what they had created out of discard and unsightliness—a pleasant playground for their youngsters.

Virg Hill in his "Hilltoppers" for the Fairbury News read a Cornell University professor's claim that there is "no kick in milk." Commented Mr. Hill, who evidently is a country boy from away back, "But of course the professor never tried to work on the wrong side of a cow."

Close To Home

By Ed Fitzhugh

Man, Boy & Gun

It's just an old gun but it has a value for me that cannot be measured in dollars. It's the kind of value there is no price tag for, the kind you couldn't sell—and wouldn't if you could. It's the value of comradeship between a boy and his father. It's the golden feeling of seeing deft young hands and a quick young mind pick up a job your weariness has laid down—and finish it.

In restless idleness the other day I noticed the old gun again, and somehow it seemed a good time to do what had been delayed too long already. I took it from the rack, and carried it to the work room in the basement. Lee, who is 15, noticed, and trailed along.

The trigger spring was out of place, the ejector mechanism was gummed up, the magazine spring was gone, the barrel was clogged. Oil three-quarters of a century old had hardened everywhere. There was nothing for it but to take out every bolt, every screw, every part. There were more parts, it seems to me, in those old guns.

We worked for three nights on it, with kerosene and oil and emery cloth, and ramrod and delicate tools. The clogged barrel had us worried, for fear it was lead in there, but it turned out to be only a compact nest some ancient insect had built, and in the end the bore was shining and bright, the barrel a blued beauty, and the parts gleamed clean and ready.

"Well," I said doubtfully, "we can put it together."

"That," said Lee, "is going to be a job!"

Maybe it would have been easy for an expert, who knows just where every belt and screw goes, but neither of us was expert. Things didn't seem to fit. The evening grew late, and my patience wore thin.

"We'll have to leave it until tomorrow," I said finally. "It's way past bedtime." That's what I said, but what I thought was, "On Monday, I'll take the whole mess to a gunsmith."

I didn't though. And the reason was, I came home next evening to find my son, a grin on his face and the rifle in his hands, and I knew before he said it that he'd found the combination. He worked the lever, and the hammer clicked beautifully to full cock. With his thumb he let the hammer down, and his grin was wider.

"How'd you do it?" I demanded.

"Just took a lot of time, and figured it out," he replied.

A man can learn a lot from a boy, sometimes.

Save The Birds

Santa Barbara, Calif.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Two vast and deadly armies are silently covering and ravaging the land. One army is of insects, coming to life in spring. Insects are the natural food for birds and when birds are gone, insects thrive.

The other army is of millions of vagrant cats, because the cats destroy the birds that would check the insects. Agricultural losses from insects have been mounting. The figure is now eight billion dollars a year!

What kind of thinking is it when cat owners often say: "If birds have a right to kill insects, then cats have a right to kill birds!" Even the governor of one state, in vetoing the only bill for cat control passed by a legislature, said in his veto message that if we legislate against cats, "we may be called upon to take sides in bird versus worm."

Less than 50 years ago, when birds were more abundant, reports of the work of birds in combatting insects were in terms of tons and carloads. The 1913 California Agricultural Experiment station reported: "Meadowlarks alone in the Sacramento Valley consume 193 tons of insects daily in feeding their young during the nest season." A. F. Gilmore wrote in 1919: "In Nebraska the daily consumption of insects by birds is 170 carloads. In New York state, the destruction of injurious insects by birds each season is more than three million bushels."

Young birds eat as much as 2½ times their weight in insects daily. Here are some astounding examples: A pair of wrens brought insects to their babies 1,217 times in a 15-hour work day. Two chickadees fed insects to their young 40 times every half hour from dawn to dusk. A pair of bluejays in a season fed their young a half million caterpillars and a million insect eggs.

Another fact not generally known is that cats, even when well fed, kill birds for amusement. These vagrant cats need to be trapped. In some communities the humane society rents or lends cat traps to a long waiting list. Let's save the spring song birds!

Call To Prayer

Today in quiet churches all over the world will assemble those who desire participation in what has become a spiritual dedication each year to the uniting of humble Christian peoples everywhere in one holy fellowship of living together, working together, striving toward the common goal of universal harmony and lasting peace.

It is fitting that such has become an impressive part of our Lenten season.

Glancing back, one notes the observance of the World Day of Prayer began as long ago as 1887, growing in interest and spreading here and abroad until today 19,000 American communities join hands with 118 other countries of the world in concurring ceremonies. Each year a national committee asks a woman or group of women from one of the countries taking part to write a special service and this year finds that function in the hands of Miss Sara Chakko who is president of Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India.

It is understandable that such an institution should have come into being and grown in stature under the sponsorship of the women of the church—the wives and mothers who know so well the need for inner counsel and daily guidance beyond the mortal reach. Prayer associates itself with a quiet time—the hush of cathedral meditation or the cloistered recesses of personal solitude. But look for it in the hurly-burly of our times, for it is there also. It is there wherever the heart cries out in plea or gratitude, in fear or thanksgiving. It may be nothing more than a brief moment's appreciation of the flash of a bluebird's wing against the sky—the smell of spring in the good earth—the unconscious hope for the well-being of a loved one—or the desire for accurate decision.

The "lost language," it has been called. Not so. It speaks more eloquently today than ever before for those who will listen.

Start Of A Turnpike

Naturally if Nebraska becomes part of a turnpike or toll road leading from east coast to the Pacific, Nebraska's planning in that connection will have to tie in with that of Iowa, Colorado or some other neighboring state.

And if a toll road is to be built, we want to be in on it.

Unfortunately an undertaking of this kind presents problems which vary widely. The toll road flourishes best in a highly-industrialized, thickly-populated region. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, all possessing populations greatly in excess of those to be found in the states to the west of the Missouri River, can look ahead with full confidence to ultimately paying off the debt incurred in the construction of a toll road. The presence of a great many more people, people who will use that highway embracing the latest modern construction and convenience, takes care of that. Nebraska occupies a unique position which is not insurmountable, fortunately, because of the growing resort to the revenue bond. Nebraska's constitutional ban against bonded indebtedness does not apply to its political subdivisions and more particularly to political subdivisions authorized by statute to issue revenue bonds.

Just now, understandably, the chief concern is determination of the route of a coast-to-coast turnpike adapted to the needs of transcontinental traffic. There is no state in the Middle West better suited to the building of a coast-to-coast road than Nebraska. Its rivers are relatively few, in which costly bridge construction is called for. It has no mountains involving exceedingly heavy expense in the construction of a highway. It is a level plain without sharp grades or any of the other difficulties which add to the cost of highway construction.

It should not involve a great deal of labor to build a strong case for Nebraska. If a coast-to-coast highway is to be constructed, then its logical route is through this state west to the mountains.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Something is terribly wrong with the standard dictionaries to be found in the library in this newspaper office. We have been intrigued in recent months by the increasing use of a phrase by a portion of the American press in describing an element of American citizenry as "eggheads" or by the reference to a group as an "egghead society." A Nebraska newspaper was at it again Thursday morning in commenting on the hassle between President Eisenhower and Sen. Joe McCarthy.

★

Mucn to our confusion and disappointment, both the abridged and unabridged dictionaries at our disposal failed to carry a definition of either an "egghead" or an "egghead society." Its roots go back to politics. And in common street parlance, an "egghead" roughly measures an individual supposedly getting along to the best of his ability with a set of "scrambled brains." This paper to which we refer seems to think Mr. Eisenhower borrowed phrases of an "egghead society" in the President's widely-heralded statement on McCarthy, choosing this specific example as the classic symbol of an "egghead" attitude: "In opposing Communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or through carelessness we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play." Now, we confess that Mr. Eisenhower's words in that 800-word statement did not give us any special lift. Obviously the President was trying to say something without getting it fully said. He wanted to spank Sen. McCarthy but he spurned contact with the flesh. An old-fashioned paddle or a much-worn slipper comes in mighty handy on such occasions. And if it is to be the woodshed, the paddle or a slipper, then nothing happens when the paddle finds itself suspended in midair.

Scrambled Brains A La Carte

★

Sen. McCarthy was well aware of this. It was his backside which was to be warmed. So with the greatest of ease squirming, he rolled over, stuck out his tongue, and uttered defiance.

★

But back to this "egghead" business, it is high time that some of the publishers of these dictionaries catch up with "progress." Surely any individual who does not agree with you is entitled to some kind of recognition by way of definition in the dictionary. The Fifth Amendment, of course, became a part of American constitutional government long before a chap named Lenin and another chap named Stalin were sucking teething rings. The Fifth Amendment was born long before Communism: It has a much greater application in the protection of the individual American than the restricted field in which it is now employed. We have no sympathy with any individual who seeks to cover up his past when it comes to Communism by making use of the Fifth Amendment. It is the best evidence that the individual does not understand the full, true functioning of principles of justice when he falls back upon it to hide the fact that at some time or other in a moment of confusion or something worse, he became a Communist. But we're quite sure that Sen. McCarthy publicly would not urge repeal of the amendment for which he now professes such scorn in a fight against Communism.

Back To 'Egghead' Business

★

Again, to get back to this business of "egghead," we are forced to conclude that it defines an individual of strong convictions. Which means simply that in this era of high controversy, actually there are two types of "eggheads" where supposedly there was only one.

Adult Usurpers

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, who was president of Chicago University before he went to work for the Ford Foundation, recently described the high schools as the weakest link in the American educational system. He called them the dumping ground of aimless communiy activities, a citadel of basketball teams, a social center for old and young substituting concrete teaching for a vague thing called character building.

Those are hard words. But for whatever merit they have they are a criticism of adults rather than the children. The latter arrange no curricula, define no educational objectives nor run the schools. They simply attend them and play the educational game the way the adults set it up.

It seems that here is one of the great things wrong with education. It has become an adult business. The children have become negative figures. If there is to be any education they are the ones that are going to get it. And if they are going to get it they are going to have to work for it. Teachers can facilitate learning, methods can organize it, parents can create an emphasis for it. But in the end little Johnny has got to do the learning. It is time the adults quit usurping Johnny's function, cease standing in the way of things he ought to be learning and put Johnny to work digging things out the hard way. When that starts, most of the adult finger pointing will pass away and our children, having been restored to their field, will be lots better educated.

Egypt's Plight

In one of the quickest government upheavals in recent times Gen. Mohammed Naguib was kicked out of the Egyptian premiership and hardly before he landed an arm reached out and hauled him back into it —with some modifications of course.

The coup was staged with such dispatch that the watching world missed some of its significance. Men who are kicked out during a revolutionary period generally do not get recalled. They are lucky to keep on living.

Pending future developments which may throw more definitive light on what is going on in Egypt one must conclude that either Naguib is needed as a front for a change in government direction, or the men who ejected him had momentarily lost faith in his political program, but in the end had nothing better themselves to offer.

Setting an underprivileged nation on the right track is a difficult problem. It calls upon people who are not prepared to live and act upon a level where they have never been. Such people are imprisoned by their own backwardness which attacks upon their leaders or outside interests will not cure.

No Refuge

The news columns reveal that there was a ruction in the Lincoln jail and a man stabbed. The cooler is no longer a cool place. The public will take this news hard. The outside is not a safe place. Cars collide and take lives. Dark streets are dangerous. If the jails cannot provide protection from violence, then the peaceable man's final refuge has vanished.

Independent Puerto Rico Radicals' Aim

WASHINGTON—Driving through the streets of San Juan with Gov. Luis Munoz-Marin of Puerto Rico several years ago, I wondered why he purposely cut off all ventilation in his limousine. The weather was sweltering. But the glass windows of the car were closed.

Looking more closely, I noticed that the car windows were of glass half an inch thick—bulletproof.

I asked no questions and waited until the car passed outside the narrow, congested streets of San Juan to the open countryside, when the car windows were rolled down.

It was only a short time afterward, however, when two Puerto Rican fanatics tried to shoot their way into the White House, and I realized how necessary were the safety precautions taken by the governor of Puerto Rico. For on the same day the two Puerto Rican assassins made an attempt on the life of President Truman, a little band of nationalists also stormed the front entrance to Forteleza, residence of Gov. Munoz, and tried to kill him.

Tragic fact about the attempts on Gov. Munoz and the gruesome shooting of five congressmen this week is that probably no one has done more for Puerto Rico than Gov. Munoz or more than the last session of Congress which passed the "Commonwealth of Puerto Rico" bill.

Munoz-Marin is the first governor ever elected by the Puerto Rican people. Educated at Georgetown University, he spent most of his youth in the nation's capital where his father was Puerto Rican delegate to Congress.

A big, square-jawed man, Munoz-Marin looks like he might have stepped out of a Hollywood western, but he has done more for the Puerto Rican people in regard to housing, schools, agricultural progress and governmental reform than any man in history. Despite attacks on his life, he is loved by the great mass of the people.

REFORMING PUERTO RICO

Prior to Munoz-Marin's election, Puerto Rican governors had always been appointed by the President of the United States, and the governorship was considered a glorified political plum for the politically faithful. For years Puerto Ricans had every reason to complain. They were the political stepchild of the U.S., with no vote, no representation in Congress, and no governmental administration except that handed them by the Republican or Democratic national committee.

But Munoz-Marin, who had the ear of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, gradually changed all this. Had he not changed it, the Puerto Rican nationalists might have some excuse for complaint. As it is, their only gripe can be on the ground that the island has been given as much independence as the people wanted.

The balloting for the Puerto Rican commonwealth took place on March 3, 1953, in one of the most unique elections ever seen in the Western hemisphere. Promptly at 1 o'clock on that day a great calm settled over the island. Business stopped. Automobiles vanished from the streets. Cane cutters left the sugar fields. All of Puerto Rico settled down to vote on the question of whether it should be a commonwealth under the United States or not.

The vote for the new constitution was overwhelming. The Nationalists, who wanted complete independence from the United States, scarcely made a ripple. Apparently they now seek to achieve by terrorism what they could not achieve by the ballot.

Under this new commonwealth constitution, Puerto Rico becomes somewhat the same relationship to the United States as the Commonwealth of Australia to England. Defense and foreign policy are administered from Washington. Puerto Rico does not have to pay taxes to support an Army and Navy, and Puerto Ricans are drafted into the U.S. armed services. But the island collects its own taxes, and fixes its own taxes, though subject to the same tariff provisions as the United States.

Adenauer Is Pillar For United Europe

BERLIN—In the wake of the Berlin conference many skeptics are saying that the European Defense Community will be either delayed to death or rejected outright. But West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is not one of them. In a long talk with this correspondent he expressed his unshakeable conviction that a unified Europe will come into being.

He predicted that by midsummer the treaty would be ratified. The chancellor will do his best to prevent the opposition in France and elsewhere from delaying action until it is determined at the Geneva conference whether a negotiated truce can be arrived at in the Indo-China war. After gaining that delay the Russians could propose another conference for September and then that would mean still another delay.

Adenauer is working on a plan which he hopes will bring agreement with France on a solution of the thorny problem of the Saar. While he is guarded about the nature of this solution, he apparently means to combine parts of the plan that originated with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and former Foreign Minister Robert Schumann, with elements of the proposal worked out in a committee of the Council of Europe. He said with a kind of quiet solemnity that he was convinced EDC was the best way and perhaps the only way to prevent the rise of the German military spirit.

For more than two years Adenauer has been planning and plotting the course of EDC, convinced always that it was the only way to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy that three times since 1870 has seen France and Germany in mortal combat and the third time brought Europe to the very edge of ruin. The West Germany leader told me he is confident that when EDC is ratified, the 12 German divisions which will be Germany's contribution can be brought into being in 18 months.

This is more optimistic than other estimates, which put the time at a minimum of three years. But evidence of a real desire among many Germans to bring military power into being again is the fact that even though no call has been issued as yet, already 100,000 applications for service in the new army are on file. This includes applications from 25,000 former officers.

Lieut. Gen. Adolf Heusinger, a member of the Inter-European Planning Committee for EDC, believes it would take a year to bring the cadres of commissioned and noncommissioned officers into being. He points out that a careful screening process will be necessary in order to keep out those who were political officers in the Nazi army. Then in the second year with a draft the 12 divisions — four of them panzer divisions—would be filled up.

In the course of our talk I asked Adenauer how much of the equipment would have to be supplied by America. He replied simply: Everything. The treaty with the three powers that still technically occupy West Germany and the Bonn republic forbids, as the chancellor pointed out, the production of any arms other than small arms for hunting and the police. Therefore, the costly armored equipment for a modern army must come from the United States.

With a kind of sadness Adenauer spoke of the position of the Social Democrats who have held all their 144 members in parliament in line against EDC. Their position after the Berlin conference, said the chancellor, was bankrupt, and that was sad because a healthy opposition is essential to a democracy. The socialists have gone on repeating year after year the same line. They want Germany to be free of both sides in the struggle. Yet, ironically enough, they have been most clamorous to have American troops remain on German soil. It is as though they feel that the presence of Americans in uniform will somehow guarantee a Germany in which the fierce spirit of the wehrmacht will never again emerge.

Adenauer feels it would greatly help ratification of EDC if the United States would give a fixed commitment to keep troops in Western Europe for a long period of years. But he added quickly that Secretary of State Dulles had explained to him in their recent talk at the Bonn Airport that because of legal and political complications such a guarantee could not be made.

Adenauer insists that he has no plans whatsoever that take possible failure of EDC into account. He refuses to believe that such a failure is possible. There comes a time, he says grimly, when you must put your cards on the table and have a showdown. His whole career as he has risen in popular favor from a comparative unknown to become a national and almost a folk hero has been positioned on making Germany a part of the European community. If that effort fails, his hold will be weakened and the future of Germany—and Europe—will be, to say the very least, uncertain.

The metamorphosis of Adenauer himself from a provincial German into a European and even a world citizen may stand, if his policy succeeds, as a symbol of what can happen to the German people. For 16 years as mayor of Cologne, he never once visited Paris although it is a drive of only five or six hours. Today his associates worry because the old gentleman has grown so fond of travel that he wants to be on the move much of the time.

On March 9 he is starting out on a tour of Greece and Turkey that will bring him back to Bonn only a few days before he must go to a meeting of the six European foreign ministers at Brussels. At that meeting beginning March 30 he will try to work out with Bidault an agreed plan for the long and bitterly disputed Saar. If they could unveil such a plan that reported the French assembly was about to consider the defense treaty, chances for ratification would be greatly improved.

The view through the big window on one side of the chancellor's office is cross the Rhine and to the dark hills on the opposite side. In the presence of this stubborn old man one can almost believe that the transition is being effected between the wild, demonic Germany of the past and a new Germany taking its place within a framework of European law and order.

Exhilaration was the word for it, and a general sense of well-being as rain and moisture-laden snow took the edge off conditions of near-drought over much of the state. Nowhere was there to be found a hint of complaint for inconvenience or discomfort afforded by the weather....

Driving was hazardous, numerous vehicles ditched, REA and long distance phone lines out for 24 hours, many roads blocked and numbers of local citizens marooned in Nelson where they had gone for the Ruskin-Nelson basketball game, but all in all, a "wonderful storm," according to the Ruskin News, with an eye on wheat fields that "are already responding to the moisture."

M. D. Hemphill expressed it this way in the Plaindealer: "Plenty of rain in the ground is just like money in the bank for Burt County agriculture...."

☆ ☆ ☆

In the Wymore and Blue Springs neighborhood, nearly 2½ inches of combined moisture was measured, and the answer to "What did you think of that million-dollar rain?" was consistently, "Great! Great!" Editor A. Funk of the Arbor State agreed heartily even though he found himself bogged down to a state of complete immobility on a country road east of Rockford until a friendly farmer towed him out to the highway with a tractor....

The reading in and around Chester was an even inch—with the exception of the H. H. Spohn home. Mr. Spohn reported three inches there. His explanation—he had three measuring cans out in the downpour.

The famous Geneva crows—proud of their forecasting record and hence a little weather vain—weren't fooled about approaching blizzard conditions. They were flying around crazily in the afternoon looking for low branches. One old crow was even overheard to complain aloud about the county board's having the low branches trimmed off the trees.

"Serve them right if we went on to California," he cawed.

Everyone in Blair was wearing a smile, according to Columnist Rufus Olson. "Fire Chief Gordon Vinton was perhaps as happy as anyone in Washington County—it hurt the fire business."

Jim Cornwell tells about a Stanton man whose wife, he said, had found a way to beat current high costs—she's buying cheaper coffee. It was what the Register editor called an "off brand," and one he hadn't heard of before. He inquired as to the taste of the beverage.

"Great," was the sarcastic rejoinder, "just like caffein' with the coffee removed!"

The Comstock Community Club had an idea and asked for a little help on it, and what followed proved the time-honored assertion of what can be accomplished when everyone works together. There was a big hole in a lot between two business places and an adjoining lot that needed cleaning and leveling. Farmers by the score turned out and townspeople pitched in with their assistance. Some brought trucks and tractors and others did shovel work. The ladies, not to be outdone, served dinner each of the two days the project was under way, and those who couldn't help otherwise contributed cash. When they had finished, they stepped back to admire what they had created out of discard and unsightliness—a pleasant playground for their youngsters.

Virg Hill in his "Hilltoppers" for the Fairbury News read a Cornell University professor's claim that there is "no kick in milk." Commented Mr. Hill, who evidently is a country boy from away back, "But of course the professor never tried to work on the wrong side of a cow."

Man, Boy & Gun

It's just an old gun but it has a value for me that cannot be measured in dollars. It's the kind of value there is no price tag for, the kind you couldn't sell—and wouldn't if you could. It's the value of comradeship between a boy and his father. It's the golden feeling of seeing deft young hands and a quick young mind pick up a job your weariness has laid down—and finish it.

In restless idleness the other day I noticed the old gun again, and somehow it seemed a good time to do what had been delayed too long already. I took it from the rack, and carried it to the work room in the basement. Lee, who is 15, noticed, and trailed along.

The trigger spring was out of place, the ejector mechanism was gummed up, the magazine spring was gone, the barrel was clogged. Oil three-quarters of a century old had hardened everywhere. There was nothing for it but to take out every bolt, every screw, every part. There were more parts, it seems to me, in those old guns.

We worked for three nights on it, with kerosene and oil and emery cloth, and ramrod and delicate tools. The clogged barrel had us worried, for fear it was lead in there, but it turned out to be only a compact nest some ancient insect had built, and in the end the bore was shining and bright, the barrel a blued beauty, and the parts gleamed clean and ready.

"Well," I said doubtfully, "we can put it together."

"That," said Lee, "is going to be a job!"

Maybe it would have been easy for an expert, who knows just where every belt and screw goes, but neither of us was expert. Things didn't seem to fit. The evening grew late, and my patience wore thin.

"We'll have to leave it until tomorrow," I said finally. "It's way past bedtime." That's what I said, but what I thought was, "On Monday, I'll take the whole mess to a gunsmith."

I didn't though. And the reason was, I came home next evening to find my son, a grin on his face and the rifle in his hands, and I knew before he said it that he'd found the combination. He worked the lever, and the hammer clicked beautifully to full cock. With his thumb he let the hammer down, and his grin was wider.

"How'd you do it?" I demanded.

"Just took a lot of time, and figured it out," he replied.

Basin Compact Needs Okay Of All—Aspinall

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep Aspinall (D-Colo) said Thursday any Missouri River Basin compact should have the approval of all the basin states.

He objected to a proposal that Congress authorize any six or more of the 10 basin states to negotiate an agreement.

His comment came while L. C. Bishop, Wyoming state engineer, was testifying before a House Interior Subcommittee. It is considering several bills to authorize a compact between the states and the federal government for the conservation and development of land and water resources in the Missouri Basin.

Bishop had noted that a Senate bill would require ratification by the legislatures of 10 states: Colorado, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Wyoming.

Disagrees With Anderson

He said that in testimony before a Senate committee, Gov. Sigurd Anderson of South Dakota had suggested that approval of seven states be mandatory, with Colorado, Iowa and Minnesota being given an option to join the compact.

Anderson is chairman of the Missouri River States Committee.

Bishop told Aspinall that officials of some of the area states feel that they might not want to enter into a compact.

"We don't want it held up by one or two who don't want to come in," Bishop said.

Site Provided For Columbus Guard Armory

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—The City Council has passed an ordinance providing the military department of the state of Nebraska with land on which to erect a National Guard armory here.

Although Council members said no definite information had been received on when construction will begin, state officials have indicated in correspondence it may not be delayed long.

The Council also adopted a report of its public property committee recommending a land fill method of garbage refuse disposal as the best from the standpoint of cost, sanitation, and so on.

The report noted it would be necessary to purchase land not far from the city and to purchase and operate a bulldozer at the site to cover the garbage and refuse.

Farmer Uses Snow Fence To Halt Dust

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—It isn't unusual for a farmer to put up a snow fence to stop blowing snow in February and March. But, it is unusual for him to put up the fences to stop blowing topsoil.

A farmer living south of North Platte decided the fence was his answer to holding dust on one corner of his land. A field in the north was blowing, and the choking dust was moving onto the field in the south. Then fence halted the movement.

Heavier Soils Also

Fields south of Hershey also have been affected. At one time this week, wind was moving sand grains that were nearly as large as alfalfa seed.

Generally the large open wheat fields were blowing the worst, but corn fields with last year's stalks standing were blowing, too. And the dust wasn't limited to the lighter soils—heavier soils were blowing, too.

The storms have been so severe the last two weeks that farmers fear, lest they continue, that little wheat will withstand the wind and blowing soil.

"Roughing Up"

In other areas in Lincoln County, farmers were "roughing up" their fields in an attempt to hold surface soil, but these operations are only temporary. Edges of fields, where ridges were thrown up by cultivation equipments, have filed with dust and are beginning to blow again.

Some farmers were hauling manure to blowing areas in an attempt to add to the sparsely covered fields.

Topsoil, it appeared, was at a standstill only where there was a heavy stubble cover or grass. In the Wallace area, pastures are closely cropped, and so far the roots and top cover have managed to hold the soil except for a few hilltops and road cuts.

Summer Days Fracture Time For Children

OMAHA (AP)—The fractures ward in any children's hospital is a busy place in the summer.

"We get a little rest from setting broken bones during school months," said Dr. James Stack of Chicago, associate professor of orthopedic surgery at Northwestern University.

Running and tripping are the commonest causes of broken bones among youngsters, Dr. Stack told the American College of Surgeons. Falls off bicycles and auto accidents come next.

Elbows take a beating due to falls and bumps, he said, and frequently are difficult to set properly. But the most brittle bone in a child is the collar bone.

Dr. Carroll B. Larson, head of the department of orthopedic surgery at the State University of Iowa, told of the part surgery plays in polio care.

"Each type of treatment has its place in polio care," he said.

Surgery is used to transplant muscles to substitute for weakened muscles, correct bone deformities, and equalize leg lengths.

Bond Is Forfeited In Load-Shifting

OMAHA (AP) — County Judge Robert Troyer has forfited the $250 cash bond of a 26-year-old truck driver the State Safety Patrol accused of shifting part of his load to another truck in order to get through a weighing station.

The driver is George O. Richards, Urovo, Uath.

Trooper Duane Nichols said he got a tip last Friday that a truck driver was doing something unusual. When he investigated he discovered Richards, whose truck was overloaded, had hired a Venice trucker to take part of his citrus fruit cargo.

Then both trucks went through the Wahoo weighing station.

Afterward, Richards took back the 35 cases of oranges he had transferred.

Trooper Nichols said the truck was 4,230 pounds overweight.

North Platte Valley Dry Cycle Seen

Klietsch: Still Early For Alarm

BRIDGEPORT, Neb.—A "dry season or possibly a dry cycle is indicated" for the North Platte valley in the opinion of Fred Klietsch, division engineer for the Nebraska Department of Roads and Irrigation.

He acknowledged, however, that it is "a little early to become alarmed" over crop prospects.

"With normal rainfall in May and June and near-normal in July and August the threatened drought will not develop," he said.

Klietsch explained that his prediction of a possible "dry cycle" is based on the assumption that "the only way to tell what the future holds is to study the past."

Records at the office here indicate the valley has completed an 11-year "wet cycle" which was preceded by an 11-year dry cycle.

"The exceedingly dry fall and winter" and a low carryover of irrigation water point toward a dry summer and similar conditions warned of in the last dry cycle, he pointed out.

A total of 180,000 acre feet of irrigation water was left in the Pathfinder Reservoir last Sept. 30, as compared to 398,000 acre feet in 1952 and 547,000 in 1951. The 1953 figure was the lowest in 12 years.

Rain can interrupt a cycle, Klietsch said, noting that in 1940 water storage was low, but rainfall was heavy.

"A comparable situation could easily occur this season," he said.

Orleans Meet Reflects Rise In Irrigation

Lincoln Star Special

ORLEANS, Neb.—The steady increase in all types of irrigation in Harlan County and southwest Nebraska was reflected in attendance and general interest at the annual Harlan County Irrigation Meeting held in the 4-H fair building here Thursday.

Rundall Peterson, Harlan County Agent, told The Star that about 120 farmers attended the meeting and that discussion on irrigation topics was lively. Irrigation, he said, has taken a big jump in this county both because of recent Bureau of Reclamation canal extension and the increase in deep-well systems. Peterson spoke to the group on rootworm control.

D. R. Vallicott, state SCS irrigation engineer, explained methods of developing farm land for irrigation in this part of Nebraska, and Paul Fischbach, extension irrigation engineer from the University of Nebraska, led a discussion on the proper time and methods for irrigation.

Wilbur Ringler, extension agronomist, spoke on soil and fertilizer with irrigation, and Tom Waldo, Orleans banker, also addressed the group.

Willis Irvin, agriculturist for the Bureau of Reclamation, explained the water delivery program under the irrigation district.

The farmers were guests of the Orleans Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon served by the Orleans Woman's Civic Club. The event was sponsored by the chamber, the Republican Valley Bank, Agricultural Extension Service, SCS, Bureau of Reclamation, the county ASC Committee, the National Bank of Commerce in Lincoln, and the South Platte United Chambers of Commerce.

North Platte Valley Dry Cycle Seen

Klietsch: Still Early For Alarm

BRIDGEPORT, Neb.—A "dry season or possibly a dry cycle is indicated" for the North Platte valley in the opinion of Fred Klietsch, division engineer for the Nebraska Department of Roads and Irrigation.

He acknowledged, however, that it is "a little early to become alarmed" over crop prospects.

"With normal rainfall in May and June and near-normal in July and August the threatened drought will not develop," he said.

Klietsch explained that his prediction of a possible "dry cycle" is based on the assumption that "the only way to tell what the future holds is to study the past."

Records at the office here indicate the valley has completed an 11-year "wet cycle" which was preceded by an 11-year dry cycle.

"The exceedingly dry fall and winter" and a low carryover of irrigation water point toward a dry summer and similar conditions warned of in the last dry cycle, he pointed out.

A total of 180,000 acre feet of irrigation water was left in the Pathfinder Reservoir last Sept. 30, as compared to 398,000 acre feet in 1952 and 547,000 in 1951. The 1953 figure was the lowest in 12 years.

Rain can interrupt a cycle, Klietsch said, noting that in 1940 water storage was low, but rainfall was heavy.

"A comparable situation could easily occur this season," he said.

Gas Transport, Car Collide On Bridge; 2 Hurt

ST. PAUL, Neb. (AP)—Two persons were injured Thursday when a loaded gasoline transport and a car collided on a bridge over the North Loup River, four miles north of here.

Injured and taken to a St. Paul hospital were W. J. McCarty, St. Paul farmer, and his son Bill, a high school sophomore. McCarty was taking his son to school at the time.

Grasslands Event At Milligan Attracts Record Crowd Of 430

Lincoln Star Special

MILLIGAN, Neb.—The annual Grasslands Day brought a record crowd of 430 persons to Milligan for agriculture and homemaking exhibits and speakers.

Evan Hartman, University of Nebraska extension conservationist, outlined proposed measures for the Wahoo-Salt Creek watershed.

Songs by the Milligan High School glee club opened the afternoon session. Joe Watson, agricultural agent from West Point, showed pictures he took on a tour of Europe.

Mowing and the use of sprays are most important measures for controlling weeds, Don Burzlaff, extension agronomist, said in a talk on care and maintenance of pastures.

Hartman closed the afternoon session for the men with a talk on the use of grassed waterways to prevent erosion.

260 Women Attend

Ruth Menoher, home advisor for Consumers Public Power District, and Mrs. Lucille Fleming, executive director of the Dairy Council of Lincoln, were speakers at a program attended by 260 women.

They demonstrated quickie meals, broiler cookery and the use of dried milk.

Clubs and individuals from both Saline and Fillmore Counties had hobbies and heirlooms on display in a creative arts exhibit at the Milligan auditorium.

The day's program was sponsored by the Milligan Woman's Club, Milligan businessmen, and extension services and home extension groups from Fillmore and Saline Counties.

The Milligan Woman's Club served lunch at noon and after the meeting.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD From Hawaii

In the interest of international diet, I ate fish soup and seaweed for breakfast in Tokyo. (It is hard to break the ham-and-egg habit.) Fish lips and mushrooms in Hong Kong. (I can take it or leave it.) Raw fish in Japan. (Great!) Papaya with lime-like kalamansi in Manila. (The best!)

The best dinner in the Orient I had at Sukiya-Ryo. Sukiya-Ryo is on a lantern-lighted little street. Half a block from the modern Ginza in Tokyo. I had dinner with Mr. Ken Cole who stayed here for business when the Navy left.

We sat on the floor of course. And I learned about Japanese cooking.

* * *

"The secret of Japanese cooking lies in this combination of refinements: Color, odor, flavor, shape and container." So says Isao Yabuki of the Ten-Ichi restaurant in his book on special foods of Tokyo.

I find also that all Japanese meals must contain an odd number of dishes. Never even, except at funerals.

The waitress brings first a steaming hot towel. You wipe your face and hands. It is surprisingly refreshing.

She brought tea with bean cake and little pots of hot sake. Sake is a rice wine. There is quite a ceremony to it. They pour it in something like a thimble-size egg cup. You take the cup with your thumb and forefinger. Your middle finger goes in the dent in the bottom.

As soon as you finish, she fills it again. And again.

This is apt to put you pretty full of hot sake. The trick is to turn the cup down on the table.

The waitress brought sashimi. The sliced raw fish that you dip in ginger and soy sauce. Then she settled down to the sukiyaki.

Sukiyaki is quite simple. They cook it over a charcoal brazier in a flat pan. You melt butter in the bottom. Put in beef sliced paper thin. When it is half cooked, you add mushrooms, bamboo shoots and onions. Cook it eight minutes and add sugar, sake, soy bean cake, green onions, gourmet powder and soy sauce.

Everything is laid out with an eye to color and decoration. The waitress kept up a constant conversation. The Japanese believe that you should be entertained while you eat. Which is not a bad idea.

"I very lonely," said the waitress. She wore a pretty kimono and handled the cooking chopsticks as though she was arranging flowers.

She pointed to the bamboo shoots and announced that "they make man verrrry strong."

"Just conversation," said Mr. Cole. "Doesn't mean a thing."

* * *

She said that she used all the standard ingredients for sukiyaki. But she also put in pepper, ground red pepper and cinnamon.

After awhile Mr. Cole gave her a sake cup. He poured her a cup of sake. Then she poured one for him.

"This means we accept her as a companion," Mr. Cole explained. "We accept her and will talk about the most secret business in front of her."

He said all confidential business is done with waitresses listening. It is part of their tradition that they simply don't hear.

After awhile the owner came in and had a cup of sake with us.

Cole said this was a big honor. "When the mama-san has sake with you."

The waitress served the sukiyaki. She gave us each a little cup with a raw egg in it. You beat up the egg with your chopsticks and dip the beef in it.

After you are through, you eat your rice. You pour the rest of the egg and the sukiyaki pan gravy and a little tea over it first. Last, of course, you get your soup. Clear mushroom with a little celery and ginger stick added.

The mama-san sent in three silver dishes. Each had an enormous pair of strawberries with green top still on them, dipped in powdered sugar. You wind up with more tea. And bean cake in a silver lacquered dish.

I have it in my notes: "Best dinner in the Orient." It was.

Lutheran Lenten Retreat Planned

Lincoln Star Special

OMAHA—The Lenten retreat, sponsored by the Omaha Pastoral Conference of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, will emphasize "Missions" in its annual one-day session next Monday at the First Lutheran Church in Omaha.

Featured speakers will include leaders in the various mission fields of the church in addition to Dr. John W. Behnken of St. Louis, Mo., president of the church body.

Others attending will be Dr. O. H. Schmidt, executive secretary of the Board for Foreign Missions for the Missouri Synod; Dr. E. R. Bertermann, director of the International Lutheran Hour radio program; and the Rev. H. Gockel, director of the television program, "This is the Life."

The Rev. R. H. Jenkins, newly installed pastor of Hope Lutheran Church in Omaha, will discuss the synod's mission program among the Negro race.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD From Hawaii

In the interest of international diet, I ate fish soup and seaweed for breakfast in Tokyo. (It is hard to break the ham-and-egg habit.) Fish lips and mushrooms in Hong Kong. (I can take it or leave it.) Raw fish in Japan. (Great!) Papaya with lime-like kalamansi in Manila. (The best!)

The best dinner in the Orient I had at Sukiya-Ryo. Sukiya-Ryo is on a lantern-lighted little street. Half a block from the modern Ginza in Tokyo. I had dinner with Mr. Ken Cole who stayed here for business when the Navy left.

We sat on the floor of course. And I learned about Japanese cooking.

* * *

"The secret of Japanese cooking lies in this combination of refinements: Color, odor, flavor, shape and container." So says Isao Yabuki of the Ten-Ichi restaurant in his book on special foods of Tokyo.

I find also that all Japanese meals must contain an odd number of dishes. Never even, except at funerals.

The waitress brings first a steaming hot towel. You wipe your face and hands. It is surprisingly refreshing.

She brought tea with bean cake and little pots of hot sake. Sake is a rice wine. There is quite a ceremony to it. They pour it in something like a thimble-size egg cup. You take the cup with your thumb and forefinger. Your middle finger goes in the dent in the bottom.

As soon as you finish, she fills it again. And again.

This is apt to put you pretty full of hot sake. The trick is to turn the cup down on the table.

The waitress brought sashimi. The sliced raw fish that you dip in ginger and soy sauce. Then she settled down to the sukiyaki.

Sukiyaki is quite simple. They cook it over a charcoal brazier in a flat pan. You melt butter in the bottom. Put in beef sliced paper thin. When it is half cooked, you add mushrooms, bamboo shoots and onions. Cook it eight minutes and add sugar, sake, soy bean cake, green onions, gourmet powder and soy sauce.

Everything is laid out with an eye to color and decoration. The waitress kept up a constant conversation. The Japanese believe that you should be entertained while you eat. Which is not a bad idea.

"I very lonely," said the waitress. She wore a pretty kimono and handled the cooking chopsticks as though she was arranging flowers.

She pointed to the bamboo shoots and announced that "they make man verrrry strong."

"Just conversation," said Mr. Cole. "Doesn't mean a thing."

* * *

She said that she used all the standard ingredients for sukiyaki. But she also put in pepper, ground red pepper and cinnamon.

After awhile Mr. Cole gave her a sake cup. He poured her a cup of sake. Then she poured one for him.

"This means we accept her as a companion," Mr. Cole explained. "We accept her and will talk about the most secret business in front of her."

He said all confidential business is done with waitresses listening. It is part of their tradition that they simply don't hear.

After awhile the owner came in and had a cup of sake with us. Cole said this was a big honor. "When the mama-san has sake with you."

The waitress served the sukiyaki. She gave us each a little cup with a raw egg in it. You beat up the egg with your chopsticks and dip the beef in it.

After you are through, you eat your rice. You pour the rest of the egg and the sukiyaki pan gravy and a little tea over it first. Last, of course, you get your soup. Clear mushroom with a little celery and ginger stick added.

The mama-san sent in three silver dishes. Each had an enormous pair of strawberries with green top still on them, dipped in powdered sugar. You wind up with more tea. And bean cake in a silver lacquered dish.

I have it in my notes: "Best dinner in the Orient." It was.

Langer Names Ike As Target For GOP Power Policy Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Langer (R-ND) pointed to President Eisenhower Thursday as the proper target for any criticism of Republican public power policies.

"Why attack the hired man?" He asked a witness at a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee hearing. ". . . The man responsible is the President himself. He could correct the situation tomorrow himself." Langer a republican who frequently votes with the Democrats, started his criticism of Eisenhower policies during testimony by Clyde Ellis, executive manager of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Assn. He continued it during questioning of Alex Radin, general manager of the American Public Power Assn.

Both were contending during the hearings thatp resent power policies favor utility companies and fail to protect what they considered proper interests of rural co-operatives and similar preference groups.

Hired Man

Ellis criticized the policies announced last year by Fred G. Aandahl, assistant secretary of the interior, but Langer broke in to ask:

"Why attack Aandahl? Why not direct attacks at President Eisenhower? Why attack the hired man when it was Eisenhower who made the promises to the people?"

Incidentally, Aandahl, former North Dakota governor and one-term House member, is a factional opponent of Langer in state politics and sought to defeat Langer for the 1952 Republican senatorial nomination in that state.

Langer also chided Ellis for what he said was failure to mention Republican campaign promises in resolutions which Ellis' group adopted at a meeting in Miami, Fla. Ellis offered the resolutions Thursday and brought this comment from Langer:

"You say that (power) rates are going to be higher. You claim that some REA's (co-operatives) are going to be wrecked. You have a lot of words there instead of putting the responsibility on the Republican party where it belongs."

When Radin took the stand, he told him also that "you did not refer to the Republican platform."

Radin replied that his was a non-partisan organization.

Langer said that during the 1952 campaign Eisenhower "made certain definite promises to the people" and asked "were they kept?"

"I do not believe the promises were entirely kept," Radin replied, but indicated he preferred not to pursue the matter.

Ruling Same As Lancaster Routine Policy

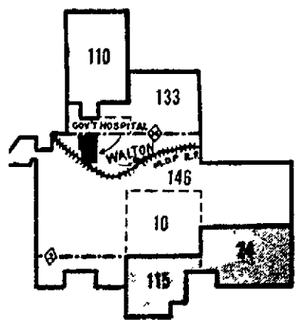

Lancaster County Assessor Arthur M Davis said Thursday that his office has always made a practice of refunding vehicle taxes to persons who moved to other counties and had to pay a second car tax there.

This action is in line with a ruling from C. C. Sheldon of the Nebraska Attorney General's office. Under it an estimated 25 persons can get motor vehicle tax refunds from Douglas County.

The Douglas County Board asked for the ruling after Mrs. Elizabeth H Edmond of Lincoln, formerly of Omaha, told the baord her tax problem She moved to Lincoln last October, but her Douglas County vehicle tax bill was forwarded. She paid the Douglas County bill of $29 31 and then tried to buy a Lancaster County license plate.

Mrs. Edmond was required to pay the Lancaster County vehicle tax in order to get her tag. Then she tried to get back the money she erroneously paid in Douglas County.

The County Board asked a legal opinion and Sheldon wrote: "It is our opinion that under the circumstances outlined, it is a proper case for an appropriate refund." The Douglas assessor's office said about 25 refund cases would be cleared up by the opinion.

Proposed Merger

Petitions proposing the consolidation of Lancaster County school districts 10, 133 and 110 with 146 will be circulated this week The proposed consolidated district is shown in white. The shaded districts will probably not figure in the merger, "at least not for a while," according to R. E. Wagner, secretary of the Walton School Board. Districts 10 and 133 presently contract with the Walton district for elementary instruction, but 110 has maintained its own school. The consolidated district would use the elementary and high school facilities of District 146 under proposed merger plans. The Walton district has 87 students in grades and 38 in high school Districts 110 and 24, maintaining their own elementary schools, have about 20 students Valuation of the Walton district is 31,-601,795, but the combined valuation of the four districts would be over $2 million. Tuning Seeks Post

Arnold Tuning, 47, Arcadia merchant and former superintendent of schools there, filed Thursday for the Legislature from the 29th district. The incumbent, Sen. Hugh Carson of Ord, has said he does not intend to seek re-election.

West O Bus Line Granted To Huskerville

Huskerville Bus Line will take over the present Lincoln City Lines West O street operation under authority granted by the state railway commission at the request of both companies.

Also approved was increased fares for the Huskerville bus which will have a city terminus at 10th and O streets and the first zone will extend to Burlington avenue. The second zone will be to the south entrance of the air base and the third zone to the base itself.

First zone charges will be 15 cents and 20 cents when the trip extends to another zone. Travel in all three zones will be 25 cents.

Children under 12 will pay 10 cents except going and coming from school when fares will be two for 15 cents.

200 Road Bids Opened

Approximately 200 bids were opened by the State Highway Department Thursday on a letting of approximately $3,500,000 in new construction. The work was on 13 projects, one of which attracted 24 bidders.

The large number of bids slowed up tabulations and the apparent low bidders could not be immediately determined.

Included in the work is 6.2 miles of paving on U.S. 81 between Hebron and Chester and 13 4 miles of gravel on the Beatrice northeast road in Gage County. From Pawnee City to Dubois and the Kansas state line, 11.9 miles of grading and culverts will be built on Nebr. 50.

Langer Names Ike As Target For GOP Power Policy Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Langer (R-ND) pointed to President Eisenhower Thursday as the proper target for any criticism of Republican public power policies.

"Why attack the hired man?" He asked a witness at a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee hearing. ". . . The man responsible is the President himself. He could correct the situation tomorrow himself." Langer a republican who frequently votes with the Democrats, started his criticism of Eisenhower policies during testimony by Clyde Ellis, executive manager of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Assn. He continued it during questioning of Alex Radin, general manager of the American Public Power Assn.

Both were contending during the hearings thatp resent power policies favor utlity companies and fail to protect what they considered proper interests of rural co-operatives and similar preference groups.

Hired Man

Ellis criticized the policies announced last year by Fred G. Aandahl, assistant secretary of the interior, but Langer broke in to ask:

"Why attack Aandahl? Why not direct attacks at President Eisenhower? Why attack the hired man when it was Eisenhower who made the promises to the people?"

Incidentally, Aandahl, former North Dakota governor and one-term House member, is a factional opponent of Langer in state politics and sought to defeat Langer for the 1952 Republican senatorial nomination in that state.

Langer also chided Ellis for what he said was failure to mention Republican campaign promises in resolutions which Ellis' group adopted at a meeting in Miami, Fla. Ellis offered the resolutions Thursday and brought this comment from Langer:

"You say that (power) rates are going to be higher. You claim that some REA's (co-operatives) are going to be wrecked. You have a lot of words there instead of putting the responsibility on the Republican party where it belongs."

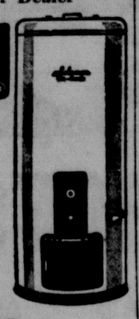

When Radin took the stand, he told him also that "you did not refer to the Republican platform."

Radin replied that his was a non-partisan organization.

Langer said that during the 1952 campaign Eisenhower "made certain definite promises to the people" and asked "were they kept?"

"I do not believe the promises were entirely kept," Radin replied, but indicated he preferred not to pursue the matter.

Hats Are Her Hobby

MRS. LELA WALKER

Hats, hats, more than 100 hats—each one carefully nested in its own tissue-filled box—is the unusual hobby of Mrs. Lela Walker of Carleton, who swears she has faithfully saved every hat she has purchased since 1930.

Beginning with her wedding hat, a delightful, cloche-type affair of gold lame which came down so far over her eyes that she could scarcely see her bridegroom, Mrs. Walker found that she couldn't bear to throw a hat away. Some of them, like the wedding hat, were saved for sentimental reasons, others because they were so useful or were just right for special occasions.

It wasn't until called upon to pinch hit for a missing guest speaker at a meeting of the Carleton Woman's Club that Mrs. Walker learned she could turn her hat collection into an amusing pastime. Lecturing and demonstrating on the usefulness of her bonnets, Mrs. Walker has provided many an interesting program for clubs and organizations in the state, the most recent being the annual Exeter Feeders Day.

With an absorbing career as a banker at Carleton, and a grown son, Robert Walker, Jr., who is a student at Doane College, Mrs. Walker has no leisure time to devote to her hobby. Most hats are purchased for a special reason, such as her favorite close-fitting black calot which is perfect for auction sales as it leaves her ears uncovered and enables her to hear every word spoken by the auctioneer.

However, there are many hats in the collection which are gay and giddy such as one which is known by her family as "The Rooster's Tail", and another, "The Witch's Hat", which she dons each Hallowe'en for the amusement of the neighborhood children. The collection also includes many chapeaux which are just downright pretty and which never fail to please her feminine audiences.

In the picture above, Mrs. Walker is wearing a "sensible" black straw tailored hat and is holding a wide-brimmed summer "sailor" or white straw.

TOWN TALK

LIFE may be at sixes and sevens every now and then—but it never is the same old seven and six — our own peculiar bit of vernacular, maybe — but it just means that life never is monotonous — There always is something new and different to talk about.

Take this morning, for instance — Thought for sure it was to be one of those dull days in the news — and what happened?

* * *

WELL, we saw a very interesting new face lunching with Mrs. Norman Carlson and her mother, Mrs. Fred Walt, at the University club, and learned later that the young lady was Miss Marilyn Link who, among other things is an aviatrix. That isn't so amazing when you know that her brothers own and operate the Link Aviation Corp., in Binghampton, N. Y., but somehow you don't associate the young lady with teaching elementary education — that is what she did at the University of Nebraska for two summer sessions — However, while at Nebraska, she had a hand in the aviation angle — such as serving as an instructor in air education. Miss Link also spent last summer at the University of Nebraska, serving more or less as a consultant in the department of air education.

Her current visit to Lincoln involves a clinic at the University sponsored by the state department of education and the educational services at the University of Nebraska—and of course Miss Link is again involved in the aviation angle. The visitor, who has a wide acquaintance in Lincoln, has been kept on the hop skip and jump with informal courtesies since her arrival.

* * *

SPEAKING of interesting people who do interesting things, we have news of Dr. Ruth Leverton — We hear that Dr. Leverton will go to the University of Oklahoma when next September rolls around—not to teach but to do scientific research.

* * *

LOOKED around town for something gay and sparkling to talk about such as trips to Europe — or Mexico, or even New York and California — We were given a few inklings concerning trips to Europe, but we'll have to wait for more definite information —

Someone told us, though, that C. R. Easterday was about to take off for a few weeks holiday in Mexico —

* * *

PROBABLY to those who have been having fun away from Lincoln homecoming doesn't come under the heading of "bright and sparkling"—but anyway, Mr. and Mrs. Wardner Scott will plane in on Sunday after a few weeks stay in California—part business for Mr. Scott—all pleasure for Mrs. Scott.

* * *

YESTERDAY we told you about the costume affair—a dinner dance—for the Safari club members on Saturday evening at Cotner Terrace—and, we mentioned the guest list. This morning we have the names of additional guests attending the party—and also the names of those who are serving on the committee.

Added to the guest list are Mr. and Mrs. William Morten and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips.

The party committee is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Deitemeyer, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. James Burden, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irvin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kierstead, Mr. and Kenneth Millard, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schwartzkopf.

SHOLAM FARBER

"Bathers with Muleta," an oil, is the work of Sholam Farber, a 32-year-old artist who is a native of Detroit, Mich. Educated at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts, Paris; and the Academy of Fine Arts, Florence, Italy, Farber, who is included in the Nebraska Art Association show this year for the first time, is a young artist who already has done his apprenticeship with abstraction, and has decided that the representation of natural forms in the tradition of the Renaissance, is not a dead issue as far as he is concerned. From his extensive study in Paris and Florence he has learned much, and in his "Bathers with Muleta" there is much of the traditional—even the academic. It is both in the best sense of the words, however, for the picture reveals not only an understanding of the historic standards, but also a genuine, fresh appreciation of the problems involved in the use of these standards.

Gavels Can Be Fun

When the annual spring convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs convenes on April 7 at the Hotel Cornhusker in Lincoln, more than 1,000 club delegates, county, district and state officers and chairmen will be in attendance at the three-day session.

The activities of these enthusiastic and hard-working club women, who represent 317 separate clubs in the state with a total membership of more than 14,900, have been directed the past two years by a group of state officers who have devoted many long hours and traveled the width of the state many times to ensure the suuccess of the state organization's varied programs and projects.

One of the most devoted, and seemingly the most tireless, is Mrs. Oscar Warp of Minden, the state president, who has been active in club work since 1932 when she was elected president of the Minden club.

Only recently returning home by plane after attending a regional federation meeting at Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Warp is most proud of the growth of the organization in the state since her election to the presidency in 1952. However, a growing membership seems to be a habit with Mrs. Warp, for during her term as president of the Minden club, the group jumped from a membership of 22 to 156 in less than two years.

After serving two years as president of the county federation, Mrs. Warp served as vice president and president of the Fifth District, after which she became editor of the Nebraska Clubwoman Magazine, a position she thoroughly enjoyed because of her "career" as co-founder and partner with her husband in the Warp Publishing Company.

Also serving as second and first vice president of the state organization, Mrs. Warp recalls as one of her most harrowing experiences a convention breakfast at 6:45 o'clock in the morning, originally planned for 100 delegates and attended by more than 250 members whom she tried to address with the aid of a broken-down loud speaker system.

An avid collector of antique china, glassware, lamps and early Nebraska school bells, Mrs. Warp has taken an active interest in the building and furnishing of the Nebraska Pioneer Village at Minden, the contribution of her brother-in-law, Harold Warp of Chicago. Active in church work and for many years a leader of youth groups and church school classes, Mrs. Warp insists her most restful pastime is to be surrounded with paper and "rivers of ribbon" while she wraps gifts for her family, which includes her husband, son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warp of Minden, and three granddaughters.

MRS. OSCAR WARP

MRS. WILLIAM HUXFORD

Responsibility for the state program and activities of the junior women's clubs and departments, a popular and growing membership of the state organization, is the almost full-time job of Mrs. William Huxford of Grand Island, state director of juniors. Through her travels in the state helping to organize and encourage the junior members during the last two years, Mrs. Huxford should be by now an expert on train and bus schedules in Nebraska.

A busy housewife and mother of three small boys aged seven, nine and 11, Mrs. Huxford is also active in the American Legion Auxiliary, currently serving as president of the Sixth District. A past president of the Grand Island Auxiliary, she became eligible for membership through her husband's service as an Army major during World War II.

A member of the Grand Island Women's Club, of which she is now secretary, and a past director of juniors for the Fifth District, Mrs. Huxford long ago gave up most of her hobbies to devote her spare time to the many duties entailed by her positions as a PTA president and as a Den Mother for a troop of Cub Scouts.

A graduate of Wayne State Teachers College, and a former elementary school teacher, Mrs. Huxford does admit to a weakness for bowling.

PTA Council Meets

State Day was observed at the monthly meeting of the Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers, Thursday afternoon, when the members toured the new Nebraska State Historical Society building.

Mrs. Herman Siefkes, president, conducted the meeting which was opened with the reading of a poem, "The Sower," by Mrs. Howard Deems, character and spiritual education chairman. A report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. Fred Sehnert, chairman, who announced the following nominees: President, Mrs. Wallace McDermet; first vice president, Mrs. Leonard Wenzl; and treasurer, Mrs. A. W. Peeks.

A short talk on the TB chest X-ray survey, to begin March 16, was given by Mrs. Dorothy Ogden, secretary of the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Association, after which a talk on juvenile delinquency as a national and local problem was presented by Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme, member of the Lincoln City Council.

Also presenting a talk on juvenile delinquency in the Lincoln area was Mrs. Hulda Stahnke Roper of the Lincoln police department, after which a talk, "The Place of the School in a Pupil's Life," was given by Dr. Steven Watkins, school superintendent, who also reported on the school building program.

Mrs. William Kitrell was introduced as the newly-appointed health co-chairman for the council, after which Mrs. Leonard Wenzl explained various money-raising plans for the PTA council.

The council meeting will be held on Thursday, April 1, at Holmes School.

Saratoga PTA Board Meets

The executive board and room mothers of Saratoga PTA met Wednesday morning to discuss plans for the chest X-ray survey to be held at the school on April 20 and 22. The group also made plans for the PTA's annual fun night program which will be held at the school on March 26.

The fun night chairmen will include: Mr. and Mrs. Loren Stromer, kitchen; Mr. and Mrs. Myron White, tickets; Mr. and Mrs. John Schick, games; Mr. and Mrs. Tennis Rapp, baked goods; Mr. and Mrs. Max Wells, auditorium; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Elliott, hats; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Pavonka, sales booth; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Beltz, check room; Mr. and Mrs. James Vittera and Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Korbelik, fish pond; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bluhm, make-up; Mr. and Mrs. John Brill, Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Slothower, food; Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Gerlach, popcorn; and Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Lundeen, candy.

Following the board meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Philip Beltz, Mrs. Harrold Becker, Mrs. Hugo Johnson, Mrs. W. R. Walters and Mrs. A. J. Stoehr.

A past president of the Grand Island Auxiliary, she became eligible for membership through her husband's service as an Army major during World War II.

A member of the Grand Island Women's Club, of which she is now secretary, and a past director of juniors for the Fifth District, Mrs. Huxford long ago gave up most of her hobbies to devote her spare time to the many duties entailed by her positions as a PTA president and as a Den Mother for a troop of Cub Scouts.

A graduate of Wayne State Teachers College, and a former elementary school teacher, Mrs. Huxford does admit to a weakness for bowling.

The Men Will Like This Food

Men like food that includes taste appeal and satisfies hearty appetites. Baked spare ribs stuffed with corn bread do just that, without making considerable fuss or bother for mother.

Like most dressings, corn bread stuffing for spare ribs can be made excellently from left-over bread, or the corn bread can be baked fresh. Either way, this is an easy and healthful main course dish to prepare.

CORN STUFFED SPARE RIBS

2 matching spare rib racks, cracked through center
1 small onion, fine minced
¼ cup melted butter or bacon drippings
5 cups crumbled corn bread
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1¼ teaspoon salt

Saute minced onion in fat slowly for about five minutes. Pour over crumbled corn bread. Combine egg, milk and salt and pour over bread. Combine carefully. Place one section of ribs, flesh side down, season with salt and pepper, and spread with stuffing. Cover with other section (which has been seasoned on inside), and either sew together or lace together using small metal skewers and cord. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place on a trivet in a shallow pan and bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven, 350F., about 1½ hours or until tender. Allow ¾ to 1 pound ribs per serving.

CORN BREAD

¾ cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups corn meal
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sweet milk (room temperature)
2 tablespoons melted butter

(If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit baking powder and salt from this recipe.)

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Add corn meal and mix well. Combine beaten eggs, milk and butter and add to dry ingredients all at once. Stir only enough to moisten the dry ingredients. Pour into greased 8-inch square pan and bake in moderately hot oven, 400F., 20 to 25 minutes.

Your Reducing Diet

We talked with someone last week-end who summed up pretty well the way many non-liver-eaters feel. She said that although she loved the finished product, she simply "couldn't bear to touch the stuff raw!" If you share the same opinion, or even one less charitable, have the butcher slice the liver wafer-thin, and handle it with tongs or between two spoons.

PANNED LIVER

(135 cal. per two slices)

Place very, VERY thin slices of liver in strainer and wash under tap. Marinate with 1 clove garlic in tomato juice to cover for 15 minutes. Rub hot heavy pan with garlic and heat tomato juice. Add liver and pan about 10 min. or until tender. Season juices in the pan with pepper and basil. Serve at once.

Are You Slumping?

"Can you tell me how to get rid of thickness across the back of my neck and shoulders?" asks a reader. "It's not so much a hump as a rounded thickness."

Although this particular reader may not have gained any weight lately, all who have should appraise the shoulder-blade section. It's a favorite spot for an adipose deposit and it ages your figure regardless of how young you feel.

If you also have the slumping habit, your troubles are multiplied. This stretches the upper back muscles, providing just the kind of honeycomb pockets that are perfect for the storage of every added pound. Dieting won't reclaim the line you'd like to see your mirror reflect. But, fortunately, exercise will. So let's start!

Seat yourself on the floor with your back right up against a wall. Straighten your back as well as you can (yes, this is also a posture exercise and just what you need.)

Now place the back of your hands against the wall just about level with your ears. Keeping the backs of your arms and hands against the wall, straighten your arms out overhead as slowly as you can, split inch by split inch. Then, bending your elbows sharply, return them to starting position and repeat. You will find about ten of these enough to do at the outset. Increase to forty times daily as rapidly as you can.

For variation, you can perform the same exercise lying on the floor with your knees bent and your feet pulled up close to the buttocks. Slide the backs of your hands from ear-level straight up above your shoulders just as in the wall version of the exercise.

Be faithful and you'll notice improvement in a couple of months. Continue and by vacation time your back will no longer be a threat to your youth nor a problem in fitting clothes. Improved posture, a better figure and a cut in alteration costs should be benefits enough to keep you at your exercises until accomplishment is yours!

Colleges Advised To Prepare For Doubled Enrollment In '70

CHICAGO (AP)—Colleges were advised Thursday to prepare for twice as many students in 1970.

The population increase in the 1940's and 1950's made this inevitable, educators from more than 400 colleges and universities, attending the ninth National Conference on Higher Education were told Thursday.

The enrollment may jump from the current 2¼ million to 5½ million, according to Francis H. Horn, president of Pratt Institute, of Brooklyn, N.Y. The estimate appeared in an article distributed to the convention by the National Education Assn, whose higher education department is sponsoring the convention. The article will appear in the April issue of the NEA journal.

J. F. Wellemeyer Jr., of the staff of the American Council of Learned Societies, estimated the 1970 enrollment at 4½ million.

Growing Demand

Horn said he thought the higher figure would be more accurate because it anticipates that a higher percentage of the college age population will enroll each year. They will stay in school longer, he said, because there is a growing demand for persons with professional and other postgraduate degrees. Moreover, he added, a higher percentage of women is going to college all the time.

In a full day discussion of the subject, the educators asked if this means that the present $5,300,000,000 higher education plant had to be doubled in size.

James A. Van Zwoll, professor of educational administration at the University of Maryland, said the schools might make better use of present space to reduce the amount of construction required.

College faculties must be increased from the present 130,000 teachers to 245,000 by 1970, said Wellemeyer, if the proportion of teachers to students remains as it is now.

One solution might be to allow faculty members to teach longer, instead of urging them to retire at 65, and forcing retirement at 70, said Ronald B. Thompson, registrar of Ohio State University.

It was suggested also that television could be used more extensively to save the time of teachers. Or that some classes could be larger.

Mailmen Trying 2-Wheeled Carts

The Lincoln Post Office Department is experimenting with the use of a two-wheeled cart for speeding up residential mail deliveries

The cart was sent to Lincoln from the Post Office Department in Washington. The system is also on trial in other cities.

It is too early to arrive at any conclusions on the carts, said Postmaster O. E. Jerner, as the device has only been used here about three weeks.

Federal Judge John W Delehant has continued the habeas corpus proceedings for Paul Richard Small, a Pentitentiary inmate, for trial on March 27.

The trial date was set after counsel informed the court of a need to produce certain records in the case which would generally rest on documentary evidence.

Small, who appeared Thursday in court with Warden Herbert H Hann on a writ signed earlier by the judge, contends he is being illegally confined, claiming his maximum possible imprisonment expired March 12, 1953

Attorney Richard O. Wilson has been appointed counsel for Small

The inmate was sentenced to seven years from Douglas County on Feb. 21, 1948, for forgery, and from Lancaster County to an additional year for escape.

After serving 49 months, he states, the forgery sentence was commuted by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. He was placed on parole, but was later returned for parole violation

He contends the forgery sentence was ended by the act of the pardon board, and that he has now served his escape sentence, the term of which, he contends, expired March 11, 1953.

A similar appeal to the Lancaster District Court has been turned down.

Colleges Advised To Prepare For Doubled Enrollment In '70

CHICAGO (AP)—Colleges were advised Thursday to prepare for twice as many students in 1970.

The population increase in the 1940's and 1950's made this inevitable, educators from more than 400 colleges and universities, attending the ninth National Conference on Higher Education were told Thursday.

The enrollment may jump from the current 2¼ million to 5½ million, according to Francis H. Horn, president of Pratt Institute, of Brooklyn, N.Y. The estimate appeared in an article distributed to the convention by the National Education Assn., whose higher education department is sponsoring the convention. The article will appear in the April issue of the NEA journal.

J. F. Wellemeyer Jr., of the staff of the American Council of Learned Societies, estimated the 1970 enrollment at 4½ million.

Growing Demand

Horn said he thought the higher figure would be more accurate because it anticipates that a higher percentage of the college age population will enroll each year. They will stay in school longer, he said, because there is a growing demand for persons with professional and other postgraduate degrees. Moreover, he added, a higher percentage of women is going to college all the time.

In a full day discussion of the subject, the educators asked if this means that the present $5,300,000,000 higher education plant had to be doubled in size.

James A. Van Zwoll, professor of educational administration at the University of Maryland, said the schools might make better use of present space to reduce the amount of construction required.

College faculties must be increased from the present 130,000 teachers to 245,000 by 1970, said Wellemeyer, if the proportion of teachers to students remains as it is now.

One solution might be to allow faculty members to teach longer, instead of urging them to retire at 65, and forcing retirement at 70, said Ronald B. Thompson, registrar of Ohio State University.

It was suggested also that television could be used more extensively to save the time of teachers. Or that some classes could be larger.

Mailmen Trying 2-Wheeled Carts

The Lincoln Post Office Department is experimenting with the use of a two-wheeled cart for speeding up residential mail deliveries.

Resembling golf carts, the two-wheelers carry the heavy bags of mail heretofore lugged by the postmen. One of the carts is being used on various routes in Lincoln daily.

The cart was sent to Lincoln from the Post Office Department in Washington. The system is also on trial in other cities.

It is too early to arrive at any conclusions on the carts, said Postmaster O. E. Jerner, as the device has only been used here about three weeks.

Federal Judge John W. Delehant has continued the habeas corpus proceedings for Paul Richard Small, a Pentitentiary inmate, for trial on March 27.

The trial date was set after counsel informed the court of a need to produce certain records in the case which would generally rest on documentary evidence.

Small, who appeared Thursday in court with Warden Herbert H. Hann on a writ signed earlier by the judge, contends he is being illegally confined, claiming his maximum possible imprisonment expired March 12, 1953.

Attorney Richard O. Wilson has been appointed counsel for Small.

The inmate was sentenced to seven years from Douglas County on Feb. 21, 1948, for forgery, and from Lancaster County to an additional year for escape.

After serving 49 months, he states, the forgery sentence was commuted by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. He was placed on parole, but was later returned for parole violation.

He contends the forgery sentence was ended by the act of the pardon board, and that he has now served his escape sentence, the term of which, he contends, expired March 11, 1953.

A similar appeal to the Lancaster District Court has been turned down.

Links Grab State Tourney Spot With 60-38 Win

Will Meet Falls City, Rocket Victor Saturday

Lincoln High School took an easy 60-38 victory over Fairbury at the Nebraska Wesleyan gym Thursday night to earn a berth in the State Basketball Tournament at Lincoln next Week.

The Links will perform Saturday night in the District finals against the winner of Friday night's Northeast-Falls City game Both of the finalists earn a trip to the State.

Coach Lyle Weyand's gang roared to a 6-0 lead and never had trouble after that as Big Allen Graves and Ernie Hollibaugh controlled both boards.

Graves was the main thorn in the side of the Jeffs, playing a bigger part defensively than he did as the game's top scorer with 17 points.

At least eight times in the first half and many times in the second half Graves batted away Fairbury shots. He easily plucked off rebounds over the outmanned visitors to the Capital City.

Meanwhile, Lincoln's favored shooting from outside was effective and the Red and Black managed a 14-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and 30-17 at the half.

Fairbury closed to within four points at the start of the second quarter when Gerry Poppe drove in for a layup to make it 14-10.

But Art Weaver flipped one in for Lincoln and shortly it was 19-11.

The best Fairbury could do after that was at 21-16 when Dennis Huston and Gary Cook scored from the field.

Lincoln ran it to 30-17 by halftime as Graves, Bernie Randolph and Al Lewis connected.

Fairbury hopes climbed momentarily as Huston scored off the fast break to open the second half but the Links cooled that threat in a hurry and soon both coaches were sending in subs as the score stood at 40-22.

Graves' 17 points led Lincoln while Weaver got 10, Randolph 8 and Bob Lee 7.

Huston's 13 were high for Fairbury. He got most of them on deadly long set shots.

Palmyra Five Tops Murdock For 'D' Spot

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

PERU COLLEGE — Southeast Nebraska gained a strong Class D representative in the state basketball tournament when Palmyra defeated Murdock here Thursday night, 59-47.

Accurate shooting and clever ball-handling characterized this Palmyra victory over the Cass County Champions who had defeated the Panthers by 8 points in November.

The accuracy was displayed in the first quarter when Palmyra scored 20 points, mostly on the field goals of Warren Lashley and Dick Reimer.

The cleverness referred to the Panther stall which stopped the Murdock rally in the last quarter.

Lashley, always the smooth floor man and usually a fine scorer on set shots and driveins scored 23 points and matched Murdock's Ron Peters as a ballplayer this night.

Peters is a six-five center who could make any team in Neb., any class. He scored 27 points and his eleven in the first quarter checked a possible Murdock rally. The quarter score was 20-12.

His 14 in the second half almost caught the Panthers who had a 34-20 halftime lead. Peters hit on a jump shot from the free throw line. He scored 11 field goals.

A free throw by Peters in the last quarter closed the score to 47-41, but Palmyra stall was introduced and led to a flood of fouls which inundated Murdock.

Coach Bernie Davis and his Palmyra will come to Lincoln for the third time in four years. They lost in the playoffs last year.

Holy Name To Play Strong Tecumseh

AUBURN—Omaha Holy Name rumbled on toward the state tournament Thursday night with a 69-51 lacing of Auburn.

However, the Ramblers must hurdle an aggressive Tecumseh five Friday night.

A Tecumseh spurt in the fourth quarter gave them a 46-35 win over Plattsmouth in the second semifinal tilt Thursday.

Drill Outdoors For First Time

Husker Squad Divided Into Lineups

A squad division, three new checkouts and a jaunt outdoors was the main story in the University of Nebraska football camp Thursday.

The skies smiled enough sunshine to allow Coach Bill Glassford to herd his gridders outdoors for the first time since the drills opened Monday.

The three new reportees, all sophomores in competition, were John Wilkinson, tackle from Lincoln; W. J. Grant, center from Omaha, and Walter J. Keeger, guard from Syracuse. They swelled the turnout to 77.

Fundamentals, with special emphasis on blocking, featured the drill.

There was one causalty. Quinlan Anderson, junior tackle from Oakland, came up with two broken bones in his hand. He said he would continue to keep in shape by running.

What looked like the top team included Andy Loehr and Don Hewitt, ends; Bill Holloran and Don Glantz, tackles; Tom Kripal and Bob Wagner, guards, Bob Oberlin, center; Rex Fischer, quarterback; Jon McWilliams and Sylvester, halfbacks, and Bob Smith, fullback.

Only Loehr, Wagner, Oberlin and Smith are lettermen. The rest of the lineup, however, were squad members in 1953.

Another lineup included Dean Lux and Jack Bradley, ends; Pev Evans and Tom Harper, tackles; Gail Lair and Jim Murphy, guards; Doran Post, center; Dan Brown, quarterback; Don Comstock and Willie Greenlaw, halfbacks, and John Edwards, fullback.

Only Brown of that group has lettered. He won numerals in 1951-52 as a defensive specialist. Squad members in 1953 were Lux, Braley, Evans, Lair, Post and Edwards. Murphy, Comstock and Greenlaw are sophomores. Harper, a 1950 squad member, is returning from a tour of army duty.

Those two teams constituted the top Red units. The rest of the squad was divided into white, green, yellow and blue units.

Only one veteran, Jim Yeisley, who lettered in 1951-52, was included on the white team which represented the No. 3 unit.

Yeisley was at fullback in a backfield consisting of Charles Smith, quarterback, and Harry Johnson and Dave Koile, halfbacks.

Cowboys To Defend 'A' Crown; Benson Pressed

OMAHA (AP)—Defending Class A state basketball champion Boys Town assured itself of a return trip to the state tournament Friday night with a 53-34 win over Omaha Tech in the semifinals of the Omaha district meet.

But the Boys Town victory was less of a spectacle than Benson's 50-48 victory over North in two overtimes. Frank Huber of Benson dropped in two free throws in the sudden death overtime to give Benson its tourney ticket. Boys Town and Benson both get to the state meet.

Boys Town's victory over Tech, though decisive scorewise, was rated a mild upset with its 19-point margin.

The wide-awake Cowboys held Tech to two baskets in the first two periods and were ahead 20-11 at the half.

Rich Badillo led the Boys Town scorers with 19 points, and dropped the clinching basket in the fourth quarter.

Bob Boozer and Carl Dixon pulled Tech to a 10-point deficit at 25-35 just before Badillo cooled off their rally.

Hastings, Fremont Gain State Ducats

FREMONT (AP)—Hastings and Fremont won state high school basketball tournament tickets in the semifinals of the Fremont Class A district tournament Thursday night by almost identical scores.

Hastings defeated Columbus, 55-43 and Fremont took Grand Island 54-43. Hastings was seeded No. 1 and Fremont No. 2 in the tourney.

For a time it looked as though Columbus might upset the favored Hastings as the Discoverers led, 16-15, at the end of the first period. But early in the second period Hastings went ahead, 21-20, and stayed ahead. Five points near the end of the half gave Hastings a 35-50 intermission lead.

Hastings led all through the second half, taking a 45-37 lead before going into a fourth period stall.

Jack Halderman of Columbus put on a sparkling shooting exhibition, scoring seven straight baskets and 17 of the first 20 points Columbus got. He was halted at that point, however and never scored again.

Hastings' Cal Johnson, regularly the scoring leader, came through with 20 points.

The Fremont-Grand Island game was a little more according to the chart as Fremont led 10-9, 27-24, and 36-30 at the quarters. Grand Island pulled up to a 33-36 deficit early in the fourth period, but Fremont pulled away 42-33 to clinch the game.

Fremont's Ralph Black dunked 21 points, his highest total of the season, and he put in 10 of them in the final quarter when they counted most.

Larry Feaster paced Grand Island with 13.

Hastings and Fremont will meet in the finale Friday night.

Bearcats, Alliance Win Lincoln Trip

NORTH PLATTE (AP) — Alliance and Scottsbluff survived their semifinal tests in the Class A district basketball tournament here in a pair of flashy games Thursday night. Alliance defeated Kearney, 51-49, in an overtime and Scottsbluff upset McCook, 57-52.

Both win berths in the state tournament and meet Friday night to decide district laurels.

Kearney led Alliance through three periods but Alliance rallied in the last three minutes of the third period to take a 41-40 lead. Kearney pulled ahead again to a 47-45 lead with 55 seconds to go but Bob Morris of Alliance, who had hit the only two buckets Alliance scored in the period, dropped one from about 30 feet out to tie the score. At one time in the third period Kearney had held a 38-28 lead.

In the overtime Bud Pollard and Morris of Alliance scored. Then Clark Mattson of Kearney stole the ball and dribbled the length of the floor for a layin with 22 seconds left. Bill Beavers of Kearney blocked a pass from Mike Kosmicki of Alliance, but he dropped the ball and it was taken out of bounds. Kearney held the ball for the remaining seconds but couldn't get action.

Big Jim Hanson of Kearney had 21 points.

In the other game Scottsbluff upset second seeded McCook, 57-52 with a first half barrage which put the Bearcats in front 27-19 at the half.

Dick Knaub, who had a game total of 16 points, hit five times in six tries during the second period.

Cager Fined

Bill Johnson, center on the University of Nebraska basketball team, made a bad pass.

But Cage Coach Harry Good didn't bench him — Municipal Court Judge John Jacobson fined him $5.

The bad pass was made while Johnson was driving a car, and resulted in a traffic violation.

City Basketball

School of Commerce won by forfeit over Hy Gain; Havelock 36, Woodcrafts 21; Mayfair 34, C.Y.O. 28; Red Shield 28, Gas Company 23; Atomics 30, Urbans 25.

Girls' Volleyball

Elgins 25, Hickman 15; Telephones 24, Continentals 23; Stewarts 19, Pensons 18.

There are certain familiar scenes at these Big Seven indoor track and field carnivals at the spacious Kansas City, Mo., auditorium.

First, is the sight of Kansas sweeping easily to title after title. Veteran observers see the Jayhawks dominate the conference for at least five more seasons.

Cliff Dale

Second, you go away thinking of the marvelous running prowess of Kansan Wes Santee and you wish to yourself that the young fellow wore his laurels a bit more modestly. Then you think again and decide: Maybe it's his cockiness that makes him such a wonder.

You think of how Husker Cliff Dale has been ruling the shot putters and how Oklahoma's Neville Price has reset the indoor and outdoor broad jump books.

Dale, who now holds two consecutive indoor crowns, is a product of plain hard work. Scaling only 185 pounds, he is small for a shot putter. Some of the past Husker weight greats like Sam Francis, Bob Mills, Dick Piderit or Paul Grimm, were over 210 pounds.

The Falls City senior, who also shines in the classroom, gets over the 49 foot mark by combining all of the little things, plus using more than a natural abundance of physical strength. His quest for improvement has paid steady dividends.

Price, who wears a sandy mustache and speaks with a clipped Oxford accent, is a native of East London, South Africa.

"Why did he come 10,000 miles to go to Oklahoma?" we asked Harold Keith, the astute Sooner publicity man. Keith offered an answer to that and added some more notes on the Big Seven broad jump king.

Price came all of those miles to attend Oklahoma because he loves track, loves traveling, wanted a good college education, wanted to learn something about radio and television broadcasting, wanted to learn the best American track methods so he can teach them in his homeland when he goes back to South Africa to coach.

He says the secret to good broadjumping is learning how to relax during the last three or four strides of the run to the board so you can gather yourself for the jump.

"You've got to be concentrating at all times," he maintains. "Just before you start down the runway, you review everything quickly in your head."

But mastering the run-up is hardest of all. "Some jumpers prefer to gamble and foul four or five times in their effort to get one good jump. Others will go to the other extreme and take off too far behind the board. I like to get an early jump of about 24-9 or 24-10 on the books, then start shooting."

Consistency is Price's greatest stock in trade. On 26 of 28 jumps his first two years, he surpassed 24 feet. Price has fouled but twice during his three-year competition at Oklahoma, both of them last summer in the NCAA meet at Lincoln where a young cyclone swirled around the takeoff board (on one of his fouls there he leaped 25-3 but was a quarter of an inch over the board).

The secret of hitting the front of the board is to be able to sprint at top speed before you ever take a jump in the pit.

"I really push myself hard in October, November and December getting the sprinting peak I want," says Price. "Every day I jog the hills of the golf course, run the stadium steps, do stretching exercises and do lots of sprinting, usually with Phil Beeler.

"Once I reach a 100-yard speed of about 9.8 seconds, all I have to do is maintain it all year and I'll get the same length of run in the broad jump."

Price never jumps for distance between meets although he may take a few 20-foot practice leaps under the eye of John Jacobs, Sooner coach. "In these I strive for a correct push-off from the board, hitting it with my body erect so I'll have my center of gravity directly beneath me, and concentrating on having my knee bent so I can spring higher.

"Jake is very good at detecting flaws in my form," says Price. "I like to have him watch me when I jump. He also advised me to use only two check marks, both three feet apart at the start of my run-up so I'll be free to relax that last three or four steps and concentrate on getting up. I found that very helpful."

Jack Hyland, voice of the Lincoln Chiefs, has just returned from a flying trip to Corpus Christi, Tex., where the Chiefs will open spring training in 13 days.

Jack looked over the ball park, home of the Corpus Christi Clippers of the Gulf Coast League, and he felt the climate.

His verdicts: climate, ideal; ball park, excellent.

"The infield is nice and green despite the Texas drouth," Jack told The Firing Line, "and they are watering it constantly. It seats 4,500, is 330 feet to the left and right field fences and 405 feet to the centerfield wall."

Lincoln will train with the Corpus Christi team, which also has a working agreement with the Milwaukee Braves.

WAHOO—Lincoln Teachers was kept within shooting distance for half a game here but spurted far ahead in the second half to defeat Lincoln Cathedral 69-43 and move into the finals of the District Class B basketball tourney.

In the other semifinal game here Wahoo rallied in the second quarter to squeeze by College View, 46-45, and win a chance to meet Teachers in the finals tonight.

Big Jim Thom meshed an amazing 36 points for Teachers, including 16 baskets.

Thom's running mate, Hal Rowe, helped set up many of big "Spider's" field goals with his play under the basket.

It was Bill Frappia that kept Cathedral in the game during the first half, as the Bluebirds hung on, mainly on the strength of Frappia's four baskets from the keyhole, to trail 32-24 at halftime.

But the 'Birds were cold in the third quarter. While Cathedral managed to make only four free throws during the whole period, Thom got sizzling and pushed through seven baskets and a free throw as his team outscored the Bluebirds 20-4 to race to a 52-28 margin at the beginning of the final frame.

Teachers' Jack Merritt added the final touch to Cathedral's cup of gloom by standing out 55 feet from the basket and sinking a seemingly-impossible shot as the game ended.

The score was tied 45-all when Alan Anderson of Wahoo drove for the basket and was fouled as the final gun sounded.

Anderson missed the first of two free throws but made the second for the win.

Wahoo's Bill Edwards poured in 11 points in the second quarter after both teams got off to a slow start. Paul Westbrook was the big gun for the Viewmen, but he fouled out with four minutes gone in the last quarter.

College View led with 2:24 to go in the game after Bill Thierstein got a tipin to make the score 45-44. Then Ron Krafka tied the game with a free throw and Anderson's single point came shortly thereafter.

Wee Mouse Nips Bevo, Aurora Nips St. Mary's

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

YORK — The best-laid plans of mice and men go oft astray.

Robert Burns wrote that in his well-known poem "To A Mouse," written in Scotland in the 1700's.

Burns, who later invented the cigar but nonetheless retired out of pocket (no royalties), knew what he was talking about.

Howard Hoes, basketball coach at St. Mary's Cathedral High of Grand Island, knows what Burns meant. So does Francis Swoboda, St. Mary's high-scoring center.

The St. Mary's Ramblers figured as a darkhorse in the York Class B district tournament until Tuesday, the day before the tourney opened. That day Francis (Bevo) Swoboda, a 6-foot 3-inch 200-pounder, was laid low by a mouse.

Some prankster at the Grand Island parochial school had put a mouse in the desk of one of the schoolgirls. Good, clean fun.

By way of doing a favor, Bevo offered to get the mouse out of the desk.

Now, Burns spoke of the mouse as a "wee, sleekit, cowerin' timrous beastie." This wee, sleekit beastie of Bevo's was neither cowerin nor tim'rous.

It bit Bevo on the arm.

Infection set in and Bevo was sidelined for the tournament opener against Aurora. But the word was around that he would be able to play in the semifinals.

Without Bevo, St. Mary's didn't make the semifinals. The Ramblers lost a 59-58 decision to Aurora in the first round.

Even without Bevo the Ramblers looked good and were in the lead with 26 seconds to go. Aurora's Herb Roszhart made a basket to tie the score and then won the game with a free throw after the gun had sounded.

As far as the Ramblers, are concerned, that mouse was a rat.

'Do Or Die' Game Tonight For Rockets

It's do or die for Northeast tonight in the semifinal round of the Class A district basketball tournament at Nebraska Wesleyan.

The Rockets play Falls City at 7:30 p.m. The winner will be assured of a state tournament berth since semifinal victors in the four Class A regionals go to the big carnival.

Northeast blasted Nebraska City, 57-39, in the first round. Falls City drew a bye.

Falls City beat Northeast, 54-44, in the third game of the season. Since then the Rockets have developed into potential giant-killers. They could turn the tables tonight.

Northeast had an 8-7 record during the regular season. Falls City won 12 and lost four, slumping at the end after a rapid start.

Northeast has a brilliant state tournament tradition, and that tradition could have quite an effect on the Rockets tonight.

In Northeast's 12 years of existence, its basketball team has gone to the state tourney 11 times. Only in 1945 did a Rocket team fail to make the grade.

Thus the Rockets have made it to the big meet eight consecutive years, beginning in 1946. They have won the championship twice, in 1949 and 1950. They have been in the finals two other years, in 1942 and 1948.

Also, Ed Johnson has never coached a Rocket team that failed to make the state tournament. He took over as Northeast head coach in the 1950-51 season.

Tax cuts have already been assured... but they don't take effect on last year's bite. So, if you haven't squared yourself with Uncle Sam yet, we'd better remind you that March 15th is breathing down our collars. The word "Tax" comes from the Latin word "taxare"... but a tax blank is still Greek to most of us.

You know, March is supposed to come in like a lion and go out like a lamb. Maybe that's because, in the middle of the month, we're sheared of our worldy goods. Not only that, but some folks try to pull the wool over the tax collector's eyes. That's as dangerous as juggling an atom bomb... and most of us try to avoid it by trying to do our best to fill out our tax forms properly. It's all part of being a citizen. Anyway, you can't take it with you. Ask any tax collector.

Times change. Vice-President Marshall once quipped, "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar." Today we'll all settle for a good five-cent cup of coffee. Links Grab State Tourney Spot With 60-38 Win

Will Meet Falls City, Rocket Victor Saturday

Lincoln High School took an easy 60-38 victory over Fairbury at the Nebraska Wesleyan gym Thursday night to earn a berth in the State Basketball Tournament at Lincoln next Week.

The Links will perform Saturday night in the District finals against the winner of Friday night's Northeast-Falls City game Both of the finalists earn a trip to the State.

Coach Lyle Weyand's gang roared to a 6-0 lead and never had trouble after that as Big Allen Graves and Ernie Hollibaugh controlled both boards.

Graves was the main thorn in the side of the Jeffs, playing a bigger part defensively than he did as the game's top scorer with 17 points.

At least eight times in the first half and many times in the second half Graves batted away Fairbury shots. He easily plucked off rebounds over the outmanned visitors to the Capital City.

Meanwhile, Lincoln's favored shooting from outside was effective and the Red and Black managed a 14-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and 30-17 at the half.

Fairbury closed to within four points at the start of the second quarter when Gerry Poppe drove in for a layup to make it 14-10.

But Art Weaver flipped one in for Lincoln and shortly it was 19-11.

The best Fairbury could do after that was at 21-16 when Dennis Huston and Gary Cook scored from the field.

Lincoln ran it to 30-17 by halftime as Graves, Bernie Randolph and Al Lewis connected.

Fairbury hopes climbed momentarily as Huston scored off the fast break to open the second half but the Links cooled that threat in a hurry and soon both coaches were sending in subs as the score stood at 40-22.

Graves' 17 points led Lincoln while Weaver got 10, Randolph 8 and Bob Lee 7.

Huston's 13 were high for Fairbury. He got most of them on deadly long set shots.

Palmyra Five Tops Murdock For 'D' Spot

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

PERU COLLEGE — Southeast Nebraska gained a strong Class D representative in the state basketball tournament when Palmyra defeated Murdock here Thursday night, 59-47.

Accurate shooting and clever ball-handling characterized this Palmyra victory over the Cass County Champions who had defeated the Panthers by 8 points in November.

The accuracy was displayed in the first quarter when Palmyra scored 20 points, mostly on the field goals of Warren Lashley and Dick Reimer.

The cleverness referred to the Panther stall which stopped the Murdock rally in the last quarter.

Lashley, always the smooth floor man and usually a fine scorer on set shots and driveins scored 23 points and matched Murdock's Ron Peters as a ballplayer this night.

Peters is a six-five center who could make any team in Neb., any class. He scored 27 points and his eleven in the first quarter checked a possible Murdock rally. The quarter score was 20-12.

His 14 in the second half almost caught the Panthers who had a 34-20 halftime lead. Peters hit on a jump shot from the free throw line. He scored 11 field goals.

A free throw by Peters in the last quarter closed the score to 47-41, but Palmyra stall was introduced and led to a flood of fouls which inundated Murdock.

Coach Bernie Davis and his Palmyra will come to Lincoln for the third time in four years. They lost in the playoffs last year.

AUBURN—Omaha Holy Name rumbled on toward the state tournament Thursday night with a 69-51 lacing of Auburn.

Drill Outdoors For First Time

Husker Squad Divided Into Lineups

A squad division, three new checkouts and a jaunt outdoors was the main story in the University of Nebraska football camp Thursday.

The skies smiled enough sunshine to allow Coach Bill Glassford to herd his gridders outdoors for the first time since the drills opened Monday.

The three new reportees, all sophomores in competition, were John Wilkinson, tackle from Lincoln; W. J. Grant, center from Omaha, and Walter J. Keeger, guard from Syracuse. They swelled the turnout to 77.

Fundamentals, with special emphasis on blocking, featured the drill.

There was one causalty. Quinlan Anderson, junior tackle from Oakland, came up with two broken bones in his hand. He said he would continue to keep in shape by running.

What looked like the top team included Andy Loehr and Don Hewitt, ends; Bill Holloran and Don Glantz, tackles; Tom Kripal and Bob Wagner, guards, Bob Oberlin, center; Rex Fischer, quarterback; Jon McWilliams and Sylvester, halfbacks, and Bob Smith, fullback.

Only Loehr, Wagner, Oberlin and Smith are lettermen. The rest of the lineup, however, were squad members in 1953.

Another lineup included Dean Lux and Jack Bradley, ends; Pev Evans and Tom Harper, tackles; Gail Lair and Jim Murphy, guards; Doran Post, center; Dan Brown, quarterback; Don Comstock and Willie Greenlaw, halfbacks, and John Edwards, fullback.

Only Brown of that group has lettered. He won numerals in 1951-52 as a defensive specialist. Squad members in 1953 were Lux, Braley, Evans, Lair, Post and Edwards. Murphy, Comstock and Greenlaw are sophomores. Harper, a 1950 squad member, is returning from a tour of army duty.

Those two teams constituted the top Red units. The rest of the squad was divided into white, green, yellow and blue units.

Only one veteran, Jim Yeisley, who lettered in 1951-52, was included on the white team which represented the No. 3 unit.

Yeisley was at fullback in a backfield consisting of Charles Smith, quarterback, and Harry Johnson and Dave Kolle, halfbacks.

Cowboys To Defend 'A' Crown; Benson Pressed

OMAHA (AP)—Defending Class A state basketball champion Boys Town assured itself of a return trip to the state basketball tournament Friday night with a 53-34 win over Omaha Tech in the semifinals of the Omaha district meet.

But the Boys Town victory was less of a spectacle than Benson's 50-48 victory over North in two overtimes. Frank Huber of Benson dropped in two free throws in the sudden death overtime to give Benson its tourney ticket. Boys Town and Benson both get to the state meet.

Boys Town's victory over Tech, though decisive scorewise, was rated a mild upset with its 19-point margin.

The wide-awake Cowboys held Tech to two baskets in the first two periods and were ahead 20-11 at the half.

Rich Badillo led the Boys Town scorers with 19 points, and dropped the clinching basket in the fourth quarter.

Bob Boozer and Carl Dixon pulled Tech to a 10-point deficit at 25-35 just before Badillo cooled off their rally.

Hastings, Fremont Gain State Ducats

FREMONT (AP)—Hastings and Fremont won state high school basketball tournament tickets in the semifinals of the Fremont Class A district tournament Thursday night by almost identical scores.

Hastings defeated Columbus, 55-43 and Fremont took Grand Island 54-43. Hastings was seeded No. 1 and Fremont No. 2 in the tourney.

For a time it looked as though Columbus might upset the favored Hastings as the Discoverers led, 16-15, at the end of the first period. But early in the second period Hastings went ahead, 21-20, and stayed ahead. Five points near the end of the half gave Hastings a 35-50 intermission lead.

Hastings led all through the second half, taking a 45-37 lead before going into a fourth period stall.

Jack Halderman of Columbus put on a sparkling shooting exhibition, scoring seven straight baskets and 17 of the first 20 points Columbus got. He was halted at that point, however and never scored again.

Hastings' Cal Johnson, regularly the scoring leader, came through with 20 points.

The Fremont-Grand Island game was a little more according to the chart as Fremont led 10-9, 27-24, and 36-30 at the quarters. Grand Island pulled up to a 33-36 deficit early in the fourth period, but Fremont pulled away 42-33 to clinch the game.

Fremont's Ralph Black dunked 21 points, his highest total of the season, and he put in 10 of them in the final quarter when they counted most.

Larry Feaster paced Grand Island with 13.

Hastings and Fremont will meet in the finale Friday night.

Bearcats, Alliance Win Lincoln Trip

NORTH PLATTE (AP) — Alliance and Scottsbluff survived their semifinal tests in the Class A district basketball tournament here in a pair of flashy games Thursday night. Alliance defeated Kearney, 51-49, in an overtime and Scottsbluff upset McCook, 57-52.

Both win berths in the state tournament and meet Friday night to decide district laurels.

Kearney led Alliance through three periods but Alliance rallied in the last three minutes of the third period to take a 41-40 lead. Kearney pulled ahead again to a 47-45 lead with 55 seconds to go but Bob Morris of Alliance, who had hit the only two buckets Alliance scored in the period, dropped one from about 30 feet out to tie the score. At one time in the third period Kearney had held a 38-28 lead.

In the overtime Bud Pollard and Morris of Alliance scored. Then Clark Mattson of Kearney stole the ball and dribbled the length of the floor for a layin with 22 seconds left. Bill Beavers of Kearney blocked a pass from Mike Kosmicki of Alliance, but he dropped the ball and it was taken out of bounds. Kearney held the ball for the remaining seconds but couldn't get action.

Big Jim Hanson of Kearney had 21 points.

In the other game Scottsbluff upset second seeded McCook, 57-52 with a first half barrage which put the Bearcats in front 27-19 at the half.

Dick Knaub, who had a game total of 16 points, hit five times in six tries during the second period.

Cager Fined

Bill Johnson, center on the University of Nebraska basketball team, made a bad pass.

But Cage Coach Harry Good didn't bench him—Municipal Court Judge John Jacobson fined him $5.

The bad pass was made while Johnson was driving a car, and resulted in a traffic violation.

City Basketball

School of Commerce won by forfeit over Hy Gain; Havelock 36, Woodcrafts 21; Mayfair 54, C.Y.O. 28; Red Shield 28, Gas Company 23; Atomics 30, Urbans 25.

Girls' Volleyball

Elgins 25, Hickman 15; Telephones 24, Continentals 23; Stenards 19, Panama 13.

Wee Mouse Nips Bevo, Aurora Nips St. Mary's

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

YORK — The best-laid plans of mice and men go oft astray.

Robert Burns wrote that in his well-known poem "To A Mouse," written in Scotland in the 1700's.

Burns, who later invented the cigar but nonetheless retired out of pocket (no royalties), knew what he was talking about.

Howard Hoes, basketball coach at St. Mary's Cathedral High of Grand Island, knows what Burns meant. So does Francis Swoboda, St. Mary's high-scoring center.

The St. Mary's Ramblers figured as a darkhorse in the York Class B district tournament until Tuesday, the day before the tourney opened. That day Francis (Bevo) Swoboda, a 6-foot 3-inch 200-pounder, was laid low by a mouse.

Some prankster at the Grand Island parochial school had put a mouse in the desk of one of the schoolgirls. Good, clean fun.

By way of doing a favor, Bevo offered to get the mouse out of the desk.

Now, Burns spoke of the mouse as a "wee, sleekit, cowerin' timrous beastie." This wee, sleekit beastie of Bevo's was neither cowerin nor tim'rous.

It bit Bevo on the arm.

Infection set in and Bevo was sidelined for the tournament opener against Aurora. But the word was around that he would be able to play in the semifinals.

Without Bevo, St. Mary's didn't make the semifinals. The Ramblers lost a 59-58 decision to Aurora in the first round.

Even without Bevo the Ramblers looked good and were in the lead with 26 seconds to go. Aurora's Herb Roszhart made a basket to tie the score and then won the game with a free throw after the gun had sounded.

As far as the Ramblers, are concerned, that mouse was a rat.

'Do Or Die' Game Tonight For Rockets

It's do or die for Northeast tonight in the semifinal round of the Class A district basketball tournament at Nebraska Wesleyan.

The Rockets play Falls City at 7:30 p.m. The winner will be assured of a state tournament berth since semifinal victors in the four Class A regionals go to the big carnival.

Northeast blasted Nebraska City, 57-39, in the first round. Falls City drew a bye.

Falls City beat Northeast, 54-44, in the third game of the season. Since then the Rockets have developed into potential giant-killers. They could turn the tables tonight.

Northeast had an 8-7 record during the regular season. Falls City won 12 and lost four, slumping at the end after a rapid start.

Northeast has a brilliant state tournament tradition, and that tradition could have quite an effect on the Rockets tonight.

In Northeast's 12 years of existence, its basketball team has gone to the state tourney 11 times. Only in 1945 did a Rocket team fail to make the grade.

Thus the Rockets have made it to the big meet eight consecutive years, beginning in 1946. They have won the championship twice, in 1949 and 1950. They have been in the finals two other years, in 1942 and 1948.

Also, Ed Johnson has never coached a Rocket team that failed to make the state tournament. He took over as Northeast head coach in the 1950-51 season.

Seward To Final In York Tourney

YORK—Seward moved to the finals of the District Class B basketball tournament by walloping Aurora 66-26 in a semifinal game Thursday night.

The winners, led by Dick Cooley's 18 points, piled up a 31-16 halftime margin and kept pouring it on in the second half to pile up a 40 point margin at the final gun.

Hank Nachtigal led the losers with nine points.

In the second game Host York squeezed past Hebron 46-41 after piling up a 24-20 advantage in the first half. Bob Harry was high scorer for the winners with 15, while Darold Wulfekoetter got 13 for Hebron.

The Firing Line

by Norris Anderson, SPORTS EDITOR, THE STAR

There are certain familiar scenes at these Big Seven indoor track and field carnivals at the spacious Kansas City, Mo., auditorium.

First, is the sight of Kansas sweeping easily to title after title. Veteran observers see the Jayhawks dominate the conference for at least five more seasons.

Cliff Dale

Second, you go away thinking of the marvelous running prowess of Kansan Wes Santee and you wish to yourself that the young fellow wore his laurels a bit more modestly. Then you think again and decide: Maybe it's his cockiness that makes him such a wonder.

You think of how Husker Cliff Dale has been ruling the shot putters and how Oklahoma's Neville Price has reset the indoor and outdoor broad jump books.

Dale, who now holds two consecutive indoor crowns, is a product of plain hard work. Scaling only 185 pounds, he is small for a shot putter. Some of the past Husker weight greats like Sam Francis, Bob Mills, Dick Piderit or Paul Grimm, were over 210 pounds.

The Falls City senior, who also shines in the classroom, gets over the 49 foot mark by combining all of the little things, plus using more than a natural abundance of physical strength. His quest for improvement has paid steady dividends.

Price, who wears a sandy mustache and speaks with a clipped Oxford accent, is a native of East London, South Africa.

"Why did he come 10,000 miles to go to Oklahoma?" we asked Harold Keith, the astute Sooner publicity man. Keith offered an answer to that and added some more notes on the Big Seven broad jump king.

Price came all of those miles to attend Oklahoma because he loves track, loves traveling, wanted a good college education, wanted to learn something about radio and television broadcasting, wanted to learn the best American track methods so he can teach them in his homeland when he goes back to South Africa to coach.

He says the secret to good broadjumping is learning how to relax during the last three or four strides of the run to the board so you can gather yourself for the jump.

"You've got to be concentrating at all times," he maintains. "Just before you start down the runway, you review everything quickly in your head."

But mastering the run-up is hardest of all. "Some jumpers prefer to gamble and foul four or five times in their effort to get one good jump. Others will go to the other extreme and take off too far behind the board. I like to get an early jump of about 24-9 or 24-10 on the books, then start shooting."

Consistency is Price's greatest stock in trade. On 26 of 28 jumps his first two years, he surpassed 24 feet. Price has fouled but twice during his three-year competition at Oklahoma, both of them last summer in the NCAA meet at Lincoln where a young cyclone swirled around the takeoff board (on one of his fouls there he leaped 25-3 but was a quarter of an inch over the board).

The secret of hitting the front of the board is to be able to sprint at top speed before you ever take a jump in the pit.

"I really push myself hard in October, November and December getting the sprinting peak I want," says Price. "Every day I jog the hills of the golf course, run the stadium steps, do stretching exercises and do lots of sprinting, usually with Phil Beeler.

"Once I reach a 100-yard speed of about 9.8 seconds, all I have to do is maintain it all year and I'll get the same length of run in the broad jump."

Price never jumps for distance between meets although he may take a few 20-foot practice leaps under the eye of John Jacobs, Sooner coach. "In these I strive for a correct push-off from the board, hitting it with my body erect so I'll have my center of gravity directly beneath me, and concentrating on having my knee bent so I can spring higher.

"Jake is very good at detecting flaws in my form," says Price. "I like to have him watch me when I jump. He also advised me to use only two check marks, both three feet apart at the start of my run-up so I'll be free to relax that last three or four steps and concentrate on getting up. I found that very helpful."

Jack Hyland, voice of the Lincoln Chiefs, has just returned from a flying trip to Corpus Christi, Tex., where the Chiefs will open spring training in 13 days.

Jack looked over the ball park, home of the Corpus Christi Clippers of the Gulf Coast League, and he felt the climate.

His verdicts: climate, ideal; ball park, excellent.

"The infield is nice and green despite the Texas drouth," Jack told The Firing Line, "and they are watering it constantly. It seats 4,500, is 330 feet to the left and right field fences and 405 feet to the centerfield wall."

Lincoln will train with the Corpus Christi team, which also has a working agreement with the Milwaukee Braves.

Overhauling THE NEWS
By WALLY DeBROWN

Tax cuts have already been assured...but they don't take effect on last year's bite. So, if you haven't squared yourself with Uncle Sam yet, we'd better remind you that March 15th is breathing down our collars. The word "Tax" comes from the Latin word "taxare"...but a tax blank is still Greek to most of us.

You know, March is supposed to come in like a lion and go out like a lamb. Maybe that's because, in the middle of the month, we're sheared of our worldy goods. Not only that, but some folks try to pull the wool over the tax collector's eyes. That's as dangerous as juggling an atom bomb...and most of us try to avoid it by trying to do our best to fill out our tax forms properly. It's all part of being a citizen. Anyway, you can't take it with you. Ask any tax collector.

Times change. Vice-President Marshall once quipped, "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar." Today we'll all settle for a good five-cent cup of coffee. You don't have to settle for less than the best possible performance from your car. Our complete automotive service can put new spark in your car's response...whether it needs new spark plugs or a complete overhaul. Has Choice Of Dismissal Or Retirement

Holman May Try To Clear Name

NEW YORK (AP)—Stunned by the unexpected action of the board of higher education, Nat Holman, ousted basketball coach at the College of the City of New York Thursday considered an appeal and again sought a way to clear his name.

After a five-hour hearing, the board overruled its own trial committee and gave Holman his choice between dismissal without pay, as of Nov. 18, 1952, or filing an application for retirement within 30 days.

At the same time the board reprimanded Harry "Bobby" Sand, Holman's assistant, but recommended that he be reinstated. Both Sand and Holman had been under suspension for more than a year.

Holman, obviously shaken by the decision, refused to make any statement until he had time to study the finding fully.

"I'm flabbergasted," he said. "It's all-important that I clear my name. I thought that it had been cleared with the findings of the trial committee of three. So did everyone else.

"Now we'll have to do it all over again. It's in the hands of my lawyer. It's gone beyond me."

Holman's lawyer, James V. Hayes, said he was considering an appeal to state commissioner of education Louis Wilson.

The attorney charged that there were "irregularities" in the hearing, notably that former CCNY President Harry Wright, considered as a witness for Holman, had been allowed to sit in on the proceedings. Hayes also said that the board "obviously was defending itself."

Holman will have the support of a considerable number of CCNY alumni in pressing for an appeal. When he was suspended in 1952, an alumni group headed by Dr Gabriel Mason, principal of Abraham Lincoln High School in Brooklyn, organized a "fair play committee for Nat Holman." This group had expressed the fear that the inquiry would develop into a "quest for a scrapegoat."

It was believed that this was the first time the board had overruled the findings of its trial committee. After a long series of hearings, the committee voted 2-1 last week that Holman was guilty of nothing worse than errors in judgment and that he should be reinstated with full pay from the time of his suspension.

The committee also found Sand guilty of unbecoming conduct on two counts in connection with a letter he had written to Ed Warner, a CCNY player, regarding a "play for pay" trip to South America.

Birdie Tebbets Okays Players Cutting Years Off Their Age

By WHITNEY MARTIN

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — "That," Birdie Tebbetts said as a batter hit a high foul over the plate, "is what ran me out of active baseball. That, and the fact they kept moving second base farther away from me."

Birdie was standing behind the batting cage watching a few laggards taking their practice cuts. Along the outfield fence a coach was sending a squad of players through wind sprints. A sign painter was putting the finishing touches on a gasoline ad, and the runners glared at him balefully. The ad read "More Miles."

Tebbetts is a freshman manager in the majors, and admits he don't know from nothin,' as they say, about the National clubs against which his Cincinnati Reds will compete.

He could tell you in detail about the American League, though, as, man and boy, he spent more years than he cares to remember squatting behind the plate for various clubs, chirping away at batters in that high-frequency voice of his. His age is his own secret.

"I was still catching when I was over 40," he said. "Nobody knew it. My baseball age was 37. I'll never be more than 37.

'You can't blame players for cutting a few years off their ages if they can get by with it. It's what you can do that counts, but club owners go by the age in judging a player

"When Joe Cronin got me for the Red Sox from Detroit he may have had his doubts about my age, but he wasn't sure, so he took me in exchange for Rube Wagner, a young fellow.

"Hank Greenberg knew I wasn't young when he got me for Cleveland. There was an understanding I would be the No. 2 catcher under Jim Hegan. As I say, I was over 40, but when Hegan got hurt I went in there and caught every day

"With a catcher, age means nothing. The longer you catch the more experience you get, and as long as your arm holds out you can keep going. An infielder needs agility, and an outfielder must have speed. But all a catcher needs is an arm, and to know something about hitting.

"As I was saying, I don't know anything about this league. They tell me Brooklyn, and the Braves, and the Giants, and the Cardinals are good. I can't tell you. Brooklyn must have a sound club.

"Our club, I really believe, is potentially a good club. We have plenty of depth, and versatility, in the infield. Rocky Bridges can play second, or short, or third. Grady Hatton can play second or third.

"And in Roy McMillan we have the best shortstop in the country. That's what they tell me, anyway. As I say, I'm a stranger here. We could use more hitting in the infield, but we have Ted Kluszewski, and Gus Bell, and Jim Greengrass, and Wally Post who can hit a long ball.

"I hope we can move up in the standings. It depends a 'ot on how the young pitchers come through."

We glanced toward the outfield, and gave a start. If that wasn't old Satch Paige out there we were seeing things. The same shambling walk, the same floppy jacket, the same jerky, puppet-like movements. Birdie grinned.

"That's Willie Powell," he said. "He won 14 games for the last-place Charleston Club in the American Association, so I recommended we buy him. They all unconsciously imitate Old Satch."

If they can imitate his pitching they'll do all right.

Midland Cage Crew Racks Up Four Records

FREMONT — Coach Mark Haight's Midland College basketball squad set four school season records and compiled the best Midland basketball record in eight years as they won 10 and lost 12 this season.

The Warriors set a new season scoring mark, getting 1,561 points in 22 games. Last year's team had the previous mark with 1,435 points in 23 games. This year's squad also set an average game mark, with 70.9 points per game. Last year's squad had the previous record with 63.3 per game.

The 1953-54 Warriors set a third mark, getting 483 free throws, eight over the record of 475 last season, the previous high. The squad also set a new single game school record, beating York 105-60. The previous record was 104 points, set in 1928 in a 104-17 romp over Nebraska Central College.

The record of 13 wins and four losses of the 1945-46 team is the best mark for a Midland squad in recent years. The top all-time record was set in 1933-34 when the Midland cagers won 15 and lost one.

This season the Warriors downed six teams on their home floor, while losing to four. Road trips proved their downfall as they won only four and lost eight on other courts.

Marshall Farley and Larry Fuerst were the big offensive guns during the season, with both cagers scoring over 300 points. Farley, a sophomore of Missouri Valley, Ia., got 371 to top the scorers, and Fuerst, a junior of Wilcox, hit 356.

Four of this year's cagers will not return next season. They are Carroll Clausen, Dan Moore, Bob Hobel, and Dick Daubenspeck, who will graduate.

Chips Are Down In Hoosier-Illini Go

CHICAGO (AP)—First-place Indiana has the offensive edge, but Illinois rates better defensively as the two clash in a climactic finale which settles the Big Ten basketball championship at Bloomington, Ind., Saturday night.

If the Illini, who have yielded opponents an average of 68.2 in 13 games, should dump the Hoosiers, the conference championship will be shared by Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, each with an 11-3 record.

Indiana's Hoosiers, who started the season impressively but now have their backs against the wall, have been solved for an average of 70.3 enemy points per game.

On the other hand, conference statistics released Thursday, credit the Hoosiers with the league's best scoring average, 78.1, topping the Illini by 2.1. Iowa, already finished, had the best defensive record with an average yield of 65.8 for 14 games.

The big game at Bloomington also pits the league's two best individual scorers, Indiana's Don Schlundt with a 27.2 average and Illinois' John Kerr with 26.3. In total points, Schlundt leads by 12, 354 to 342, based on a record 140 free throws. Kerr has outscored the gangling Hoosier from the field, 126 goals to 107.

Church League

Trinity Lutheran won by forfeit over First United Presbyterian; Tabernacle Christian 27, St. Paul Methodist 25.

Coach Cites Wesleyan's Improvement

"They've come a long ways in just three short months."

That's about the best critical evaluation one could make of the Nebraska Wesleyan University basketball team which will represent Nebraska in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championships in Kansas City March 8-13.

For Dr. Irvin L. Peterson, the 34-year-old Plainsman mentor whose youthful appearance lends the lie to his duly recorded age, it was somewhat of a rebuilding job to replace the great 1953 outfit which had depended on towering Don Boldebuck to control the boards and dominate the scoring.

No shirker of a hard task, Peterson took the bull by the horns and developed an outfit that took three of six December games, and then ran up a skein of 15 out of 16 contests.

Perhaps the top performance enroute to the NAIA championships was a convincing 81 to 74 win over Omaha University, vanquisher of a tough Wayne of Detroit five among other top foes.

Jim Lightbody and Scotty Willoughby, a pair of diminutive but dependable senior speedsters, sparked the Methodist upsurge throughout the season. They received excellent support from Paul Fredstrom and Foster McGuire who became eligible at the start of the second semester, and from a potent bench which responded offensively and defensively whenever needed.

Landy Downcast In 4:05.9 Mile

MELBOURNE (AP)—Bitterly disappointed over his failure to approach the four-minute mile, John Landy said Thursday that he intends to keep on running and will know within a week about his projected trip to Europe and the United States.

Landy was timed in 4:05.9 for the mile Thursday in a special twilight meeting at Olympic Park. Although this was the eighth-best time for the mile and the fifth time he had broken 4:06 this season, he was downcast about his performance

"I just did not have it in me. Again I have no excuses," Landy said.

The twilight meet had been set up to give Landy a shot at the magic 4-minute mark and Gunder Haegg's world record of 4:01.4 under ideal weather conditions, it didn't turn out that way. The weather was bleak with winds up to 20 miles an hour.

With Len McRae and John Douglas setting the pace for the first half mile, Landy was timed in 57.6 seconds for the first quarter, 1:59.3 for the half mile and 3.03 for three quarters. He won the race by 70 yards with John Marks second and T. Worrell third.

Saddler Winner

AKRON, O. (AP)—Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler scored a weird victory Thursday night when Charlie Slaughter of Elizabeth, N. J., suddenly quit in the fourth round and walked back to his corner.

The outcome was scored as a technical knockout at 1:20 of the fourth.

Fairbury JC Wins; Norfolk Defeated

FAIRBURY (AP)—Fairbury Junior College, trailing almost from the start, pushed ahead of Graceland College of Des Moines in the last two minutes and won a region 11 junior college tourney game Thursday night, 67-62.

Grand View of Des Moines was an easy winner over Norfolk, 76-55.

Graceland led Fairbury, 33-27, at the half and Fairbury did not make a serious bid until the final quarter. The Nebraskans took a 63-60 lead after breaking a 60-all tie, saw the margin shrink to 63-62, then sailed ahead to win.

Leland Thurine was the evenings' top scorer. He collected 25 of Fairbury's total.

Finals, with Grand View matched against Fairbury for first place, will be played Friday night.

Carter 4-1 Favorite To Keep Lightweight Title

By MURAY ROSE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Lightweight Champion Jimmy Carter, winner of his last three title defenses by knockouts, is a 4-1 favorite to whip rought Paddy DeMarco in their 15-round title fight in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Although the 26-year-old challenger from Brooklyn has beaten most of the top 135-pounders, he is given only the slightest chance to upset the 30-year-old champion, a hard man to down when his crown is on the line.

There is practically no betting on the outcome itself. What little wagering there is has been on whether the Brooklyn "Billygoat" can go the full 15 rounds. The flat-nosed, poker-faced Carter is a 7-5 choice to stop his aggressive opponent.

Paddy has been stopped only once—on cuts by Sandy Saddler—in a 9-year pro career of 80 fights but he never has fought more than 10 rounds.

Although both gladiators are New Yorkers, the title fray hasn't caused much of a stir here. A crowd of about 7,000 is expected to pay around $30,000 at reserved seat prices ranging from $2.50 to $10.

The bout, starting at 9 p.m., CST, will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) locally and nationally.

DeMarco, ranked fourth as the result of his victory over Ralph Dupas Jan. 2, scoffs at the odds. He is confident he has the style to beat Carter and the stamina to go 15 rounds. A light hitter with only seven kayos to his credit, he knows full well he'll have to go the route to win.

"I'm not worried about going 15," said Paddy. "Many a time I've felt full of fight after a 10 rounder. I know I could have gone 15 easily and I'm ready to do it against Carter.

"All I hope is that he tries to bomb me out with his right. He's slow and I'll make him hustle. I've been waiting a long time for this chance and I'm not going to blow it now."

"I just hope he comes in swinging like he says he intends to," said carter. "I have to chase most of my opponents. I'll meet him with the right kind of punches."

Carter, as usual, declined to make a prediction. Manager Willie Ketchum and Trainer Sammy Cherin said Jimmy would win on a kayo.

In his three defenses last year, Carter stopped Tommy Collins in 4, Georgie Araujo in 13 and Armand Savoie in 5. This will be his ninth title fight including his 14th round TKO of Ike Williams when he won the crown nearly three years ago. Carter's record is 65-16-8 with 26 knockouts. He was stopped once, on cuts by Charley (Cabey) Lewis seven years ago.

DeMarco, who seemed to have reached his peak two years ago, has a better over-all record (67-11-2). He has stopped seven foes. In the last year he split in eight fights. He outpointed Dupas, Carlos Chavez, Savoie and Henry Davis and lost to Tony DeMarco (no relation), Orlando Zulueta, Johnny Gonsalves and Araujo. All four defeats were by split decisions.

A strong, awkward fighter, DeMarco bores in head down for quick flurries. He manages to butt occasionally and has been called "Billygoat" for these tactics.

The fight will be scored by rounds. A supplementary point system also is used to break ties. The winner of each round gets from 1 to 4 points and the loser none. The referee and two judges will be announced at fight time

Rubirosa Will Pilot Racer In Grand Prix

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Porfirio Rubirosa, suave leader of international cafe society, will be at the wheel of a swift red Italian Lancia when the world's best sports car drivers roar away from the starting line in Sunday's 12-hour Grand Prix of endurance race.

Rubirosa, now in Palm Beach honeymooning with his bride, Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, was named Thursday by Ettore Lancia jr., a top European manufacturer, to pilot one of the four sleek racers he has entered in the sebring test.

It will be the same car that Juan Fangio of Argentina, the 1951 world sports car racing champion, drove to victory last November in the gruelling 1,912-mile Mexican road race. Fangio will be at the wheel of another Lancia in the race here.

Rubirosa's nomination came as a surprise. A hurried check of sports car racing records showed he has never placed in a major event.

His secretary, however, said he drove in the 24-hour International Grand Prix of Endurance in Le Mans, France, in 1951, and piloted an Italian Ferrari in a 12-hour race last July at Rheims, France. The secretary said he was still around at the finish of both races.

The playboy-diplomat himself was reported not available for comment. He was reported to be playing polo in Palm Beach.

Rubirosa made the headlines last week when it was rumored that he left his honeymoon home and flew to Phoenix, Ariz., to visit an old flame, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor. He denied it, declaring he had gone to his farm in the Dominican Republic.

The Lancias are among the most formidable contenders in the Sebring race, the only event in the United States in which points are given toward the world sports car championship trophy. It will be run over a 5-2-mile course laid out over the abandoned Hendricks Air Force base.

Lancia is here to personally supervise his eight-man driving team headed by Alberto Ascari of Italy, the world champion driver of 1952 and 1953.

Has Choice Of Dismissal Or Retirement

Holman May Try To Clear Name

NEW YORK (AP)—Stunned by the unexpected action of the board of higher education, Nat Holman, ousted basketball coach at the College of the City of New York Thursday considered an appeal and again sought a way to clear his name.

After a five-hour hearing, the board overruled its own trial committee and gave Holman his choice between dismissal without pay, as of Nov. 18, 1952, or filing an application for retirement within 30 days.

At the same time the board reprimanded Harry "Bobby" Sand, Holman's assistant, but recommended that he be reinstated. Both Sand and Holman had been under suspension for more than a year.

Holman, obviously shaken by the decision, refused to make any statement until he had time to study the finding fully.

"I'm flabbergasted," he said. "It's all-important that I clear my name. I thought that it had been cleared with the findings of the trial committee of three. So did everyone else.

"Now we'll have to do it all over again. It's in the hands of my lawyer. It's gone beyond me."

Holman's lawyer, James V. Hayes, said he was considering an appeal to state commissioner of education Louis Wilson.

The attorney charged that there were "irregularities" in the hearing, notably that former CCNY President Harry Wright, considered as a witness for Holman, had been allowed to sit in on the proceedings. Hayes also said that the board "obviously was defending itself."

Holman will have the support of a considerable number of CCNY alumni in pressing for an appeal. When he was suspended in 1952, an alumni group headed by Dr. Gabriel Mason, principal of Abraham Lincoln High School in Brooklyn, organized a "fair play committee for Nat Holman." This group had expressed the fear that the inquiry would develop into a "quest for a scrapegoat."

It was believed that this was the first time the board had overruled the findings of its trial committee. After a long series of hearings, the committee voted 2-1 last week that Holman was guilty of nothing worse than errors in judgment and that he should be reinstated with full pay from the time of his suspension.

The committee also found Sand guilty of unbecoming conduct on two counts in connection with a letter he had written to Ed Warner, a CCNY player, regarding a "play for pay" trip to South America.

Birdie Tebbets Okays Players Cutting Years Off Their Age

By WHITNEY MARTIN

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — "That," Birdie Tebbetts said as a batter hit a high foul over the plate, "is what ran me out of active baseball. That, and the fact they kept moving second base farther away from me."

Birdie was standing behind the batting cage watching a few laggards taking their practice cuts. Along the outfield fence a coach was sending a squad of players through wind sprints. A sign paintter was putting the finishing touches on a gasoline ad, and the runners glared at him balefully. The ad read "More Miles."

Tebbetts is a freshman manager in the majors, and admits he don't know from nothin,' as they say, about the National clubs against which his Cincinnati Reds will compete.

He could tell you in detail about the American League, though, as, man and boy, he spent more years than he cares to remember squatting behind the plate for various clubs, chirping away at batters in that high-frequency voice of his. His age is his own secret.

"I was still catching when I was over 40," he said. "Nobody knew it. My baseball age was 37. I'll never be more than 37.

"You can't blame players for cutting a few years off their ages if they can get by with it. It's what you can do that counts, but club owners go by the age in judging a player

"When Joe Cronin got me for the Red Sox from Detroit he may have had his doubts about my age, but he wasn't sure, so he took me in exchange for Rube Wagner, a young fellow.

"Hank Greenberg knew I wasn't young when he got me for Cleveland. There was an understanding I would be the No. 2 catcher under Jim Hegan. As I say, I was over 40, but when Hegan got hurt I went in there and caught every day

"With a catcher, age means nothing. The longer you catch the more experience you get, and as long as your arm holds out you can keep going. An infielder needs agility, and an outfielder must have speed. But all a catcher needs is an arm, and to know something about hitting.

"As I was saying, I don't know anything about this league. They tell me Brooklyn, and the Braves, and the Giants, and the Cardinals are good. I can't tell you. Brooklyn must have a sound club.

"Our club, I really believe, is potentially a good club. We have plenty of depth, and versatility, in the infield. Rocky Bridges can play second, or short, or third. Grady Hatton can play second or third.

"And in Roy McMillan we have the best shortstop in the country. That's what they tell me, anyway. As I say, I'm a stranger here. We could use more hitting in the infield, but we have Ted Kluszewski, and Gus Bell, and Jim Greengrass, and Wally Post who can hit a long ball.

"I hope we can move up in the standings. It depends a 'ot on how the young pitchers come through."

We glanced toward the outfield, and gave a start. If that wasn't old Satch Paige out there we were seeing things. The same shambling walk, the same floppy jacket, the same jerky, puppet-like movements. Birdie grinned.

"That's Willie Powell," he said. "He won 14 games for the last-place Charleston Club in the American Association, so I recommended we buy him. They all unconsciously imitate Old Satch."

If they can imitate his pitching they'll do all right.

Midland Cage Crew Racks Up Four Records

FREMONT — Coach Mark Haight's Midland College basketball squad set four school season records and compiled the best Midland basketball record in eight years as they won 10 and lost 12 this season.

The Warriors set a new season scoring mark, getting 1,561 points in 22 games. Last year's team had the previous mark with 1,435 points in 23 games. This year's squad also set an average game mark, with 70.9 points per game. Last year's squad had the previous record with 63.3 per game.

The 1953-54 Warriors set a third mark, getting 483 free throws, eight over the record of 475 last season, the previous high. The squad also set a new single game school record, beating York 105-60. The previous record was 104 points, set in 1928 in a 104-17 romp over Nebraska Central College.

The record of 13 wins and four losses of the 1945-46 team is the best mark for a Midland squad in recent years. The top all-time record was set in 1933-34 when the Midland cagers won 15 and lost one.

This season the Warriors downed six teams on their home floor, while losing to four. Road trips proved their downfall as they won only four and lost eight on other courts.

Marshall Farley and Larry Fuerst were the big offensive guns during the season, with both cagers scoring over 300 points. Farley, a sophomore of Missouri Valley, Ia., got 371 to top the scorers, and Fuerst, a junior of Wilcox, hit 356.

Four of this year's cagers will not return next season. They are Carroll Clausen, Dan Moore, Bob Hobel, and Dick Daubenspeck, who will graduate.

Chips Are Down In Hoosier-Illini Go

CHICAGO (AP)—First-place Indiana has the offensive edge, but Illinois rates better defensively as the two clash in a climactic finale which settles the Big Ten basketball championship at Bloomington, Ind., Saturday night.

If the Illini, who have yielded opponents an average of 68.2 in 13 games, should dump the Hoosiers, the conference championship will be shared by Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, each with an 11-3 record.

Indiana's Hoosiers, who started the season impressively but now have their backs against the wall, have been solved for an average of 70.3 enemy points per game.

On the other hand, conference statistics released Thursday, credit the Hoosiers with the league's best scoring average, 78.1, topping the Illini by 2.1. Iowa, already finished, had the best defensive record with an average yield of 65.8 for 14 games.

The big game at Bloomington also pits the league's two best individual scorers, Indiana's Don Schlundt with a 27.2 average and Illinois' John Kerr with 26.3. In total points, Schlundt leads by 12, 354 to 342, based on a record 140 free throws. Kerr has outscored the gangling Hoosier from the field, 126 goals to 107.

Coach Cites Wesleyan's Improvement

"They've come a long ways in just three short months."

That's about the best critical evaluation one could make of the Nebraska Wesleyan University basketball team which will represent Nebraska in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championships in Kansas City March 8-13.

For Dr. Irvin L. Peterson, the 34-year-old Plainsman mentor whose youthful appearance lends the lie to his duly recorded age, it was somewhat of a rebuilding job to replace the great 1953 outfit which had depended on towering Don Boldebuck to control the boards and dominate the scoring.

No shirker of a hard task, Peterson took the bull by the horns and developed an outfit that took three of six December games, and then ran up a skein of 15 out of 16 contests.

Perhaps the top performance enroute to the NAIA championships was a convincing 81 to 74 win over Omaha University, vanquisher of a tough Wayne of Detroit five among other top foes.

Jim Lightbody and Scotty Willoughby, a pair of diminutive but dependable senior speedsters, sparked the Methodist upsurge throughout the season. They received excellent support from Paul Fredstrom and Foster McGuire who became eligible at the start of the second semester, and from a potent bench which responded offensively and defensively whenever needed.

Landy Downcast In 4:05.9 Mile

MELBOURNE (AP)—Bitterly disappointed over his failure to approach the four-minute mile, John Landy said Thursday that he intends to keep on running and will know within a week about his projected trip to Europe and the United States.

Landy was timed in 4:05.9 for the mile Thursday in a special twilight meeting at Olympic Park. Although this was the eighth-best time for the mile and the fifth time he had broken 4:06 this season, he was downcast about his performance.

"I just did not have it in me. Again I have no excuses," Landy said.

The twilight meet had been set up to give Landy a shot at the magic 4-minute mark and Gunder Haegg's world record of 4:01.4 under ideal weather conditions, it didn't turn out that way. The weather was bleak with winds up to 20 miles an hour.

With Len McRae and John Douglas setting the pace for the first half mile, Landy was timed in 57.6 seconds for the first quarter, 1:59.3 for the half mile and 3:03 for three quarters. He won the race by 70 yards with John Marks second and T. Worrell third.

Saddler Winner

AKRON, O. (AP) — Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler scored a weird victory Thursday night when Charlie Slaughter of Elizabeth, N. J., suddenly quit in the fourth round and walked back to his corner.

The outcome was scored as a technical knockout at 1:20 of the fourth.

Fairbury JC Wins; Norfolk Defeated

FAIRBURY (AP)—Fairbury Junior College, trailing almost from the start, pushed ahead of Graceland College of Des Moines in the last two minutes and won a region 11 junior college tourney game Thursday night, 67-62.

Grand View of Des Moines was an easy winner over Norfolk, 76-55.

Graceland led Fairbury, 33-27, at the half and Fairbury did not make a serious bid until the final quarter. The Nebraskans took a 63-60 lead after breaking a 60-all tie, saw the margin shrink to 63-62, then sailed ahead to win.

Leland Thurine was the evenings' top scorer. He collected 25 of Fairbury's total.

Finals, with Grand View matched against Fairbury for first place, will be played Friday night.

Carter 4-1 Favorite To Keep Lightweight Title

By MURAY ROSE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Lightweight Champion Jimmy Carter, winner of his last three title defenses by knockouts, is a 4-1 favorite to whip rought Paddy DeMarco in their 15-round title fight in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Although the 26-year-old challenger from Brooklyn has beaten most of the top 135-pounders, he is given only the slightest chance to upset the 30-year-old champion, a hard man to down when his crown is on the line.

There is practically no betting on the outcome itself. What little wagering there is has been on whether the Brooklyn "Billygoat" can go the full 15 rounds. The flat-nosed, poker-faced Carter is a 7-5 choice to stop his aggressive opponent.

Paddy has been stopped only once—on cuts by Sandy Saddler—in a 9-year pro career of 80 fights but he never has fought more than 10 rounds.

Although both gladiators are New Yorkers, the title fray hasn't caused much of a stir here. A crowd of about 7,000 is expected to pay around $30,000 at reserved seat prices ranging from $2.50 to $10.

The bout, starting at 9 p.m., CST, will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) locally and nationally.

DeMarco, ranked fourth as the result of his victory over Ralph Dupas Jan. 2, scoffs at the odds. He is confident he has the style to beat Carter and the stamina to go 15 rounds. A light hitter with only seven kayos to his credit, he knows full well he'll have to go the route to win.

"I'm not worried about going 15," said Paddy. "Many a time I've felt full of fight after a 10 rounder. I know I could have gone 15 easily and I'm ready to do it against Carter.

"All I hope is that he tries to bomb me out with his right. He's slow and I'll make him hustle. I've been waiting a long time for this chance and I'm not going to blow it now."

"I just hope he comes in swinging like he says he intends to," said carter. "I have to chase most of my opponents. I'll meet him with the right kind of punches."

Carter, as usual, declined to make a prediction. Manager Willie Ketchum and Trainer Sammy Cherin said Jimmy would win on a kayo.

In his three defenses last year, Carter stopped Tommy Collins in 4, Georgie Araujo in 13 and Armand Savoie in 5. This will be his ninth title fight including his 14th round TKO of Ike Williams when he won the crown nearly three years ago. Carter's record is 65-16-8 with 26 knockouts. He was stopped once, on cuts by Charley (Cabey) Lewis seven years ago.

DeMarco, who seemed to have reached his peak two years ago, has a better over-all record (67-11-2). He has stopped seven foes. In the last year he split in eight fights. He outpointed Dupas, Carlos Chavez, Savoie and Henry Davis and lost to Tony DeMarco (no relation), Orlando Zulueta, Johnny Gonsalves and Araujo. All four defeats were by split decisions.

A strong, awkward fighter, DeMarco bores in head down for quick flurries. He manages to butt occasionally and has been called "Billygoat" for these tactics.

The fight will be scored by rounds. A supplementary point system also is used to break ties. The winner of each round gets from 1 to 4 points and the loser none. The referee and two judges will be announced at fight time.

Rubirosa Will Pilot Racer In Grand Prix

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Porfirio Rubirosa, suave leader of international cafe society, will be at the wheel of a swift red Italian Lancia when the world's best sports car drivers roar away from the starting line in Sunday's 12-hour Grand Prix of endurance race.

Rubirosa, now in Palm Beach honeymooning with his bride, Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, was named Thursday by Ettore Lancia jr., a top European manufacturer, to pilot one of the four sleek racers he has entered in the sebring test.

It will be the same car that Juan Fangio of Argentina, the 1951 world sports car racing champion, drove to victory last November in the gruelling 1,912-mile Mexican road race. Fangio will be at the wheel of another Lancia in the race here.

Rubirosa's nomination came as a surprise. A hurried check of sports car racing records showed he has never placed in a major event.

His secretary, however, said he drove in the 24-hour International Grand Prix of Endurance in Le Mans, France, in 1951, and piloted an Italian Ferrari in a 12-hour race last July at Rheims, France. The secretary said he was still around at the finish of both races.

The playboy-diplomat himself was reported not available for comment. He was reported to be playing polo in Palm Beach.

Rubirosa made the headlines last week when it was rumored that he left his honeymoon home and flew to Phoenix, Ariz., to visit an old flame, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor. He denied it, declaring he had gone to his farm in the Dominican Republic.

The Lancias are among the most formidable contenders in the Sebring race, the only event in the United States in which points are given toward the world sports car championship trophy. It will be run over a 5-2-mile course laid out over the abandoned Hendricks Air Force base.

Lancia is here to personally supervise his eight-man driving team headed by Alberto Ascari of Italy, the world champion driver of 1952 and 1953.

Rare Operation Gives Woman Almost Normal Sight

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two corneas from eyes of two Army men have been successfully transplanted, in a rare operation, to restore virtually normal sight to a woman whose vision was a blur from childhood.

Mrs. Samuel B. Jones, 40, of Augusta, Ga., one of the few persons ever to have such an operation on both eyes, said Thursday that her vision had been so bad "that I could pass my own mother on the street and wouldn't recognize her."

But now, she said, she can discern people's features clearly and "see trees and leaves for what they are rather than just a blur of green."

She owes it all, she said, to the skill of Walter Reed Army Hospital surgeons, and to the eye corneas "donated" by an Air Force colonel and an Army master sergeant—each of whom had one otherwise healthy eye removed because of a tumor behind it.

The cornea is the normally-transplanted thin covering over the iris and pupil of the eye. Sometimes people can become partially or completely blind in that eye if the cornea becomes "clouded" from disease or injury.

In Mrs. Jones' case, both eyes were affected by a congenital condition called "keratoconus" in which the normally nearly-flat cornea became cone-shaped.

Completed High School

Wife of an Army chaplain now stationed in Munich, Germany—whom she hasn't seen since the two successive operations on her eyes last July and last January — Mrs. Jones told this story at a news conference at Walter Reed Hospital:

Her sight first began to fail when she was nine years old.

Eye glasses were prescribed, but they didn't help.

She managed to complete high school and take the equivalent of two years' college training "by holding books and papers right close to my eyes." When she was 20, a Nashville, Tenn., doctor, Dr. Carroll Smith, diagnosed her case for what it was.

Got Driver's License

The doctor operated on the worst eye, the right one, smoothing out the cone-shaped corena to some degree so that for about five years, the sight improved.

Later, Mrs. Jones began wearing "contact lenses" which temporarily helped her to such a degree that she got an automobile driver's license.

However, objects at any considerable distance still were a "blur," and finally, when she entered Walter Reed in July, 1953, she had no vision at all in her right eye and poor vision in the left.

She now has 20/20 or normal vision in the right eye with the aid of glasses and 20/40, which is close to normal, without glasses. The left eye, second to be operated on, is expected to yield fully-normal vision, at least with the aid of glasses.

Airman Brings Racial Suit

A Lincoln Air Force Base airman, who allegedly was told that he could not rent accomodations, has brought a $5,000 suit in Lancaster District Court against the Ring Court Trailer Park owners, charging racial discrimination.

AIC Robert J. Johnson, a Negro airman from Baltimore, Md., names as defendants in his suit, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Ring, owners of a cabin camp and trailer park at 1802 West O.

Johnson reported to the Lincoln air base for duty on Feb. 15 from another base and inquiring about quarters for himself and his wife, was given a card of the defendant's advertising their facilities, according to his petition.

Applying that evening at the trailer camp's office for a cabin, he alleges he was denied accomodations.

He charges that the defendant's action thereby denied him "full and equal enjoyment of accomodations, advantages facilities and privileges of the business establishment," contrary to Nebraska's civil rights statutes.

Nebraska's civil rights law in Sec. 20-101 provides "All persons within this state shall be entitled to full and equal enjoyment of accomodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, restaurant, public conveyances, barber shops, theatres and other places of amusement, subject only to the conditions and limitation established by law and application alike to every person."

Johnson is a veteran of three-and-a-half years of Air Force service. The suit was filed by Attorney Lloyd Chapman of Lincoln.

Bus Hearing Set

The Railway Commission has scheduled a hearing for March 10 at the courthouse in Fremont on the request of Elvin E. Harley's Blue Star Line of Fremont for permission to discontinue permanently bus service between Oakland, Lyons, Bancroft and Pender.

Later, Mrs. Jones began wearing "contact lenses" which temporarily helped her to such a degree that she got an automobile driver's license.

However, objects at any considerable distance still were a "blur," and finally, when she entered Walter Reed in July, 1953, she had no vision at all in her right eye and poor vision in the left.

She now has 20/20 or normal vision in the right eye with the aid of glasses and 20/40, which is close to normal, without glasses. The left eye, second to be operated on, is expected to yield fully-normal vision, at least with the aid of glasses.

Airman Brings Racial Suit

A Lincoln Air Force Base airman, who allegedly was told that he could not rent accomodations, has brought a $5,000 suit in Lancaster District Court against the Ring Court Trailer Park owners, charging racial discrimination.

A1C Robert J. Johnson, a Negro airman from Baltimore, Md., names as defendants in his suit, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Ring, owners of a cabin camp and trailer park at 1802 West O.

Johnson reported to the Lincoln air base for duty on Feb. 15 from another base and inquiring about quarters for himself and his wife, was given a card of the defendant's advertising their facilities, according to his petition.

Applying that evening at the trailer camp's office for a cabin, he alleges he was denied accomodations.

He charges that the defendant's action thereby denied him "full and equal enjoyment of accomodations, advantages ,facilities and privileges of the business establishment," contrary to Nebraska's civil rights statutes.

Nebraska's civil rights law in Sec. 20-101 provides "All persons within this state shall be entitled to full and equal enjoyment of accomodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, restaurant, public conveyances, barber shops, theatres and other places of amusement, subject only to the conditions and limitation established by law and application alike to every person."

Johnson is a veteran of three-and-a-half years of Air Force service. The suit was filed by Attorney Lloyd Chapman of Lincoln.

Farm Income Averages $882; Non-Farm Population $1,898

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported Thursday that the income of the farm population last year averaged $882 for each person compared with an average of $1,898 for the non-farm population.

These figures were said to represent a decrease of $23 from 1952 for the farm population and an increase of $56 for the non-farm population. The record average for the farm population —$986—was said to have been reached in 1951.

Last year's $1,898 average was reported to be the highest on record for the non-farm population. The decline in the farm income reflected lower farm product prices.

Total Income Record

The total income of the farm population from all sources was reported at $20,466,000,000 last year compared with $22,458,000,000 in 1952 and with the record of $23,700,000,000 in 1951.

The total income of the non-farm population was reported at a record $259,099,000,000 last year.

The reduction in the farm population income last year was about 8 8 per cent on an overall basis, but only about 3 per cent on an individual average basis. The number of persons living on farms last year was smaller than the year before.

Included in the income figures for the farm population was the value of farm products used in the family home, the rental value of farm dwellings and returns from non-farm sources, such as outside investments, wages for non-farm work and the like.

The department said farm operators, as distinguished from farm laborers and other non-farm operators included in the farm population, realized a net income of $12,802,000,000 in 1952 and with a record high of $15,644,000,000 in 1951.

Farm production expenses were reported at $22,218,000,000 last year compared with $23,027,000,000 in 1952 and $23,448,000,000 in 1951.

The department said the inventory value of crops and livestock held on farms declined $675,000,000 last year compared with an increase in value of $654,000,000 in 1952.

The average net income for the nation's farms was put at $2.212 last year compared with $2,557 in 1952 and with a record of $2,884 in 1948.

Farmers' cash receipts from marketings last year were estimated at 31 billion dollars, 4 per cent less than in 1952, which was the record high.

Bidding Higher At Farm Sales

Lincoln Star Special

DAVID CITY, Neb. — The sale prices of two recent Butler County land sales have been announced by the auctioneers. The 160-acre farm of the Henry Minick estate, west of David City, sold for $254.50 an acre. Richard Eller was the purchaser. A crowd of about 400 persons attended the sale held at the farm.

The land sale to settle the estate of Joseph and Sophia Dvorak brought a total of $33,597.50 for the 365 acres. The property was divided into three separate tracts and sold to three separate buyers at an average price of about $92 per acre.

The auctioneers indicated also that bidding at all farm sales has been up as compared with last fall. Good machinery, equipment, and livestock are bringing good prices. At the Hickstein sale near Surprise, for instance, six milk cows sold for over $200 each with the top cow netting $252.

Assessment "Quotas" For Counties Considered By Tax Commissioner

State Tax Commissioner George Peterson said Thursday his is considering the possibility of working out assessment "quotas" for the counties.

It will take two or three weeks to work it out, and we may not get it done in time, but we'd like to," he commented.

Assessment day is next Wednesday, March 10, and the assessment period closes April 20.

Peterson said he discussed the matter with some of the assessors and "they seemed to like the idea."

He recalled a similar chart was worked up in 1952.

"I think that's what started some of the agitation about taxes," Peterson continued.

Nothing was done about working up such a table last year, and time had not allowed work on one this year until now. Peterson pointed out that he was without a deputy for a few months last fall, until Wilber Houtchens of Kearney took the post.

"It's may idea," Peterson said, "and when I talked to the governor about it, he went along."

Peterson said the matter was discussed informally at a meeting this week of the State Board of Equalization, of which he is a member.

He emphasized that the figures would be only estimates, however, of what property in various counties would add up to.

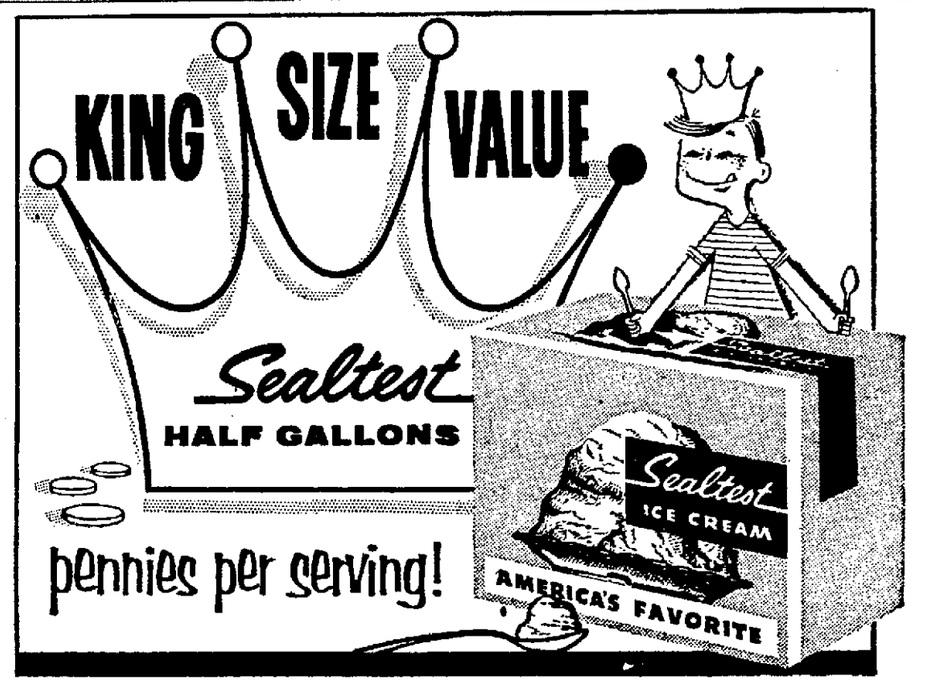

"It would have no legal effect. It would only be a sort of a guide to the assessors," he emphasized.

GOP Drops Plans For A Dixie Drive

Ike Not On Ballot; Will Concentrate On Cities

WASHINGTON (INS) — Republican leaders were reliably reported Thursday to have dropped plans for a major drive in the Democratic "Solid South" and will concentrate on the big cities in their battle to win decisive control of Congress this November.

The decision, marking a basic realignment of GOP strategy, is said to be founded on the realization that with President Eisenhower himself not on the ballot, there is little chance this year to capitalize on Republican gains made in Dixie in 1952.

Drive Originally Planned

In the presidential election that year, Mr. Eisenhower captured the Southern states of Florida, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia, which have always been considered safely in the Democratic column. In addition, Virginia sent three Republicans to Congress.

With that almost unprecedented experience behind them, GOP leaders had originally intended to make an attempt at picking up more congressional seats in the South this year.

They considered that by working hard below the Mason-Dixon line, they might increase their margin in the House—which now consists of 219 Republicans, 215 Democrats and one Independent—and in the Senate, where they are actually outnumbered by the Democrats, 48 to 47, with one Independent.

Retain Seats

But, under the new plan, the Republicans will bend their major efforts toward retaining the seats they hold in the 83rd Congress and in picking up additional strength in those thickly-crowded population centers now represented by Democrats.

While the party leaders are convinced that Mr. Eisenhower's personal popularity throughout the nation is still great, they are said to have come to the unhappy conclusion that his lustre cannot be expected to rub off on every GOP candidate.

Many Southern Democratic leaders who destrted "the house of their fathers" to support Mr. Eisenhower in 1952—partly as a gesture of defiance at ex-President Truman—have frankly explained to GOP strategists that they still consider themselves Democrats.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Most U. S. government bonds bounced to record 1953-54 highs Thursday as the treasury announced plans to raise 1½ billion dollars cash with a short term note. The corporate bond market also advanced.

Throughout the day reports filtered through Wall Street that the government had temporarily abandoned plans to raise new funds via a long term bond. But the actual treasury announcement did not come until the close of business.

Meanwhile, top grade utilities and selected railroads led the corporate bond market upward. Industrials were irregular. Trading turned cautious and volume declined to $3,332,000 par value from $3,852,000 Wednesday.

German, Yugoslav and Greek dollar bonds lost ground. Japanese items were narrowly mixed.

Stocks End Higher After Irregularity

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weathered some early selling influence Thursday and closed higher, but there was little vigor in the performance.

The market on average is currently in new high ground for the past year. At that level it is within a short distance of establishing a new high for nearly 24 years. The present mark was set 14 months ago.

Considerable irregularity was produced by Wednesday's market, and that persisted Thursday after a lower opening. In the afternoon the market turned ahead and closed quietly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 50 cents at $115.50, only 90 cents away from the 1953-54 high established Jan. 4 of last year, the best since June of 1930.

Volume dwindled on the rise and came to 1,830,000 shares. To make a technical point, that total compares unfavorably when placed against the 2,240,000 shares traded Wednesday with the market down on average.

The general tone of the American Stock Exchange was mixed with trading amounting to 600,000 shares as compared with 550,000 trade Wednesday.

Old Crop Soybeans Set Six-Year High

CHICAGO (AP)—Old crop soybean futures rushed on up the Board of Trade Thursday, setting new six year highs, even though the rest of the market faltered and ended lower.

Soybeans showed some hesitancy during the morning, after opening on gains of several cents, but this was soon overcome. Final prices were a little under the day's best levels. The May contract touched $3.59¾, best price for any soybean future since 1948.

Old crop soybeans closed 6¾-7¾ higher while the new crop months were ¾ lower to 1 cent higher. Wheat finished ⅛-1⅜ lower, corn ½ to 1 cent lower, oats ½ lower to ¼ higher, rye 1 to 1½ lower and lard 3 cents lower to 18 cents a hundred pounds higher.

While the statistical situation remained the major prop for old crop soybeans, the market gathered some strength Thursday from the action of cash soybean oil and soybean meal. Both sold at new 1954 highs. bean oil 13 cents a pound and bean meal at $54.00 to $84.50 a ton.

The main rise in soybeans followed an announcement that the Foreign Operations Administration had granted $2,500,000 to Formosa and $701,000 to Korea to buy American soybeans.

During this week old crop soybean futures have advanced 18 to 23 cents a bushel. Compared with the seasonal lows set in August they are up $1.12¾ to $1.19¾ a bushel. E. F. Hutton & Co., commission firm, said, "The soybean market is proving to be the most dynamic bull market in grain history."

Wheat had an easier trend from the start. This grain was subjected to little profit taking, part of which apparently was induced by the fact that the Commodity Credit Corp. had withdrawn some of its red wheat from the "Mothball Fleet" for shipment to Yugoslavia.

The CCC has large stocks of red wheat and it was felt that additional sales to foreign countries may come from these supplies rather than from private trade sources. The government stocks are not hedged in the futures market, which means there is no buying in futures against export sales of the cash grain.

Corn also was subjected to a little profit taking. Cash receipts were not unusually heavy but shipping demand from Chicago to the east is very small. More corn soon will be arriving as purchases on a to-arrive basis have expanded sharply this week with reopening of the Illinois Waterway.

Oats had an easier trend in sympathy with corn and rye weakened with wheat. Lard was subjected to profit taking after advancing into new high seasonal ground earlier this week.

Gage Farm Group Hits Redistricting

By BILL HINEL
Beatrice Bureau

BEATRICE, Neb.—Members of the Gage County Farmers Union at a meeting here have come out against redistricting of rural schools and have voted to demand that the State Legislature cease "tampering with rural schools and stop raising state teachers requirements."

Also passed at the meeting was a resolution to oppose forced school redistricting on a statewide basis and opposing the duties of county redistricting committees because "they ignore the democratic rights of farmers."

Oppose Petitions

Another resolution passed by the group of about 50 members opposed the circulation of petitions for the purpose of redistricting. The petitions are often misrepresented, the resolution asserted.

Ranken Lenners, vice president of the county group, charged that many politicians are eager to do away with country schools. "Why should we move our schools into towns where there are pool halls, soda fountains and busy streets?" Lenners asked. He went on to say that students from the country are often left out of activities planned for students because they are held after regular school hours.

Resulting higher taxes when redistricting is done also came under the fire of the members. Wilber Brown, field man for the Nebraska Farmers Union, attended the meeting.

H. E. Nelson Dies; Wisconsin Native

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Most U. S. government bonds bounced to record 1953-54 highs Thursday as the treasury announced plans to raise 1½ billion dollars cash with a short term note. The corporate bond market also advanced.

Throughout the day reports filtered through Wall Street that the government had temporarily abandoned plans to raise new funds via a long term bond. But the actual treasury announcement did not come until the close of business.

Meanwhile, top grade utilities and selected railroads led the corporate bond market upward. Industrials were irregular. Trading turned cautious and volume declined to $3,332,000 par value from $3,852,000 Wednesday.

German, Yugoslav and Greek dollar bonds lost ground. Japanese liens were narrowly mixed.

Stocks End Higher After Irregularity

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weathered some early selling influence Thursday and closed higher, but there was little vigor in the performance.

The market on average is currently in new high ground for the past year. At that level it is within a short distance of establishing a new high for nearly 24 years. The present mark was set 14 months ago.

Considerable irregularity was produced by Wednesday's market, and that persisted Thursday after a lower opening. In the afternoon the market turned ahead and closed quietly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 50 cents at $115.50, only 80 cents away from the 1953-54 high established Jan. 4 of last year, the best since June of 1930.

Volume dwindled on the rise and came to 1,830,000 shares. To make a technical point, that total compares unfavorably when placed against the 2,240,000 shares traded Wednesday with the market down on average.

The general tone of the American Stock Exchange was mixed with trading amounting to 600,000 shares as compared with 550,000 trade Wednesday.

Old Crop Soybeans Set Six-Year High

CHICAGO (AP)—Old crop soybean futures rushed on up the Board of Trade Thursday, setting new six year highs, even though the rest of the market faltered and ended lower.

Soybeans showed some hesitancy during the morning, after opening on gains of several cents, but this was soon overcome. Final prices were a little under the day's best levels. The May contract touched $3.59¾, best price for any soybean future since 1948.

Old crop soybeans closed 6¾-7⅝ higher while the new crop months were ¾ lower to 1 cent higher. Wheat finished ⅛-1⅝ lower, corn ½ to 1 cent lower, oats ½ lower to ¼ higher, rye 1 to 1½ lower and lard 3 cents lower to 18 cents a hundred pounds higher.

While the statistical situation remained the major prop for old crop soybeans, the market gathered some strength Thursday from the action of cash soybean oil and soybean meal. Both sold at new 1954 highs, bean oil 13 cents a pound and bean meal at $84.00 to $84.50 a ton.

The main rise in soybeans followed an announcement that the Foreign Operations Administration had granted $2,600,000 to Formosa and $701,000 to Korea to buy American soybeans.

During this week old crop soybean futures have advanced 18 to 20 cents a bushel. Compared with the seasonal lows set in August they are up $1.12¼ to $1.19½ a bushel. E. F. Hutton & Co., commission firm, said, "The soybean market is proving to be the most dynamic bull market in grain history."

Wheat had an easier trend from the start. This grain was subjected to little profit taking, part of which apparently was induced by the fact that the Commodity Credit Corp. had withdrawn some of its red wheat from the "Mothball Fleet" for shipment to Yugoslavia.

The CCC has large stocks of red wheat and it was felt that additional sales to foreign countries may come from these supplies rather than from private trade sources. The government stocks are not hedged in the futures market, which means there is no buying in futures against export sales of the cash grain.

Corn also was subjected to a little profit taking. Cash receipts were not unusually heavy but shipping demand from Chicago to the east is very small. More corn soon will be arriving as purchases on a to-arrive basis have expanded sharply this week with reopening of the Illinois Waterway.

Oats had an easier trend in sympathy with corn and were weakened with wheat. Lard was subjected to profit taking after advancing into new high seasonal ground earlier this week.

'Frightening' Of Tavern Owner By Police Chief Is Called 'Un-American'

An assistant attorney general declared Thursday that it was "illegal and un-American" that a tavern operator could be frightened by a chief of police into selling the business.

Assistant Attorney Gen. Homer Hamilton made the comment in summing up the evidence at the liquor commission's hearing on the beer license application of Reno, Inc., which proposes to buy Fred Aye's tavern at Hastings.

Aye had testified he made up his mind to sell after Hastings Police Chief George Maul called him to headquarters last December for a talk. Aye said Maul listed "eight points" of criticism of the tavern owner's operations or personal conduct.

Hamilton said people of Hastings, as in many communities, had "left it up to the chief of police" when it came to such matters.

"Fred Aye got scared, and entered into a contract to sell to the first ones who came along, at the worst time of year," Hamilton continued.

"In my opinion this action, forcing him to sell, was illegal and un-American," Hamilton said.

Permitting such situations to arise is "condoning a practice which should not be tolerated in this state," he added.

Aye had conjectured that his difficulties with the chief might have had some connection with the fact he had discontinued selling a certain distributor's beer at his tavern.

But when Chief Maul took the stand he answered "definitely not" when asked if he had conspired with the distributor to allow Aye to stay on if he resumed sale of the discontinued brand.

But Maul said he had "heard rumors and reports reflecting on Fred Aye's operation for over a year and a half." And he said he objected to a girl employee he said Aye had "hired out of one of the hotels at Grand Island."

Maul said he was "amused" by testimony that he once asked to use Aye's deer rifle. He said Aye was at the station once when Maul's permit arrived, and Aye offered use of his gun because the chief did not own one.

Mayor Wendell Foote backed up the chief's testimony that there had been complaints of rowdyism and sale to minors at Aye's tavern.

A. W. Hedgecock, the distributor whose product Aye had quit selling, recalled first knowing Maul when the latter represented an Omaha Brewery, a few years before becoming chief.

He denied there had been any conspiracy to force Aye out of business.

Much of the day-long hearing was taken up with airing Aye's troubles, but the commission took time to delve into financial affairs of the intended purchasers.

Head of the new corporation is Mrs. Maude E. Weber, who said she was the wife of a Lincoln man and mother of three children. She gave her age as 29.

Mrs. Weber said she had taken up residence in a Hastings apartment in January, and that the $5,000 she so far has invested in the venture came from her grand father in North Dakota.

Mrs. Mildred Rasschaert of Greeley, who said she once operated a tavern at Republican City, testified she put in $4,990.

Max Schlegel of Milford, who said he hoped to get a job at the taxern under the new owners, testified he put in ten dollars for one share of stock in the corporation.

M. E. Klein, also of Milford, said he had engineered the deal and once had expected to work at the tavern, but had given up that idea.

Klein, Schlegel and Mrs. Weber testified they had become acquainted at a tavern at Milford.

Mrs. Weber said she and Mrs. Rasschaert expected to have, or be able to raise, the remaining $6,000 toward the purchase price by the specified date in April.

Cliff Weber testified that to his knowledge his wife's account of her financial backing was correct.

The commission announced it would rule later on the application.

Beatrice Still Officially 'In Dark' About State's Stand On Sewage

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb.—George Miller, manager of Beatrice municipal utilities said the city utility board had received no formal directive from T. A. Filipi of the state Department of Sanitation relative to withdrawing city sewage from the Blue River.

"Beyond our own research on the matter," he said, "there is little we can say about the state's position until its terms and conditions are presented to us. Thus far all we know about it is what we have read in the papers."

But Miller added that "we are aware of Federal Law 845 relating to sewage disposal in interstate streams and we have made preliminary studies on the city's problem of remaking its sewer system.

"Our problem here is not one of resisting the law," he said. "City planning has advocated sewage disposal for some years. The problem is one of expense, the remaking of a sewer system built long ago and expanded later on a basis of gravity geared to a river that divides the town and offers unusual complication for a disposal system."

Miller pointed out that the city has eight river outlets in its present sewer system along approximately five miles of river front, five of them on one side of the river and three on the other.

Preliminary estimates call for two lift stations with extensive connecting sewers together with a primary or full treatment plant. The basic cost estimate is between $400,000 and $600,000 excluding such things as right-of-way, repaving and other related expenses.

Miller said he knows of no present federal aid funds for such a project and added that one possible obstacle to compliance could be the voters refusal to authorize a general obligation bond issue.

"I understand that is what happened at Marysville, Kan., when it was directed to get its sewage out of the Blue River," he said.

Miller added an alternative might be offered through the issue of revenue bonds based on a sewer service charge.

"But sewer revenues," he said, "are a new departure in Nebraska. We don't know enough about them yet."

Miller recalled that efforts to grant the state power to order sewer systems out of streams was defeated in the 1953 Legislature. Compulsion is a federal matter and he observed, "the U.S. Department of Health has as yet made no requests of us."

Miller said the city would like to go along with the Nebraska department, but he hoped that it would approach the matter on a basis of co-operation and patience.

He warned against the type of urgency that might bring crack-up of municipal economies.

$115,725 Suit Filed Against NPPS In Road Fatality

Mrs. Phyllis Halsey of Clay Center, as administratrix of her husband's estate, has filed a $115.725 suit in Lancaster District Court against the Nebraska Public Power System.

Her husband, Stanley, 30, was killed Aug. 10, 1953, at a Hall County road intersection when his car was in collision with one of the defendant's trucks.

The truck with a crew was engaged in clearing brush and debris from a transmission line right-of-way.

The petition alleges the brush was negligently placed near the intersection in a way to obscure vision and charges the defendant's employees with failure to provide warning of the danger.

The death damage suit alleges Mr. Halsey was the sole support of the wife and two minor children.
